Venue Change Given in Kendrick Suit

A motion for a change of venue to Marin county in the $30,000 alienation suit, filed by Mrs. Nell Kendrick against Mrs. Edith Huntington Spreckels Wakefield, in which the plaintiff charges that the defendant stole the affections of her husband, Rodney Kendrick, newspaper artist, was granted by Superior Judge St. Sure today. No opposition was made by the attorneys for Mrs. Kendrick. An affidavit by the latter was filed to the effect that Marin county is her legal residence.

Franklin W. Wakefield, husband of the defendant, has called for Fresno instead of San Francisco, his attorneys announced today, but they say that it will make no difference in the plans of the defense.

Instructions from him. Kendrick, who is at liberty under $1000 bail on a charge of failure to provide, will be arraigned in Judge L. R. Weinman's court in Alameda tomorrow.

Rail Labor Board Considers Increase

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The Railroad Labor Board went into executive session today to consider appeal of the maintenance of way workers for an increase in wages with indications that a decision might come soon. The public group remained firm for a 2-cent increase, and a decision was expected to be possible only by support of that proposal from members of the railroad group of membership on the board, since the labor members were reported as unyielding in their demand for a larger increase.

ANTI-RUSSIAN JUROR DISMISSED

The defense in the criminal syndicalist trial, in which five defendants are facing a jury in Superior Judge G. H. Samuel's court on charges of violating the criminal syndicalist law, scored a point today when they secured the dismissal of C. A. Calberg, 818 East Sixteenth street, from the jury box for cause. This was accomplished over the objection of Deputy District Attorney Wade Snoon, who, with Donald McClure, is prosecuting the case.

During the examination of Calberg, a pioneer resident of Oakland, by J. H. Dolson, one of the defendants, he was asked if the fact that the Communist Labor Party has its international headquarters in Russia would prejudice him against the defendants. "Yes," said Calberg. "I am an American and against any thing foreign. Particularly I do not believe that we should have anything to do with Russia."

Judge Samuel allowed the challenge for cause despite the objections of the prosecution.

Judge Urges Oakland Increase Legal Staff

"The time has come when the city of Oakland must realize that it has grown to be a city of considerable magnitude, and must employ sufficient legal talent so that the city attorney can expeditiously handle the business of his office," declared Superior Judge Dudley Kinsell today during the hearing of a motion to set the case of the city against Dr. S. H. Buteau for trial. City Attorney Leon Gray sought to have the case set for late in the spring of next year, to which objection was raised by Attorney M. C. Chapman, who claimed that the city's possession of property at the foot of Clay street, claimed by Dr. Buteau was resulting in damage of $30 a day to the defendants. Gray told of the many cases which are pending before the superior and other courts, and pleaded that he would not have the time to prepare for the case prior to that time. Judge Kinsell, after calling attention to the necessity of the city increasing its legal staff, set the case for trial December 4.

SIXTY PERISH IN CANADA'S FIRES

Rain Quenches Flames in Forests; Loss Placed At $10,000,000.

COBALT, Ont., Oct. 6.—(By the Associated Press)—A heavy rain today had virtually quenched the forest fires about the city, which took a toll of possibly sixty lives and wiped out the town of Halleybury and several smaller settlements. Thirty-three bodies have been recovered in the scarred wreckage that a week ago was Halleybury. Many more persons are missing.

Train loads of tents, food, bedding and other supplies are arriving to aid the 5000 homeless who have wandered into Cobalt.

EIGHT TOWNS SWEEPED; LOSS $10,000,000.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 6.—(United Press)—Thirty-five dead, six thousand homeless, eight towns in complete ruin and damage amounting to probably $10,000,000, is the incomplete toll today of a terrible multiple forest fire which swept the district of Temiskaming. Fifteen bodies were recovered at Halleybury, seventeen at Healslip and three at Charlton.

Halleybury, county seat, was razed by withering flames which were fanned by strong southwest winds, and the fire cut a swath through the central section of the stricken district.

Refugees are pouring into North Bay with stories of the disaster that exceed in horror anything Canada has known since the Matheson conflagration of 1916.

FLAMES ARE STILL FOUGHT BY VOLUNTEERS.

Automobiles, wagons and conveyances of every description still crowded roads leading from the district today, as a checkup showed the full extent of the disaster. In some sections the fires fought by volunteers still burned.

Rain which fell last night checked the main conflagration, however, and saved the district in the path of the flames.

Robert Bond, his wife, their eight children and Bond's brother-in-law, John Marshall, were found suffocated in a house where they had taken refuge from the flames.

While it will be days before any thing like an accurate estimate of the death toll can be arrived at, it is believed that at least 50 lives were lost.

SHOWERS WILL BREAK EAST'S LONG DROUGHT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Marked changes in atmospheric pressure across the country east of the Mississippi upset the hope in the weather bureau today and showers generally in the eastern states will shortly break the long drought that has gripped most of the country. Weather bureau officials were taken with surprise completely.

they said, when the sudden change was observed. Disturbances which will provide the parched countryside with refreshing showers originated in Northern Canada.

KIN FORBIDDEN GUARDIANSHIP OF AGED WOMAN

Eighty-three-year-old Mrs. Anna Farris must be spared further family bitterness and strife, according to Superior Judge E. C. Robinson, who yesterday denied the petitions of Mrs. Nellie B. Boezinger, of Berkeley, a granddaughter, and Mrs. Annie Walton of Los Angeles, a niece, for letters of guardianship over the aged woman, and named J. E. Lanktree as guardian of the woman's property.

Judge Robinson in his decision ruled that the home at 1732 Encinal avenue, Alameda, should be maintained for Mrs. Farris during her lifetime and that while she was at liberty to go to Los Angeles for a visit with her niece she was not to make her home there.

The court battle began when Mrs. Walton appeared in Alameda and prepared to take Mrs. Farris to Los Angeles to make her home. Mrs. Boezinger immediately petitioned for letters of guardianship, alleging that her grandmother was incompetent. Several court hearings were held marked with keen rivalry and bitterness on the part of the contestants, Mrs. Walton having filed a petition for guardianship also.

As the result of the court decision Mrs. Walton left last night for Los Angeles with Mrs. Farris, who said she intended to visit in the south for several months.

Falsehood, Cruelty Made Divorce Basis

"The plaintiff has been unable to believe anything that the defendant has told her," reads the divorce complaint of Maude E. Durgan, 111 Russell street, Berkeley, filed today against George H. Durgan, an employee of the San Francisco Stock Exchange.

Mrs. Durgan charges her husband with extreme cruelty. She states that she filed a divorce against him in March of this year, but dismissed the action when he promised to change his treatment of her. This he has failed to do, she avers.

The plaintiff asks $75 a month alimony and a restraining order preventing Durgan from disposing of community property. The couple were married March 16, 1916, and separated last Tuesday.

SOLDIER TRIO UP FOR MURDER

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Three men are facing a charge of murder today as a sequel to a holdup of a poker game party at the Letterman General Hospital, Presidio Reservation, last Monday night, when Private Sollie Ackler was fatally shot.

The men charged by the police with murder are Private Neely Paul, who confessed to firing the shot, say the police; William Gordon, an ex-soldier, residing at 2946 Baker street, and Warren King, 2729 Lombard street, said to be a salesman.

In a deathbed statement Wednesday, Ackler declared that Paul was the man who shot him. Paul was arrested and confessed, the police say, implicating the other two men as his confederates.

In his confession, Paul declared he had staged the holdup with King and Gordon because, earlier in the evening, he had quit the game after losing $40 and was in debt $80. After leaving the game, he went to Lombard and Baker streets, where he met Gordon and King, according to the alleged confession, and they planned the holdup.

The trio employed W. C. James, a taxicab driver, from whom King borrowed a gun. Then they drove to the barracks, put sheets over their heads and staged the holdup, Paul confessed. When Ackler failed to comply with the order to hold up his hands, Paul became excited and fired the fatal shot, he admitted.

VETERAN COLONY SITE IS CHOSEN

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 6.—Because of its central location, the San Joaquin valley has been selected as the probable location site for the veterans' land settlement colony under the veterans' welfare legislation enacted by the last legislature, it was announced here by Robert F. Smith, secretary of the veterans' welfare board, upon his return from Los Angeles.

At a meeting of the board in Los Angeles it was decided to instruct Chairman Frank H. Nichols to travel through the San Joaquin valley to inspect possible available sites. The tract desired must have at least 1000 acres and not more than 5000 acres, Smith stated. One million dollars is available for the purpose, it was announced.

The land, Smith said, must have gravity flow of water and must be fertile.

When the contemplated colony is established it will be divided into tracts of not less than twenty acres and not more than forty acres. It is planned to sell the farm blocks to veterans on the most liberal terms.

S. D. Candidates Solid for Dry Law

PEBBLE, S. D., Oct. 6.—An almost solid stand for prohibition is shown in a canvass of South Dakota congressional candidates. Only one candidate has failed to publicly announce themselves as favoring the Volstead act and both are said unofficially to lean in that direction.

G. L. Hasvold, Madison, and Andrew Francis Lockhart, Milbank, both non-partisan league candidates, are the candidates who have made no definite announcement.

Those declaring for prohibition are: Charles A. Christopher, Sioux Falls; Royal C. Johnson, Aberdeen; William Williamson, Oacoma, all republican candidates; John Stedronsky, Wagner; E. C. Ryan, Aberdeen; George Philip, Rapid City, democratic candidates; and George H. Smith, Reliance, non-partisan league candidate.

Navy Man's Wife Held As Thief

SEATTLE, Oct. 6.—Mrs. William Liske, who claims she is the wife of a navy officer stationed at Mare Island, is held in the city jail today on a charge of petty larceny, following her voluntary incarceration earlier in the week to escape the alleged threatening attentions of Sergeant J. L. Gerth of the Bremerton navy yard. The larceny charge was filed by Bremerton woman who claims the theft of a coat and other wearing apparel at her Bremerton home.

Gerth was arrested on a disorderly conduct charge late yesterday and released under $200 bail.

VALLEJO, Oct. 6.—Liske is a gunner in the Marines, now on duty at San Diego, according to records at Mare Island.

Riccardi Center Of Court Wrangle

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—C. Vincent Riccardi, accused of battery by Miss Vivian McGovern, was the center of a police court wrangle before Judge Daniel O'Brien today. His counsel, Harry McKenzie, sought to have the case dismissed, claiming it identical with that in the assault to do great bodily harm case dismissed several days ago. He said his client was being harassed and embarrassed and that both Riccardi and his sister had disproved the charge. Judge O'Brien refused a dismissal and Special Prosecutor Bradley Sargent demanded a jury trial, but this was discounted by the refusal of the district attorney's office to agree to it. The hearing was continued until October 16.

Didn't Know What Viola Dana Was Going to Call Him

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (By The Associated Press).—George Beban has expressed amazement at being quoted as saying 80 per cent of the motion picture actresses are beautiful, but dumb. Writing to the Chicago Tribune, which published the interview, Beban said he did not intend to convey any impression reflecting on the intelligence of film players. The letter was written from St. Louis.

"I distinctly recollect that your interviewer asked me whether I believed that this new idea of combining the silent and spoken drama as presented by myself and company in 'The Sign of the Cross' would become universal," Beban wrote.

"My reply was that in my opinion only about 20 per cent of the motion picture stars of today were, by virtue of previous stage experience, qualified to appear in a play combining both the screen and the stage. I did not say that the remaining 80 per cent were too dumb to do so. 'Lack of stage experience does not propose dumbness, on the part of the screen artist. There are many instances of men and women, recognized leaders of the dramatic stage, proved unsuccessful when called upon to act before the camera.'"

The Tribune published Beban's letter in full in its columns, devoted to communications without comment other than the head customarily placed over published communications. Over Beban's letter was printed: "He didn't know what Viola Dana was going to call him."

When told in Los Angeles of the Beban interview, Miss Dana was quoted as saying: "George Beban is a big piece of cheese."

AUTO INDUSTRY LOOKING TOWARD OAKLAND SITES

Manufacturers See Profit in Making Machines Here to Save Freight Costs.

Oakland has an assured future in the automotive industry because California leads all the states in the country in the number of automobiles now in use and manufacturers are seeing that it is better business to manufacture them here than ship them from the east.

This was the message from Chester N. Weaver, automobile distributor, to the Rotary Club, as delivered by William E. Moyle at the weekly luncheon in the Hotel Oakland yesterday.

The reason for Weaver's failure to be present was not made clear by Moyle, who said he had been sent as a substitute.

A further message from Weaver, who recently made a trip throughout the east, was that the United States is now facing its greatest era of prosperity. Weaver bases this assertion upon conditions in the automobile industry which he declares is an active and infallible barometer.

The speaker devoted most of his time to discussing the value in business of a competent organization, advising Rotarians to see that their employees fit the positions they hold and are not "square pegs in round holes."

Several new members were welcomed into the organization by Thomas Eaglesome, chairman, who reminded them that "Not Self but Service" was the motto of the Rotary Club.

HOOVER RETURNS TO CAPITAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Herbert Hoover returned to Washington early today, having recovered from the indisposition which prevented him from speaking before the American Bankers' association yesterday.

YUKON CAMPS DISAPPEAR AS RAILROAD COMES

CORDOVA, Alaska, Oct. 5.—The practical completion of the government railroad in Alaska marks the passing of the famous camps along the Yukon, according to George Anderson, an experienced Alaskan traveler, who declared that river travel already has been virtually abandoned.

The withdrawal of the regular steamers recently left only the small launches plying along the river that was once the main thoroughfare between Dawson and the coast.

Without regular steamer service, says Anderson, the bustling communities of gold rush days will be cut off from communication with the outside world and other parts of the territory, and unless new interest in the section is stimulated by the reestablishment of lines to handle tourists travel, Anderson believes these towns will soon be virtually deserted.

What's Happening in the Motor World by Jim Moulthun

With Tuesday, the 10th, set as Eastbay Day at the Fordson Industrial Tractor Show, now open in War Memorial Park, Van Ness avenue, San Francisco, plans have been completed to make it a memorable event in the history of the show.

All Ford dealers in Berkeley, Oakland and Alameda are working as a committee organizing groups of Eastbay enthusiasts who will go to the show in a body. Invitations have been issued to Mayor Davies of Oakland and Mayor Bartlett of Berkeley to be present at the formal opening of Eastbay Day.

A unique form of transportation from the Ferry building will be inaugurated for the convenience of visitors from the Eastbay district and trailer trains of side seat passenger cars will be operated between the Ferry and the Fordson show grounds, the motive power being a Fordson tractor. These same trains will also run between the Fordson show grounds and the Exposition Auditorium, housing the California Industries Exhibit.

Tickets good for admission to all exhibits in the Fordson show are being issued without charge by all Ford dealers and may be obtained for the asking.

In addition to the large numbers who are planning to attend at the invitation of dealers, special groups are expected from the various classes at the University of California, many men desiring to get first-hand information regarding the industrial possibilities inherent in the Fordson.

The program for the day will open at 10 a. m. and continue until 10 p. m. Among the special features will be a complete demonstration of the Fordson used as a locomotive and test hauls have been arranged for to take place every hour on the railroad tracks laid out in the show grounds.

STATE MASONS GAIN 8000 AND FORTY LODGES

Work of California Crafts- men For Year to Be Re- viewed in Grand Lodge.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—There are now 83,000 members of the Masonic fraternity in California, an increase of 8000 members and forty lodges during the past year.

These figures will form part of the report of grand secretary John Whitcher, which will be made at the annual convention of the California Masonic Grand Lodge, starting here next Tuesday.

Twelve hundred delegates, representing 448 subordinate lodges, will attend the convocation which is scheduled to last for four days. The sessions will be held at the Masonic Temple, Van Ness avenue and Oak streets.

The new lodges instituted in San Francisco that will be represented at the sessions are Argonne, Mount Vernon, George Washington, Day

City, Alexandria, Forest Hill and Seal Rock.

According to the plans of the committee on arrangements the first day's sessions will be taken up with the welcome, and the reports of the grand officers of the organization.

On Wednesday a portion of the day will be devoted to memorial exercises for 1909 grand officers. Past Grand Master Alonzo J. Monroe of Durckal, State Railroad Commissioner Harvey D. Loveland, Samuel D. Mayer, grand organizer, and Harry S. Johnson, assistant grand secretary.

In the afternoon of Wednesday the delegates will be taken to the Masonic home of Dueto in Alameda county for the annual tour of inspection Thursday and Friday will be devoted to routine business and on Friday evening the convention will close with the installation of new grand officers.

Dr. Samuel E. Burke of Los Angeles, retiring grand master, will preside at the sessions. He is expected to be succeeded by W. H. A. Sherman, now deputy grand master.

PREMIER'S BOOK BRINGS BIG BID

LONDON, Oct. 6.—English writers are still speculating on the amount Premier David Lloyd George is likely to realize on his projected book of memoirs. There is still considerable mystery as to what financial arrangements the publishers have made with the British Prime Minister for the book and serial rights at home and abroad. One London publishing firm gives the following figures: American serial rights, $200,000; American book rights, $100,000; English book rights, $75,000; English serial rights, $75,000.

A digger into historical record says the sum offered Lloyd George constitutes a record. He finds that Milton received $75 for "Paradise Lost," and Goldsmith $300 for "The Vicar of Wakefield." Samuel Johnson made about $500 out of "Rasselas," which he wrote in order to obtain enough money to give decent burial to his mother and pay off her few debts. Jane Austen sold the manuscript of "Sense and Sensibility" for £750, which she described at the time as "a prodigious recompense."

EVIDENCE SEIZED IN RAID AT TRACY

TRACY, Oct. 6.—A complete still with a keg of whisky, one drunk and Frank Silva, in proprietor, were gathered in an afternoon raid by City Marshal Jack Madrid and Deputy Marshal Gus Tosin. The outfit was found in full running order in a shack in the rear of a lot facing on West street, between Ninth and Tenth streets.

Madrid and Tosin entered the rude shack suddenly and covered six men found there. Madrid seized a bottle of liquor as evidence, but found plenty more before he got through. A copper still, complete apparatus and two barrels of mash were collected and photographed. Frank Silva was arrested on a charge sworn to by Madrid before Recorder George Freilichs, of conducting a still and having liquor in his possession. The other men were let go, except Joe Leonardo, who was locked up on a charge of drunkenness. Silva is in the Tracy jail.

GETS DECREE FOR NEGLECT

Lucius H. Bushnell, manager of the phonograph department of a local store was in the habit of leaving his home and not telling his wife Agnes E. Bushnell, 1318 Park boulevard, where he was going or when he would return. She testified in a divorce suit yesterday. On one occasion, when their second child was but two days old, he disappeared and when he returned about midnight the baby was dead, the wife told County Commissioner Clarence "Howell".

Mrs. Bushnell also testified that on one occasion her husband went to Santa Cruz for a five-day vacation but neglected to leave any money in the house for her, with the result that she went hungry part of the time.

The couple were married in England December 4, 1918 and separated August 15, last. Superior Judge Dudley Kinsell signed the decree.

Husband Took Her Wages, Says Wife

After she had worked in factories, canneries and flour mills her husband would take her wages and deposit them in the bank to his own credit and then compel her to spend her Sundays cleaning up their home, according to allegations made by Louise Marks in a divorce suit filed by her yesterday against Frank Marks, an employee of an Oakland soap factory.

Mrs. Marks asks division of $1200 which is in deposit in a bank, she says, and which she declares is

Tax Collector Will Establish Receipt Centers

For the convenience of taxpayers of the county, Edward T. Ploner, county tax collector, will establish headquarters in various points of the county for the collection of taxes, he announced today. One or more days will be given to various centers of the county, beginning with Pleasanton, October 19.

The plan was tried out last year, Ploner going to Berkeley where, in two days stay, the sum of $50,000 was collected. In other years towns in the eastern end of the county have been favored from time to time.

The schedule of days established by Ploner include the following: City hall at Pleasanton, Thursday, October 23; City hall at San Leandro, October 23; Bank of Italy, Hayward, October 24; Justice court, Centerville, October 25; City treasurer's office, Alameda, November 1; First National bank, Livermore, November 3; Tax collector's office, Berkeley, November 9 and 10.

The couple were married in Hawaii in September, 1915 and separated September 3, 1922.

PIEDMONT VOTES CHARTER BOARD

PIEDMONT, Oct. 6.—An evidence of Piedmont's rapid growth was furnished last night at the regular bi-monthly meeting of the Piedmont City Trustees, when the members of that body decided to select a board of freeholders to draw up a new city charter.

Piedmont is now a city of the sixth class, and owing to the increased volume of civic business, the expansion of the population and the rapid growth of building and other developmental portions, it was deemed necessary to replace the old charter with one which will more adequately cover the city's present needs.

Mayor Oliver Ellsworth declared that in view of the city's growth, its present charter is obsolete. The trustees last night expressed themselves as favoring the city manager idea, but no definite plan has been outlined as yet.

Parker, who is best known as the author of "The Right of Way" and other novels of Canadian life, will speak on "Books and Men." The subject is an appreciation of the reading of books of the present day and the speaker will also be prepared to give readings from his own works.

Last season the members of the society met Rupert Hughes, Penrhyn Stanlaw, Ralph Waldo Trine, Charles Wakefield Cadman, James W. Foley, Dr. Kollan Yih, Basil King, John Davidson, Fin K. Van derlip and Mary Garden.

MORE ACCIDENTS DESPITE SAFETY FIRST WARNINGS

Casualties Increase Thirty Per Cent in Face of Vigorous Safety First Activities

In spite of the most extensive campaign against railroad highway crossing accidents ever carried on, figures just compiled by the insurance department of the Pennsylvania Railroad system show that in June and August of this year, such casualties increased 30 per cent, as compared with last season.
The period covers embraces the first three months of the "National Careful Crossing Campaign," in which railroads of the United States have joined in efforts to make plain the deplorable results of carelessness. During the three months, on the Pennsylvania system alone, there were 107 crossing accidents, in which 71 persons were killed and 115 injured.
That this year's large increase in these casualties is chargeable almost entirely to growth in the reckless and inexperienced driving of automobiles is shown by the fact that casualties at highway crossings from all other causes combined decreased.
There were 85 automobile accidents at Pennsylvania railroad crossings in the three months in question. They caused the death of 56 persons and injury to 107 others, or an average of two personal casualties for each accident. Twelve of the accidents resulted in 38 deaths; four caused the death of 20 persons, or an average of five for each car involved.
In two of the accidents entire families were wiped out. That these lives were sacrificed to pure recklessness is particularly emphasized by the fact that in both instances the drivers of the cars lived close to the scenes of the accidents and were entirely familiar with the layout of the railroad tracks and roads over which they were driving.
BIG RESPONSIBILITY
The responsibility of automobile drivers for the safety of riders in their cars is no less than that of locomotive engineers for the safety of their train passengers. It is, therefore, impressive to note that, as against the lives lost in only three months by careless driving of motor cars over tracks, there were no passengers killed in train accidents anywhere on the Pennsylvania railroad system during the entire year ended May 31 last. In that period no less than 1,400,000 passenger trains were operated, and 152,000,000 passengers carried safely.
The chief reason for this striking contrast is that locomotive engineers are thoroughly trained in every detail of their work, and are required to demonstrate knowledge and ability to operate trains safely.

Pet Tiger Cat Dead; ;Mistress Hints Poison

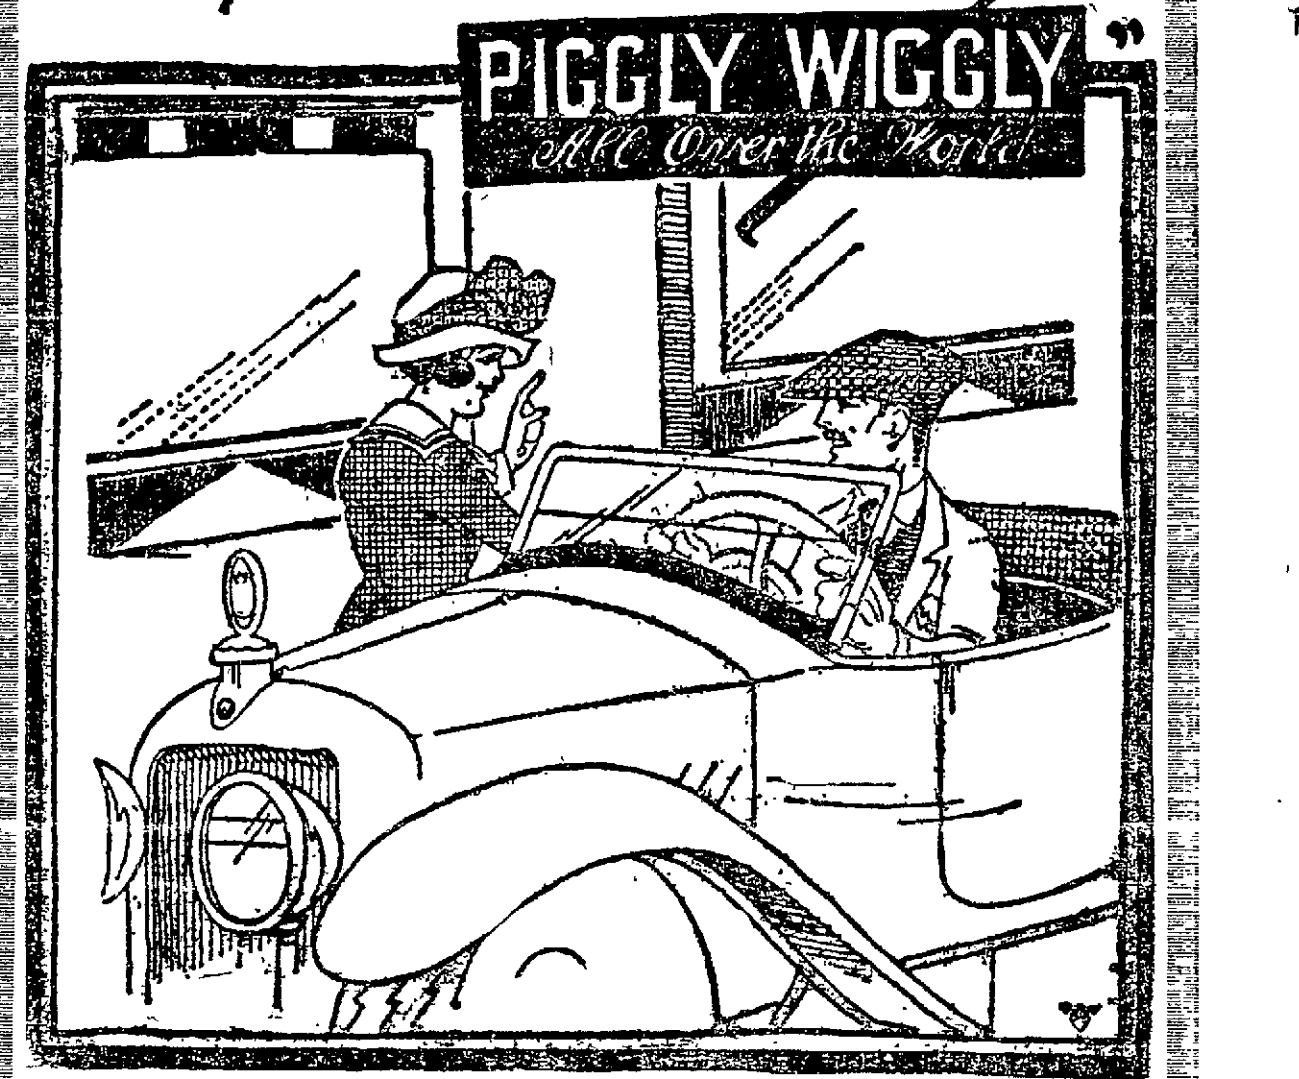

(By International News Service)
DENVER, Oct. 6.—"Tigre Cat," the "tame tiger cat" from Columbia, South America, that recently created a sensation in one of New York's leading hotels, is dead here from some mysterious ailment. She is believed by her mistress to have been poisoned maliciously.
Catice, according to Miss Eulah Harlan, in whose home the tiger cat was a household pet, became suddenly and mysteriously ill following a playful romp with a neighboring Angora cat during which the latter was fatally injured.
According to Miss Harlan, however, Catice was a most amiable and gentle creature, and played much after the manner of the ordinary variety of cat. Although Catice was a little more rugged in her romping, she was never vicious, Miss Harlan said.
Catice was captured by James B. Ballinger in the jungles of the Magdalena river, in South America, and brought to the United States with a view to training her for motion picture work. She was half tiger and half leopard, and measured four feet from the tip of her nose to the tip of her tail.
before being entrusted with their handling.
On the other hand, analysis of the causes of cross accidents shows that the vast majority of motor car casualties at railroad highway crossings are attributable to a comparatively small percentage of inexperienced and irresponsible automobile drivers who have neither the knowledge, training or judgment required for the safe operation of such machines. The result is often failure to exercise even the most ordinary precautions necessary for the protection of life when approaching or driving over railroad tracks.
Moreover, reckless driving of automobiles is not confined to highway crossings. This is shown by the daily reports in the newspapers of accidents caused by driving automobiles into telegraph poles, or stone walls, and by skidding, side-swiping, turning over and colliding. From this running chronicle of death and injury the conclusion would seem warranted that what is needed at the present time is not merely a Careful Crossing Campaign to concentrate attention on crossing accidents alone, but a national campaign, carefully planned, and directed against all forms of careless automobile driving.
In this way possibly some impression may be made on the automobility accident record, which shows 12,500 persons killed and 300,000 injured in the United States for the year 1931.

S. F. CIVIC LEAGUE OPPOSES WATER AND POWER ACT

Big Fight Waged By Body Over Shingle Clause in Housing Law.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Endorsing the recommendations of the board of governors the Civic League of Improvement Clubs and Associations went on record as opposed to the State Water and Power act at a meeting in B'Nai B'rith hall, 149 Eddy street last night. The meeting was attended by 225 delegates and George Skaller, president of the Civic League presided.
The meeting was called to discuss the recommendations of the board of governors on the various state amendments and city charter amendments. With the exception of the State Housing act, the recommendations of the board of governors were agreed to by the delegates. In this instance the governors approved but the league disapproved.
Nearly all of the amendments were subjected to discussion by the delegates but the recommendations of the board of governors were followed. The league approved the veterans' validating act; disapproved the prohibition enforcement act; approved the veterans' welfare bond act of 1931; disapproved the land settlement bond act of 1931; and disapproved the chiropractic act.
The strongest discussion of the delegates came not on the Water and Power act but on the state housing act, concerning which a number of speakers addressed the meeting including Mark C. Cohn, author of the measure. He denied the statement that wooden shingles are barred by the provision saying that it was left to each municipality to decide.
Ben W. Reed, representing lumber interests made the address against the bill calling it a "subterfuge to put patent roofing on all roofs in California" and stressed the passage of the bill as a great injury to a state industry.
"Our California and Western shingles are being shipped East day by day," Reed said. "They are good enough for the East but now we in California proceed to raise the red flag. We ourselves can't use our own shingles because they are supposed to have firebugs in them. We are going to advertise to the United States that the Western shingle is unsafe to use—and believe me it's going to be so:—advertising."
Boy Rescued When Canoe Capsizes
ALAMEDA, Oct. 6.— Prompt action on the part of Paul Jordan, who resides in an ark at the foot of Fillmore street, San Leandro bay, probably saved the life of Boyd Martin, nine-year-old school boy, late yesterday afternoon.
Boyd, who is unable to swim, was paddling around in his canoe on the bay some distance from shore when he made a sudden turn and the skiff upset, throwing the lad into the water. Jordan, who was standing on the porch of his ark, witnessed the accident and hurried to the rescue of the child. By the time police arrived on the scene the boy was almost entirely recovered from his cold bath. Later he was removed to his home at 3204 Washington street by Policeman Abdt Peterson.

FRIGHT KILLS WOMAN.
CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Fright when an automobile she was driving ran wild and struck a tree, yesterday resulted in the death of Mrs. Mildred Merricks. After the crash she was found dead at the steering wheel, but without any marks of serious injury. It was believed that fright caused the death.

"EXPERIENCE"

"Youth" will begin his strange, vivid, colorful pilgrimage at the Fulton Theater next Sunday afternoon.

He will say good-bye to "Love" and "Ambition," and he will depart, almost alone, to wind his way through the World that beckons him.

But "Experience" will always be with him, ever at his right hand—a fascinating pair! Watch their strange adventures!

See "Youth" pass, on his journey, through scenes that will startle by their realism.

Watch him in "The Street of Vacillation," "The Primrose Path," "In the Corridors of Chance," "The House of Last Resort," "The Street of Remorse," "The House of Lost Souls," "The Street of Forgotten Days" and, finally, in "The Land Where the Dreamer Awakens"—back to "Love" and "Ambition."

Forty characters will appear in this vivid, modern morality play, on the stage of the Fulton Theater, while fifteen scenes are required to depict its fascinating story.

Nothing so pretentious, so rich in dramatic power and beauty, so expensive to stage, has ever been attempted at the Fulton—the home of pretentious and magnificent dramatic productions.

For weeks the Fulton studios and artists have been preparing for this huge spectacle. Twenty actors have been added to the Fulton Company for the play. Today will be shown the fruit of all this endeavor.

The special music, written for "Experience," will all be used, throughout the play.

You shall see in "Experience" more than forty picturesque, quaint characters—"Youth," "Frailty," "Passion," "Excitement," "Work," "Grouch," "Wealth," "Crime," "The Dealer," "Intoxication," "Despair," "Hope," "Ambition," "Makeshift," "Poverty," "Fashion," "Style," "Opportunity," "Chance," "Snob," "Habit," "Crime," "Dissolute," "Passion," "Law," "Illiterate," "Rascal," "Cheat," "Waiter," "Stupid" and many others.

Isabelle Lowe will be "Love" and "Frailty." Stewart Wilson, who played "Youth" in New York, will assume the same role at the Fulton. Walter Scott Weeks will be "Experience"—the grave, deep-toned mentor of "Youth."

A huge company of fine actors will interpret this unique play.

18 Communists Denied Rehearing

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 6.—William Gross Lloyd, of Chicago, reputed millionaire and communist labor party leader, and 17 other members of that party, whose convictions of attempts to overthrow the government were upheld by the supreme court last term, were denied a re-hearing today.

Estates of Auto Victims in Probate

Petitions for letters of administration were filed today in the Superior Court in the estates of Mrs. Rose Smith and Merrill C. Smith, who were killed in an automobile wreck in Berkeley, September 22 last. The accident took place at Spruce and Virginia streets, Berkeley, when the automobile in which the victims were riding plunged off the roadway into a ditch, turning over.

Smith was here from Minneapolis on a visit. His wife and 3-year-old daughter live there. Mrs. Rose Smith was his mother. The petitions were filed in behalf of the husband and father, Frank F. Smith, of 700 Emsanada avenue, Berkeley. The Rose Smith estate is valued at $250 and that of her son at $1250.

Berated By Husband, Now Asks Divorce
Only once in five years did her husband, John H. Helm, owner of two large apartment houses, allow her to do the marketing for the family and on that occasion he berated her for spending too much money. Mrs. Emma Helm alleges in a complaint for divorce filed today.

Allegations of extreme cruelty are made, the plaintiff charging that her husband compelled her to do janitor work in his two apartment houses and when she protested he replied that she was not as good a worker as his first wife had been.

The couple were married in June, 1917, and separated September 15, 1922.

San Leandro High Site Issue Delayed

In the absence of further news from San Leandro, approving or disapproving the choice of a site for the new San Leandro Junior high school, the board of education last night held one of the shortest meetings in years, adjourning in five minutes after convening.

The principal of Golden Gate school, George Sackett, suggested that, as the board is now conducting a campaign to prevent accidents at school grounds or buildings, a fire escape should be installed at Golden Gate. The communication was filed for further action.

NO EVENING WRAP. GIRL TAKES COLD

"Marie, your cold is dreadful. I really am worried about you. It gets worse every day. However did you get such a terrible cold?"

"Oh, I did a foolish stunt. You know, I was down to San Jose Sunday evening for Lucile's wedding. Well, it seemed so warm after San Francisco that I raced around in a car without any wrap on. I had on an evening dress, of course."

"Why, you crazy youngster. You ought to be spanked. Nights are cool in these warmer cities and you surely needed a wrap. Didn't you take one or couldn't you borrow one?"

"I took that old thing of mine but I was ashamed to wear it. I was with that wonderful brother of Lucile's and I couldn't bear to spoil the effect of a good-looking evening dress by that old dingy wrap."

"Well, say youngster, if you ever get over that cold and live to tell about it, for goodness sakes get some sort of new coat or cape and quit taking these awful risks."

"Sounds easy, but I just finished paying all I owe for that evening dress. It will be another month or so before I can buy the coat."

"Nonsense. Go to Cherry's at 515 13th street, where they will allow you six months to pay. One is asked to pay a reasonable amount down and then easy monthly payments."

Cherry's store for men is at 528 13th street.—Advertisement.

FARRAR TO SING IN NEW TRIUMPH AT AUDITORIUM

Geraldine Farrar, who will be heard in concert at the Oakland Auditorium opera house tonight, is introducing three new artists to the music lovers of the Eastbay, namely: Henry Weldon, eminent basso; Joseph Malkin, internationally famed violinist, and Claude Gotthelf, pianist.

Miss Farrar comes to Oakland from Sacramento, where she scored new triumphs last night. After her Oakland concert she will appear in San Francisco.

She is now on a tour of the United States and, in this, is accomplishing a thing she always has desired to do. She has arranged to give an entirely different program in each California city.

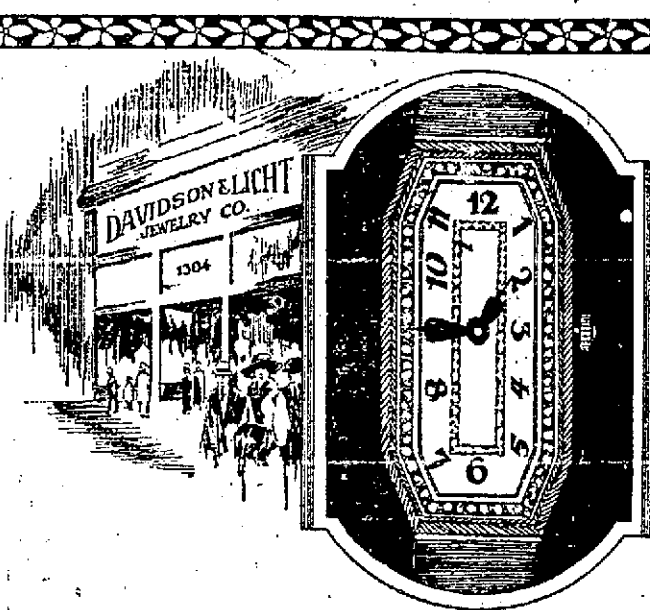

Miss Farrar gives her personal attention to the selection of her number, and in making up her programs she is careful to include compositions from modern as well as from the old masters. Her voice is heard to equal advantage in either of the classes of songs.

The concert tonight will start promptly at 8:15 o'clock. Miss Farrar is appearing here under the direction of Frank W. Healy of San Francisco.

NEW SLATED FOR POST IN CABINET, DECLARE GOSSIPS

Problem of Caring For Lame Duck Brigade Up to President.

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, International News Service Staff Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—A burning question in Washington these autumnal days, when Congress is out on the political firing line, is what disposition President Harding will make of his "lame duck" problem when the final curtain drops on the political show next November 7.

The Lame Duck Brigade already has a number of recruits—Senators and Representatives whose constituencies have turned them down in the primaries after years of service in Washington—and it is readily agreed that the numbers will be enhanced when the chill winds of voters' displeasure waft across the country next November.

President Harding follows precedent. There will be found for many of them, and the political tongues of the capital already are picking out berths.

The most conspicuous member of the famous brigade now in Washington is Senator Harry S. New, of Indiana, who was defeated in the Indiana primaries by Albert Jeremiah Beveridge.

Because it is known that President Harding tried to get Senator New, his close personal friend, into his Cabinet the gossips have been busy selecting a Cabinet berth for the Hoosier statesman now that he has been defeated for re-election.

President Harding offered Senator New the Post Office Department during the Cabinet-picking days in Florida that preceded his inauguration, and the Senator's attachment for the Senate was stronger than his desire to be Postmaster-General.

So strong have been the rumors that Senator New is headed for the Post Office Department that they have given rise to a story that the present Postmaster-General, Hubert Work, accepted the post when Will H. Hays resigned with the understanding that he would give way to Senator New should the rumors arise that New's services could be utilized.

This story, however, like so many of similar kind that continually float about the corridors of the Capitol, cannot be confirmed.

Close friends of Senator New assert that a Cabinet berth has no more attraction for him now than it had in February of 1921.

The Indiana Senator is one of the keenest out-door men in Washington public life. He is an ardent fisherman and an even more enthusiastic hunter, and spends a part of every year in the lake country of Michigan, away from politics and the tinsel of Washington.

Another prominent Lame Duck is Senator Porter J. McCumber, of Nebraska, co-sponsor of the new tariff act and of the now-defunct soldiers' bonus bill. Senator McCumber has been a Republican wheel-horse in the Senate for twenty-four years and the impression prevails that he will not at this late date return to the humdrum practice of law in his home State.

Because of his familiarity with fiscal legislation the Warbirds of the capital have generally picked a business berth for the blond North Dakotan. His name has been mentioned for the Chairmanship of the Tariff Commission, which will have much to do with the administration of the law which he was principally instrumental in putting on the statute books.

Still another prominent Lame Duck is Representative Philip P. Campbell, of Kansas, for twenty years a member of Congress and a Republican stalwart in the House. Like New and McCumber, Campbell fell victim this year to the primary scythe, and because of his long service in the Republican ranks in the House the belief prevails in Washington that he will be given an appointment of some kind that will keep him in public life.

Campbell is one of the sharpest parliamentarians in the House. Through long service and a flair for parliamentary procedure he rose to chair the Committee on Un-American Activities, and he was considered a likely candidate for Republican leader of the Sixty-eighth Congress prior to his defeat in the primaries.

The practice of law in Washington usually catches most of those who have had long service in politics. The capital is filled with ex-

Everything in Dentistry the Best
Extraction of teeth and artificial work are in a class by themselves, as both skill and special study are required to attain the acme of perfection. This is my specialty.
Many of our leading dentists will not undertake this combined work, as they realize the necessity of knowledge and conscientious attention to the patient.
Cheap dentistry, like everything else "cheap" is expensive in the long run, bargain seekers have experienced this.
Knowledge and skill should be considered always. Demand the best and pay for it.
I make artificial teeth from $20 up. My own invention, "The Roofless," is beyond compare in plate work.

Egypt Uses U. S. Cigarette Rollers

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, Oct. 6.—Egypt has finally come to the introduction of modern American machinery for the making of cigarettes, and as a result the industry is being revolutionized.

Formerly a thousand cigarettes rolled by hand involved a labor cost of $1.00; now the same number is being produced by machine for eight cents. As a result the number of cigarette hand rollers has been reduced from 1519 to 318, and there is much dissatisfaction among them. The Labor Conciliation Board has taken the matter in hand and hopes to compromise the difficulty.

Napa Church Takes Care of One Leper
NAPA, Oct. 6.—The Napa branch of American Mission to Lepers at their last regular meeting was encouraged by the spirit shown by numerous persons who made donations of money for the suffering lepers. Several members of the Presbyterian church have donated enough money so that the church can support one leper for one year.

VETERAN RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

SAN LEANDRO, Oct. 6.—Delbert Wiedmaier, veteran of the late war, a resident of 115 Shinnyside drive, this city, returned home today from a two-months' stay at the Palo Alto hospital, where he was being treated for ailments attributed to gas and shellshock received overseas. Paul Brannon, local business man and friend to Wiedmaier, conducted the veteran home. The condition of the sufferer is announced as greatly improved.

Wiedmaier was a member of the Eighteenth Infantry, one of the first units to enter the zone of hostilities, following closely the heels of General Pershing. In two years of active service he was gassed twice, wounded with shrapnel and shellshock. He returned to this city with a French war bride, who nursed him while in an overseas hospital.

Eastern Star to Hold Whist Party

SAN LEANDRO, Oct. 6.—Members of the Golden Wave Chapter of the Eastern Star are expecting a large attendance at a whist party to be held tonight at Masonic hall. Mrs. Edith Comstock and Max Riegles are in charge of the affair. Sixty tables have been provided.

The regular Friday night political meeting, known as the "Study Club," will be held at the Washington School auditorium tonight. Discussion of several measures on the November ballot will take place. Fred Russell will be in charge.

Street Dance Set For San Leandro

SAN LEANDRO, Oct. 6.—Marking the termination of a summer series of community band concerts on the San Leandro city plaza, a street dance will be held tonight in conjunction with the usual musical presentation. In preparation the streets surrounding the plaza have been strung with colored lights and lanterns. Rope barriers will be used to prevent traffic from hampering the dancers.

San Leandro Picks Junior High Site

SAN LEANDRO, Oct. 6.—Recommendation that the Best property, a ten-acre tract of land at the corner of East Fourteenth street and Peralta avenue, be the chosen site for the establishment of a junior high school here, was made at a joint meeting of the school trustees, city trustees and directors of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon. Despite the fact that the Oakland Board of Education had expressed preference for the Lucio property of five acres, at the corner of Eastbrook and East Fourteenth streets, it was agreed here that the Best tract would be the more logical location. Most students could be accommodated, there would be larger ground space, and it would be so centrally situated that the larger number of attending pupils would be accommodated, it was pointed out. The local school board, consisting of Charles Jeffrey, chairman; Mrs. M. Garcia and Herbert Landis, were requested to make formal recommendation of the Best property to the Oakland board.

U. C. PRESIDENT DECORATED BY KING OF ITALY

Barrows, Hanna, Rolph Are Given Orders For Hospitality to Ambassador.

David P. Barrows, president of the University of California, has been selected as one of three men for signal honors by Victor Emmanuel III, King of Italy, as a result of their hospitality to Vittorio Rorandi-Ricci, Italian ambassador to the United States, who recently visited here.

Dr. Barrows was decorated as "Chevalier of the Crown of Italy," according to dispatches received by Vincent Fillet, consul general of Italy in San Francisco. Archbishop Edward J. Hanna has the title of "Commander of the Crown of Italy" and Mayor James Rolph, Jr., as "Chevalier and Officer of the Crown of Italy."

The decoration of Dr. Barrows was because of his fostering of the use of Italian literature in the University of California and because of his knowledge of the economic relations between the United States and Italy, according to Fillet.

Archbishop Hanna was decorated because of his personal knowledge of the needs of former subjects of Italy now in California and the help he has given immigrants who have come here intending to become American citizens. Mayor Rolph was honored because of the hospitality he extended to the ambassador during his twelve-day visit.

"The visit of Ambassador Rorandi-Ricci was to gain a personal knowledge of the needs of former subjects of Italy," said Fillet today, discussing the decorations and their causes. He was particularly interested in the subject of immigration since it affects Italians desiring to come to this country.

"He also investigated conditions in the Italian fishing colony in Monterey and both Archbishop Hanna and Mayor Rolph assisted him materially in his investigations. While here he decided to establish a certain number of travel scholarships to be assigned each year as a prize to sons of Italians, including the who have become American citizens, who have shown the greatest diligence and profit in the study of Italian. President Barrows' was consulted regarding these scholarships."

Only Two Out of Million Young Oysters Survive

LONDON, Sept. 30.—So numerous and rapacious are the enemies of oysters in the sea that only two out of a million young oysters ever reach the knife of the oyster opener. The remainder of the million fall victim to the attacks of their foes.

It is never the oyster's fault if oysters are scarce. The oyster is a generous provider. It makes no fuss over producing a million at birth. That sort of thing it just all in the day's work with the oyster. But the enemies of the oyster never take a day off. They are the hosts that prey on "oyster fry" as it is called by oyster cultivators.

The heavy percentage of loss between birth and maturity moved the ministry to take steps of protection. On the coast of Wales, at Conway, it established an experimental station where the scientist in charge, Mr. Dodgson, is said to have succeeded a number of times in keeping alive and bringing to maturity 100,000 oysters out of every million born. His success was due mainly to the fact that he sterilized the water in which the oyster bred.

"The enemies of the young oyster," Dr. Dodgson explains, "are numerous, but mostly small, and by sterilizing the water before putting the oysters in to breed all the enemies of the young are killed off and the young are then free to attach themselves to a suitable surface."

"The experiments have been successful for four years in succession and if they prove successful on a larger scale, English oyster lovers are looking forward to a more abundant and cheaper supply of the native product."

Patriotism Doses Given Cuba to Relieve Unrest

HAVANA, Cuba, Sept. 26.—Heroic doses of patriotism, self-administered by Cuba, have marked the course of treatment prescribed by Major-General F. H. Crowder since he began his diagnosis last May of the evils that were ravaging the self-government organs of the island republic.

Taking their cue from the consulting physician sent by President Harding, and with the causes of the decline in national credit and internal government efficiency made plain in the general's thirteenth memorandum, the assisting Cuban doctors and nurses began drastic measures.

Through intellectual, commercial and patriotic organizations and by parade, manifestation, mass meeting, resolution and editorial, the necessity for new standards of good government was made plain. Never in the course of Cuba's 20 years of independent government, according colonels, captains and lieutenants assembled quickly under the presidency of General Pedro Betancourt, secretary of agriculture, commerce and industry in the Zayas cabinet. All were ready, according to local belief, again to take up arms in defense of Cuban independence, either against foreign invaders or their own constituted government, wherever the peril lay.

Neither violent measures nor resolutions were found necessary. A committee headed by Dr. Domingo Mendez Capote, a dominant figure among the elder statesmen, instituted an inquiry. They learned Cuba was in no immediate peril of renewed subjugation and dispersed.

INTERVENTION DENIED.

President Zayas, reiterating previous formal statements, told the committee, that while General Crowder's recommendation had been getting firmer and firmer, intervention never had been threatened nor even hinted. The presidents of the house and senate declared that congress ever had been subjected to foreign pressure, and declared that the five laws it was considering were the product of Cuban initiative and patriotism.

The same assurances were given by President Zayas to the organizers of a great parade of Masons, which defied recently before the chief executive. Similar statements were made at meetings of engineers, architects, businessmen and politicians.

Exhaustive discussion of the political and financial crisis confronting the government and the scope of General Crowder's mission, resulted in attentive studies in news and editorial columns of Cuba's relations to the United States as defined in the Platt amendment. Despite flurries of feeling caused by partisan attacks on the Zayas administration for its alleged compliance before Washington, and on the American congress for increasing the tariff on sugar, the general conclusion was reached that Cuba must save herself and that the United States was giving her full opportunity.

In addition to the flood of newspaper and oratorical comment, the reform flurry was marked by the publication of books dealing with Cuban-American relations. Among these are numbered "The Peril of the Eagle," "Under the Claw," and "The Platt Amendment."

Nakamura & Co., Japanese merchants, having a place of business almost in the heart of Woodland. It was the second safe-blowing in Yolo county in a week, the safe of the American Express Company at Davis having been blown a week ago, but unsuccessfully.

In the burglary of yesterday both doors of a heavy vault were blown across a room. Two hundred dollars in currency, $15 in pennies and sureties, the value of which Nakamura did not know, were obtained. Considerable wearing apparel was also taken. RUSSIA TO AID IN OWN RELIEF

By JOHN GRAUDENZ,
United Press Staff Correspondent.
MOSCOW (By mail to United Press).—The central tariff committee of the Soviet government has adopted a decision turning over to the Russian Red Cross 10 per cent of all receipts of the government from consular invoices, to be used for the continuation of the famine relief work of the Russian Red Cross, especially for the children who have lost their families during last winter's famine.

At the same time a decision has been taken by the tariff committee authorizing the Russian Red Cross in America to accept for transmission to Russia, duty free, individual packages containing foodstuffs and "articles of primary necessity" destined to the inhabitants of the Volga, Ukraine and Crimean famine districts.

In the resolution "articles of primary necessity" are defined to include all kinds of clothing, boots, shoes, overcoats, overalls and raincoats; all sorts of tinned foods, medicines and hospital supplies, including sheets, blankets, physicians' and nurses' uniforms, medical instruments, eyeglasses, quinine, aspirin and the ordinary table utensils of which there is great need to outfit the orphanages and hospitals of the Russian Red Cross. Packages from the United States intended for Russia will have to be forwarded through the Russian Red Cross office in New York, where they will all be sent to the Russian Red Cross in Moscow. Here a strict control will be exercised over the contents of the packages, to prevent smuggling, and an investigation will be made as to the need of the person to whom the package is addressed.

RUSSIAN RELIEF BY U. S. REACHES FIRST YEAR'S END

Vast Scope of Humane Work
Under Hoover Checked
For Period.

MOSCOW, Oct. 6.—The first station of the American Relief Administration to feed Russian children was opened in Petrograd one year ago. Three hundred children then received their first American meal. Today more than 10,000,000 Russians, when they give thanks for their daily bread, might well turn their faces toward America. The story of the expansion of this relief work is worth telling again in brief form.

Originally Herbert Hoover, in response to an appeal from Maxim Gorky and with the help of the American people, planned to feed 1,000,000 Russian children. The work grew until in August of this year 4,171,441 children were receiving daily meals from the A. R. A., and a daily corn ration, or its equivalent, was going to 6,252,933 adults, a total of 10,424,374 individuals. The original program had been multiplied tenfold.

The adult feeding, not included in the original intentions, was made possible by the appropriation by the United States Congress of $20,000,000 for the purchase of corn in America. This program began to arrive in February of 1922. From that time until the last carload of corn shipped to the interior districts, the railroads of Russia from the northern and southern ports to the famine areas were taxed to their capacity.

DELIVERY PROBLEM.
The delivery of the food became the greatest problem which the A. R. A. was called upon to face. Warehouses were filled and emptied and filled again. Barges loaded to the gunwales with corn were sent up and down the Volga river and up the Kama, Biela and Viatka rivers. Horses and sledges, camels and wagons, wheelbarrows and peasant's backs carried the grain from the river ports and from the railroad stations to the distant villages.

By August 1, about five months after the adult feeding began, 6,257,933 men and women were having their daily meal of American corn and up to that date 26,407 tons of corn and other products had been distributed to the districts for adult feeding.

In the matter of distance alone, and in view of the lack of sufficient railroad connections, it is significant that the child feeding and adult-feeding of the A. R. A., has not been limited to the easily accessible areas, but covers in their entirety the following republics, governments and regions: Kazan, Tatar Republic, Simbirsk, Mahr, Samara, Votkara region, Saratov, German communities, Tzaritzin, Ural-sk, Kalmuk region, Rostov-Don, Kuban-Black Sea region, Astrakhan zone, Ufa, Bashkir Republic, Ekaterinburg, Cheliabinsk, Orenburg, etc.

And even the list covers only a part of the work of the A. R. A., in the Russian Socialist Federated Soviet Republic. There is also the food remittance division and the medical division, each of which has handled something over $7,000,000 worth of supplies since the beginning of their operations. The medical division has distributed supplies consisting of medicines, surgical instruments, bedding, linen, bandages and cotton, rubber goods, laboratory equipment and other items too numerous to mention. It has literally thousands of Russian hospitals and institutions, besides having carried on a campaign of inoculation against communicable diseases on a scale never before attempted in the history of preventive medicine. It has supplied serum and vaccines sufficient to inoculate not thousands but millions of persons in districts where

Scrapbook Photos May Win Tribune Contest

Scrapbooks may win The TRIBUNE photo contest. It is not necessary that the amateur photographers of the Eastbay who are competing, or intending to compete, for the prizes listed in the adjoining column, submit pictures taken especially for this contest. Back among the pages of the scrapbook in which you keep the snapshots taken on vacation trips, or around your home, may be the very picture that will make you one of the prize winners.

The subject must have human interest, as explained in these columns during the past few days. So long as it has not already been published is eligible to compete in The TRIBUNE photo contest. So, suppose you run back through your scrapbook, and see if you can't find one or more photos that you think would appeal to the general public—something that would amuse, or startle, or arouse wonder or pity or any other strong emotion. Then send it in as your entry in the contest, taking care to observe the following conditions:

All photos submitted must be of Eastbay scenes, incidents, or persons. Contestants, in order to be eligible, must live in the Eastbay. The contest closes October 27.

Contestants will send one contact print AND THE NEGATIVE. The latter is necessary that we may make our own newspaper enlargement. Negatives will be returned if stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent. Address all entries to Photo Editor, Oakland, TRIBUNE. Description of photo must accompany entries. If a portrait, the name of the subject must be given, with address. If a scenic, location must be stated. If a novelty, description and location must be given.

All pictures found acceptable will be published in the daily magazine section of The TRIBUNE. The judges who will select the winning entries are: H. S. Culver, chairman photographic section Oakland Art association; J. W. Gartwalde, expert amateur photographer; P. M. Harris of Alameda, member photographic section Oakland Art association; Sidney V. Webb, Oakland and Berkeley, professional photographer; photo editor, Oakland TRIBUNE.

DOPE CASES DOUBLED.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—An increase of approximately 100 per cent during the past year in the convictions obtained for violation of the federal narcotic laws was reported today by Prohibition Commissioner Haines.

cholera and other epidemic diseases are being valued.

The food remittance plan is one by which the friends and relatives of Russians who live in America, or elsewhere outside of Russia are enabled to send them packages of food. This is accomplished without the actual transmission of the individual packages, because the A. R. A. has depots of supplies all over Russia and individual packages are made up from these supplies on the spot in accordance with the letter of remittance. These packages are in $10 units and multiples of that amount. Thousands of persons have taken advantage of this system and their purchases to date amount to more than $7,000,000. Last month deliveries were made at the rate of 2,310 ten-dollar packages daily.

Mother Dies Three Weeks After Son

Within three weeks after the death of her son, Mrs. Thomas J. Roberts, wife of an official in local labor circles, died yesterday in New York, according to a telegram received by Secretary William J. Spooner of the Alameda County Central Labor Council.

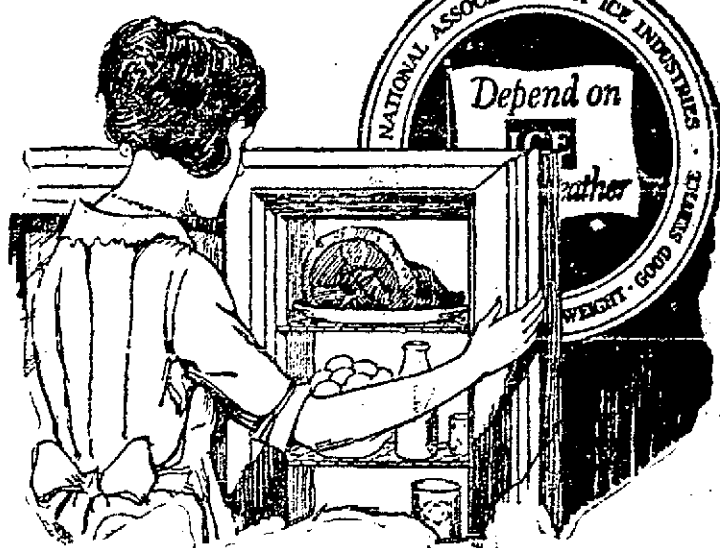

Funeral services will be held from the family home, 506 Sixth street, following the arrival of the remains here next Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Roberts left Oakland a month ago to accompany her husband to the annual convention of the International Union of Steam and Operating Engineers in Minneapolis, where he went as a delegate.

From there they went to New York, where she suffered a paralytic stroke.

The only child of the couple, a son 35 years old, died less than three weeks ago after a long illness. Roberts for many years was a member of the Oakland Fire Department, and is now manager of the Oakland Labor Temple Association.

Ice-Box Economy

Don't let your ice-box get entirely empty before you fill it with ice. That's poor economy. If you permit it to get warm it consumes more ice when you do refill it.

And if your foods are not kept cold, even for a short time, they lose their freshness and some of their nourishment.

It's real economy—and a good health measure—to keep your ice-box well filled all the year round.

CHARTER CHANGE FIGHT MAPPED

RICHMOND, Oct. 6.—Opposition of the city council to the hopes of proponents of the proposed city charter change resulted yesterday in a meeting of citizens desirous of changing the city's form of government. Plans were made, an organization perfected and committees named to carry on the fight for the city charter amendments. The organization is known as the "Freshholders' Charter League." The new Freshholders will seek to institute a board of freshholders who will call a special election when the people will be given an opportunity to vote on a new charter for the city.

Marle Osborn, councilwoman, was elected president; H. H. Turley, vice-president; George T. Blake, secretary and O. R. Ludwig, treasurer.

Petitions prepared by Attorney Mason of San Francisco, charter expert who drew up the original Richmond city charter, will be circulated at once so that the people may be apprised of the exact contents of the charter change backers.

Two committees will be named shortly, one on membership and finance and the other on publicity. The league will hold regular meetings and the results will be placed before the voters so that they may be acquainted with developments.

Judgment for the defendants was rendered yesterday in the case of Lida Meyers and Katherine Halley against Frank W. Halley, Jennie P. Parker and Jane Halley, the suit involving deeds to Alameda property valued at $12,500. He included in his talk an outline of the present situation and the future of the university, calling attention to the new buildings under construction, the progress of the endowment campaign, in which over $1,000,000 has been pledged, and recent gifts to the university.

COURSE WELL CHARTERED
"You are on a broad, straight campus highway full of many obstacles but well chartered and well traveled, which leads up to the platform where you should stand some day to receive a bit of parchment bound in red," said Dr. Wilbur. "It takes persistence, regularity, attention, physical ability, and mental growth to follow that road to its end. There are a number of diverging and attractive roads and paths which lead downhill and at a rapid pace to the edge of the campus. Should you take any of them, if you are observing, you will see evidences of wrecks along the road and at the campus edge you will find some of the 'edge hangers' grouped there talking about committees, pure courses, narrow-minded professors, and other things and their failures to make good. They are the 'get by' type, the curse of our whole scheme of life. Instead of taking a man's full part, they are content to be at the bottom. If you stay long enough you will see how fast they drop over the edge, though some of them struggle and crawl for help a long time before they go."

HIGH SPEED CONDEMNED
The several unfortunate routes pointed out by Dr. Wilbur were the "bad-start" route, put-off, aimless, bootleg, filler, poor health, wrong avenue, street of the side show, rubbish road, and high speed boulevard." The "bootleg" route, Dr. Wilbur described as a popular but short road to the edge, often with a big spill at the end. May lead to moral death. The "street of the side show" he admitted was very diverting, but was extremely dangerous to him who stayed on too long. The "high-speed" road, Dr. Wilbur said, leads directly off the campus. It is chiefly a one-way road and is full of wrecks. The mortality of travelers, he said, is very high. "Note our crowded, fast-paced plays and publications," advised the president. "Remember that some

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

Richardson Says Efficiency, Not Politics, Will Be Rule

Because he will have no desire for a second term as governor, Friend W. Richardson, if elected to that office, will be able to concentrate his efforts upon the needs of the state without having to consider politics and selfish motives, he told the members of the Public Opinion club at San Francisco yesterday.

Richardson was the guest of honor and principal speaker at a luncheon given by the club at the Palace Hotel. "It will mean that I can put inefficient men out of the state service even though they may be politically powerful," he said. "And that is just what I will do. I will kick out of power the present political machine, substitute business for politics in state government, abolish unnecessary offices and commissions, restore efficiency in the various departments, put highway construction in the hands of skilled men, and attend strictly to the business of the office, and, while meeting all the necessary needs of the state, will save the people millions of dollars."

PLATFORM SHORT POINTED. Richardson told the club members that the platform on which he asked their support and that of the voters throughout the state, could be expressed in two words—Economy and Efficiency.

"When one handles public funds conscientiously for a long time," he said, "one comes to realize the sacred trust that has been reposed in him. As state treasurer, I became appalled by the waste which the expenditures of the state had increased from a very small amount to a size in which an appropriation of the state legislature totaled $21,000,000."

"From a great part of this enormous appropriation," Richardson said, "the people of the state derived no benefit. It was simply wasted. The three vital points in California's state government are the Board of Control, the State Highway Commission and the Railroad Commission, and it is in these quarters that the economy and efficiency of the administration are mainly decided, the Republican candidate for governor told his hearers."

"These three commissions should be filled by men of ability and integrity coupled with a desire for work," he declared, "and not by men appointed as a reward for political activity."

RICHARDSON BEGINS TOUR. Richardson today began a tour of the San Joaquin Valley and of southern California in the interests of his candidacy. Just before departing from San Francisco early this morning, Richardson said he did not know how long he would remain on the trip, but added that he would be back in San Francisco several times before election day on November 7.

Richardson is putting his motto of "Economy" into practice during his campaign, by making his tour of the State in a second-hand automobile in which he has already driven 55,000 miles.

"It carried me 15,000 miles during the primary campaign," he said today, "and still is holding up well. I think it will easily last out the remainder of the race. I am my own chauffeur, mechanic, manager and publicity agent. My friends along the way will no doubt be ready to give me a helping hand whenever it is needed, and I expect the trip to be successful from a political point of view."

FOR PARTY UNITY. An appeal for Republican party unity made by Senator Hiram W. Johnson at the recent party convention at Sacramento is referred to in a statement issued today by Chairman Albert W. Boynton of the

CHURCH BACKS HARDING'S STAND IN TURK CRISIS

Congregationalists of Northern California Urge No Concession.

In response to an appeal made to the conference of the Northern California Congregational church which is in session at Astoria, by Rev. M. G. Patzian, pastor of the Pilgrim Armenian Church at Fresno, in behalf of his Armenian countrymen in the Far-East, a resolution was adopted and its contents forwarded to President Harding and the cabinet approving the manner adopted by the United States in handling the situation at Smyrna and urging that no concession be granted to Turkey. The telegram as forwarded last night read:

"The Congregational churches of Northern California in session at their annual conference, express to President Harding and the State Department their heartfelt appreciation for the fast and effective action of our government on the behalf of the refugees of Smyrna, where the result of 100 years of evangelism and educational activities of America have been wiped out."

"We are confident that the humanitarian efforts of the United States will be continued, but that in addition we would strongly urge our Government to use its commanding moral power through diplomatic channels in maintaining a strong and united front among the allied nations against the version of Turkey and territory redeemed in consequence of the late war which has cost America very dearly in men and money."

As a mark of appreciation for the fifteen years of service given by Rev. Leland D. Rathbone, of Berkeley, retiring superintendent of the Northern California Conference, the Board of Trustees yesterday morning offered a recommendation that he be granted an annuity of $1500, which recommendation was unanimously passed by the 140 delegates assembled.

The feature of the day's session was the address of the new superintendent, Dr. William Minchin who came from Denver, where he had been acting as superintendent of the Rocky Mountain District of Congregationalists, to take up the superintendency of the Northern California Conference.

He threw out the challenge for an apportionment of $100,000 to be raised on three year basis as the share of Northern California Congregational Conference. Dr. O. W. S. McCall, pastor of the First Congregational Church of Berkeley, gave the first of a series of addresses. "Congregationalism of the Path" yesterday morning at 11 o'clock.

Oakland delegates attending the conference include Dr. Francis J. Van Horn, Mrs. Lydia Sharp Barrows, Joseph Noble, Helen E. Burroughs, Hannah Oshier, Anna K. Janning, Maud C. Hudson, James E. Agar, Harold Gavette, Ray Lewis.

From Berkeley, Dr. and Mrs. George W. Hinman, Dr. and Mrs. F. F. Swartz, Rev. Ralph Larkin, Rev. and Mrs. Leland D. Rathbone, Rev. and Mrs. Benjamin F. Sargent, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Martin, George S. Martin, Moderator of the Conference; Mrs. Dora A. Sanders, Miss Louise E. Wilson, and for a period of fourteen years was a missionary in the South Sea Islands.

Arritect Freed On Contempt Charge

E. G. Bolles, San Francisco architect, who resides at the Hotel Wiltshire, was before Superior Judge Koford today on charges of contempt of court preferred by his wife, Ida S. Bolles, manager of a boarding house in Berkeley. Mrs. Bolles charged her husband with being $1100 behind in his alimony payments. Bolles admitted being in arrears.

After the testimony had been heard from both sides Judge Koford declared that Bolles had shown that he was attempting to make due back payments and that he should be given additional time to do so.

A motion on the part of Bolles to reduce his alimony payments of $75 a month was continued for further hearing.

SHERIFF CHARGES WHISKY RUNNERS TRAVERSE VALLEY

International Smuggling Ring Seen By Officer in Wreck of Booze-Laden Car.

MODESTO, Oct. 6.—The existence of a Canadian-American liquor smuggling ring through the San Joaquin valley is charged by Sheriff R. L. Dallas of Stanislaus county, here after the capture of an automobile Wednesday night containing more than $5000 worth of high grade whiskey and gin.

That there were several automobiles in the convoy of which the captured car was a part, was made known by Dallas. According to the sheriff, after the car held by Modesto officers had crashed with a truck on the state highway three miles south of here, two other touring cars with curtains up were halted by the driver at his signal and the driver left in one of the machines. This was observed by witnesses who informed officers a few minutes after arrival at the scene of the crash.

The liquor confiscated in the demolished car was packed in twenty-four grain sacks with the label of a Vancouver, B. C. firm. None of the bottles, all of which were of one quart capacity, bore federal stamps, but the liquor was of high quality the sheriff said. A search for L. P. Cushman, 4327 South Flower street, Los Angeles, in whose name the confiscated car was registered, has been started by officers. Dallas has received information that probably will lead to a number of arrests, he says, and uncover a whiskey smuggling syndicate operating on a large scale between Canada and Southern California.

Bevans died of a broken back and serious internal injuries, the result of an accident when he and two companions came upon the turn near Moss Landing. Slipping of the brakes caused the car to skid and turn over.

$20 FINE TAKES PART OF 'R' OUT OF RIDICULOUS

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Miss Virginia Agnew, surgical nurse, found guilty by Police Judge O'Brien, was much surprised at the outcome of a speeding case against her today and said:

"Ridiculous."
"What do you mean by ridiculous?" inquired the magistrate. "I didn't plead guilty."
"No, but I found you guilty, and you have to pay a $20 fine or go to jail for five days." The fine was paid.

Policeman A. E. Schmidt asserted that when he arrested Miss Agnew she was going out Geary street at a 35-mile clip. She told him, he said, that she was in a hurry and couldn't be bothered and for him to take back his summons as it would be fixed up anyway.

To qualify 235 names was needed, and when the county clerk finished weeding out those not qualified to sign the petition it was found to lack fourteen of the required number.

SCHOOL CHILDREN MADE CENTER OF LOCAL MILK WAR

Manager of Creamery Says He Will Compel Price Reduction.

School children of the Eastbay today became the center of the fight which for several weeks past has been waged between local milk dealers, when A. W. Vickery, manager of the Valley Creamery, announced that his concern proposed to force rival creameries to reduce the price of the milk served to the schools.

According to Vickery, although the creameries throughout the Eastbay have reduced the milk served the general public from 12 cents to 10 cents a quart since the "milk war" began, they are still charging at the rate of 12 cents a quart for the half-pint bottles which they deliver to school children.

"These creameries," he said today, "are selling milk to the home trade at 10 cents a quart, and to school children at 12 cents. A very large percentage of the children cannot afford to pay for the milk. These children have to be taken care of by the Parent-Teacher Associations, Mothers' Clubs and other organizations. We believe that this burden should be as light as possible."

The average school in the Eastbay takes from 100 to 400 half-pint bottles of milk daily, Vickery said. According to Vickery, the contention of the creameries that are charging 12 cents a quart to the school children is that it is more trouble to bottle four half-pints than a quart, and that the milk served the schools is all in half-pint bottles.

"The answer to that lies in the delivery end," Vickery declared. "From 100 to 400 half-pints can be delivered to each school at one time. One man can deliver to a dozen schools before 10 o'clock in the morning, while to make 250 house-to-house deliveries is a good day's work for a milk driver. So the extra cost of bottling the half-pints is more than offset by the lessened cost of the large concentrated deliveries."

Vickery declared that his company, by continuing to furnish milk at the rate of 2 1/2 cents a half-pint to the Dewey and the Golden Gate schools, will eventually force the other Eastbay companies to meet the same price in all the local schools.

According to Attorney Joseph J. McInerney, representing the Eastbay Milk Dealers Association, the cutting of prices by the Valley Creamery, both to the general public and to schools, is part of an attempt to break up the local association, and force Eastbay dealers into the ranks of the San Francisco association. In that event, it is charged, a price of 15 cents a quart soon would take the place of the cut rates now prevailing.

McInerney already has filed with the San Francisco district attorney's office, charges to this effect against Vickery and the Valley Creamery association, and has demanded a grand jury investigation.

BOY BURGLARS IN SAN JOSE BLAME MOTHER OF TWO

Six in Ring Broken Up By Police Say They Stole to Feed Hungry Pair.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 6.—A ring of six boy burglars, formed, according to two of them, because of the cruel neglect of the mother of those two, has been broken up today by court action after an investigation revealing one of the strangest sets of circumstances in police annals.

The six boys, the names of whom are withheld at the request of the authorities, had managed a series of unusually daring burglaries in the city for many days baffling the police.

Every indication pointed to a large band being at work, and yet the crimes showed signs of amateurishness.

A clew dropped by a street urchin in the hearing of a policeman eventually ended in the arrest of the sextet. Questioned by Assistant Probation Officer C. P. Pope, the boys admitted their guilt, stating that they had had to steal in order to aid two of their number. These two, they said, were habitually left alone in the house with nothing to eat by their mother. Thieves, according to their story, was the sole out.

An investigation of their story showed that the woman had been in court, charged by her neighbors with leaving her boys alone for long periods. The juvenile court will dispose of the cases.

Needle Mother Swallowed Rests In Arm of Baby

STOCKTON, Oct. 6.—Three years ago Ethel Frick swallowed a needle. Two months later she married. Yesterday her baby, Charlotte, twenty-two months old continued to cry, apparently without cause. The infant's hand went repeatedly to a spot on the left shoulder. The mother investigated and found under the surface of little Charlotte's skin some foreign body. She probed and found the needle. The blunt end of the needle finally protruded and the mother withdrew it. Miss Frick is now Mrs. Frank J. Schwing of 1528 San Joaquin street. Neighbors were present when she withdrew the needle. Neither the mother or the baby ever suffered the slightest pain from the needle until little Charlotte felt it in her shoulder today.

NEW PIANO ENDS OLD CONTROVERSY

SUNNYVALE, Oct. 6.—A long standing controversy over the piano in the grammar school auditorium has been settled once and for all, the trustees having purchased a new piano. For many months past the "grammar school piano" was a sort of standing joke. Those who played it were often heard to speak of it in terms of anything but affection. It is reported that some practical joker even had the effrontery to send one of the trustees a card on which was drawn a large av, topped with the inscription "Try this on your piano." At any rate, after due consideration, the trustees have purchased a new piano, much to the delight of all concerned. The old piano will be tuned and repaired and given to the primary department of the school.

SAN JOSE FOLK CANVASSSED FOR CHURCH CENSUS

1000 Volunteers Work City in Interests of Home
Visitation Plan.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 6.—One of the most extraordinary feats in the history of San Jose was put over this afternoon when 1000 volunteer workers visited practically every home in the city in the course of two hours.

Today was home visitation day, organized under a combined council of the churches, synagogues, Sunday schools and clubs and lodges of the city. John D. Crumby was president of the home visitation organization and Charles M. O'Brien was prominent in planning and organizing the task.

An attempt was made to canvass every house in San Jose and it is doubtful if fifty homes in the entire city were missed. The occupants of each home were questioned as to their religious leanings and today stacks of filled-out cards are today stacked at headquarters at the chamber of commerce attesting the efficacy of the plan.

After being sorted these cards were turned over to the respective churches and rabbis of the precincts and an effort will be made to get those not now attending church or synagogue to attend the institution of their choice.

Churchmen are confident that today has been the biggest day, from a religious standpoint, in the history of San Jose. They declare that the meeting which took place last night and at which about 1000 workers were called together, was one of the most inspiring seen here.

During the day, the workers, who were divided into sixteen districts and each block of territory being definitely assigned to a pair of workers.

Full instructions were issued during the brief meeting and the work went off today like the mechanism of a fine clock, the city being divided into sixteen districts and each block of territory being definitely assigned to a pair of workers.

Scores of the most prominent women of the city yesterday attended the meeting of the Unitarian church. Mrs. N. Wyckoff of Berkeley. Mrs. Wyckoff is one of the most prominent Unitarian women on the coast and she told authoritatively and interestingly of the work of various alliances around the bay.

Small D. S. Rosenwald and her small son arrived here today to be the guests of Mrs. Rosenwald's sister, Mrs. B. S. Dillon. Mrs. Dillon resides at the Hotel Vendome and was visited there last year by her sister. Last winter Mrs. Rosenwald was made the motif of a number of pleasant functions and she will doubtless enjoy equally delightful ones this year.

Mothers of Stanford girls gathered this afternoon at an at home at the campus residence of Mrs. E. P. Cumberly, 12 Cabrillo street. This occasion was arranged in order that mothers of this region who are putting their daughters through Stanford might come to know each other.

Mrs. Dorothy Dinsmore is being "jollied" today over her luck in catching the lovely bride's bouquet at the recent Ghirardelli-Dinsmore wedding. The girl is a popular member of the Altamont and has great numbers of friends. Among the San Joseans who motored up to the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ghirardelli, Dr. and Mrs. William Simpson, Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Barker, Dudley Dinsmore, Mrs. B. Merchant, Mrs. G. H. McBride, Miss Belle Machefer and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kocher.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wing Barker are established at a beautiful home in Palo Alto. Barker is the son of Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Barker of San Jose. Since his graduation he has devoted his time to long travel and music, having written the music for "The Heart of Dierrot," given last year at Stanford.

Mrs. Barker was the charming Katherine Crabtree, who and her husband were Stanford graduates with the class of 1918.

Belenda and Da Roit claim that Piazza falsely represented to them that he had a lease of a building for $10 for rent. They ask judgment for the amounts in addition to $150 each for services they say they rendered.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 6.—With hundreds of members in attendance, the first birthday party of the San Jose Commercial club at the club rooms last night was a lusty and hilarious affair.

With speakers from a number of important industries and institutions and with a diversified program of music, recitations, etc., the affair lasted until close to midnight.

Dr. Raymond T. Wayland, first president of the Commercial club, presided. He gracefully introduced the following speakers: Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, Dr. Tully C. Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, who spoke on "The Economic Significance of the Commercial Club in the Community;" Father Joseph Maher, president of the University of Santa Clara, who discussed "The Commercial Club as a Community Melting Pot;" Dr. W. Entertainment and vaudeville numbers of various sorts numbered about twenty. They included selections by John McDonald's jazz orchestra; Italian dialect presentation, Messrs. G. and J. G. solo, Miss Grace Pfeiffer; Japanese impersonation, Sam Metzger; accordion overture, Joe Pezzolo; Scotch dialect stories, Dick Richards; and other songs and songs by this same talented group.

Decision Given in Bottling Works Case

MARTINEZ, Oct. 6.—Suit instituted by C. S. Moore against the Richmond Soda Water and Bottling Works in which he sought to enforce a $16 for alleged violation of a lease to F. J. Sprague, near here, and $500 for machinery he alleged had been removed, was decided today in favor of the defendant by Superior Judge R. H. Latham. The judge found that the lease agreement had been fully performed by the defendant and that all that is due Moore is $21.56 interest. The decision declares that the bottling works are not to be removed and the machinery expressed willingness to return it.

The bottling company held a lease on the springs property for five years but claimed the tank agreed to its cancellation before its expiration.

HAYWARD

HAYWARD, Oct. 6.—Assignments of districts for a canvass of lower Alameda county to approximate capacity of fruit and vegetable shipments which may be expected through Hayward in the event of the establishment of a cold storage plant here, were appointed at a meeting of a committee of shippers held in the rooms of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce last night.

According to M. D. Harrington, of the Southern Pacific, there is a potential production of 15,000 tons, exclusive of egg products, which may be shipped through the cold storage plant from here. Harrington's estimate is supported by R. L. Macabec, manager of the Hunt Brothers plant here.

It was suggested last night that the plant might be made to accommodate local merchants as a warehouse, as well as packers and shippers.

One of the suggestions being considered by the legion is the planting of a memorial grove to honor those from Hayward who were killed in the war.

Hayward is now the world's largest pigeon center, according to local breeders, and inquiries regarding possibilities of locating lofts here are being received daily.

King said that the Pacific pigeon fanciers are now preparing for the largest pigeon exhibit ever held in the west, to take place in Oakland from November 23 to 27.

BYRON-BETHANY IRRIGATION TAX REDUCED TO $4

Directors Said to Consider
New Bond Issue and Still Lower Rate

BYRON, Oct. 6.—The directors of the Byron-Bethany Irrigation district have set the tax rate for 1922-23 at $4 on the $100 valuation. That makes a tax of $3.20 per acre on class A land and a nominal rate of a few cents per acre on the remainder. Last year the rate was $5 on the $100.

This announcement is considered encouraging news to the irrigation land owners. The subdivision of large tracts in this district depended upon a lower tax rate. Many important changes are being planned, but it takes time to work out a scheme that will meet all conditions.

Another bond issue is being figured, which will make a still lower rate, and this will enable owners of land to plan for additional alfalfa acreage as well as the planting of orchards, leaving to the future, under more intensive cultivation, the redemption of these bonds. At present large tracts are not being planted to the crops that bring in big revenues. There is no better section of the State for the growing of fruits or all kinds, particularly the new Kadota or Clark-adota fig.

Announcement is made that no more water will be in in any of the irrigation ditches north of Byron Hot Springs after October 15.

OAKLAND OWNS $23,000,000 IN REAL ESTATE

City Auditor's Report Lists Holdings With Earnings During Year.

Something like $23,000,000 worth of real estate and buildings and personal property is owned by the city of Oakland, according to the annual statement of City Auditor Harry Williams, tendered to the city council today.

The report, in a bound booklet, sets forth the condition of the city's finances and accounts at June 30, 1922, and shows the assets and liabilities of the city. There are also many subsidiary and extra funds accounted for.

The city's bonded indebtedness on June 1 was $6,058,815. This includes $1000 still outstanding from the old city hall bonds of 1872, as well as the auditorium, park purchases, the new city hall, and sewer construction.

EARNINGS TABULATED. Various earnings of departments are shown for the year. The auditorium, for instance, received $54,782 in rentals and concessions. The park department brought in $2200 from sales of permits and concessions. The playground department brought $27,446 from boat rentals and concessions.

The harbor department brought money in from various sources, including the following: Union Construction company lease, $16,250; parr lease, with tolls, $22,569; wharf leases, $46,206; general harbor earnings from rentals, dockages and tolls, $73,337.

In most of these departments the income was exceeded by the cost, especially in the harbor department, where extensive improvements are going forward; but the auditorium brought in a small net revenue for the year.

CITY BUSINESS LARGE.

The investments of the city include enormous amounts, proving the contention, according to officials, that the business of city government is as big and as intricate as the task of running a great corporation. Some of the properties owned by the city include the following: Parks, $3,949,000; schools, $6,257,000; harbor improvements, $3,087,000; city hall, $2,183,000; auditorium and grounds, $989,000; fire department buildings and equipment, $884,000; libraries, $590,000.

In some manner the gun was discharged, the charge of shot entering her breast. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel V. Matter.

FAMILY ON VACATION. SAN LORENZO, Oct. 6.—P. R. Rosa and family of San Lorenzo are on their way to Los Angeles in their new sedan for a two weeks' vacation.

RESTAURANTS IN RUSSIA GETTING BACK TO NORMAL

TYVER, Russia, Oct. 6.—The old time scenes at American railway functions, when the breakmen came through the train shouting: "Blankville, 20 minutes stop for supper," are being duplicated in Russia as the normal conditions of travel are being restored and railway station restaurants, foodless and closed for four years, are opening again.

Passengers during the revolution had nothing to eat on long journeys except what they brought with them, but now practically every station restaurant offers almost a pre-war bill of fare. As the trains pull in, a scramble for food ensues that would rival an American quick lunch counters during the rush hours.

Some of the more important through trains have dining cars, but they are patronized only by first-class passengers, and even many of these enjoy the rush at the station restaurants more than the decorum of the wagon-restaurant.

Post Will Hold Armistice Ball

MARTINEZ, Oct. 6.—Committees to arrange for the annual Armistice Day ball and to campaign for the soldier aid measures to be voted upon in November were named at the meeting last night of Henry A. McNamara Post, American Legion.

Francis McMahon was named chairman and Charles Jobe and Merrill Wright, members of the committee to arrange for the Armistice ball. Rex Boyer was named chairman of the committee to handle the soldier aid legislation campaign and A. F. Washburn, Charles Thissell and L. G. Thurman were named as members. Thissell made a report to the post of the state legion convention in San Jose, which he attended as a delegate.

The business session was followed by a ravioli supper and stories were told by James Silva, Italian impersonator.

Prior to the masquerade, the Native Daughters are planning a carnival dance, to be held next month.

Turlock Firemen Put Out Threatening Fire

TURLOCK, Oct. 6.—A quick action of Turlock's volunteer fire department and a fire was prevented Wednesday morning. The fire burned some bedding in a room at Mrs. Brown's rooming house on North Broadway, when it is thought an official and Mrs. Brown, a tenant left a cigarette stub burning when he went to work about an hour before the alarm. The light breeze blowing is thought to have blown a spark out the bed and fanned it into a flame. One of the fire engines narrowly escaped destruction when north-bound train No. 66 only missed it by several feet, according to eye-witnesses.

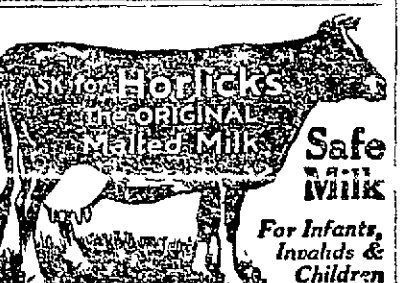

Spouse Resented Care of Baby, Claim

Because she spent so much time looking after her baby, who was very ill, her husband, John H. Grenfell, a machinist, charged her with neglecting him, according to the testimony of Grace E. Grenfell, given before County Commissioner Clarence Crowell. The decree awarding her a divorce was signed yesterday by Superior Judge St. Sure.

The couple were married in Grace Valley, November 13, 1919, and separated June 10, 1922.

GERALDINE HEADS KLX BROADCAST PROGRAM TONIGHT

Radio Fans' Request to Hear Column Writer Again Is Granted.

The radio fans who listen in on KLX tonight when "Geraldine Katrinka" begins spouting for the regular 45-minute Friday night period, from 8:15 to 9:00, are due for the big surprise.

Geraldine, whose column in The TRIBUNE has been so widely read, has consented to speak to the wireless enthusiasts during the time that KLX is on the air. The subject of her talk will be "Seeing Yourself."

For years the readers of The TRIBUNE have been asking themselves "Who is Geraldine?" Tonight the radio fans will have an opportunity of hearing her voice, and of listening to her express her practical opinion on subjects of interest to everyone, man, woman and child, and in the manner and style which has made Geraldine famous.

Several months ago Geraldine broadcast a talk through The TRIBUNE's radio station. Since that time hundreds of requests have been made by her admirers for a "repeater," and tonight Geraldine will talk to the radio fans, not as a stranger, but as an old acquaintance.

From 7:15 to 7:30, Miss Violet Richardson, supervisor of physical education in the Berkeley elementary and junior high schools, including hygiene will talk. Miss Richardson, who organized the Berkeley women's gymnasium in 1920, introduced physical education into the Berkeley school system as a required subject. In 1918, will speak on "Right Posture."

Her address will be instructive and she will tell something that everyone ought to know to keep healthy.

3,000,000 Sticks of Gum Dispensed

SAN JOSE, Oct. 6.—Madella Kelly and Louise Penrod, dark-eyed and garbed in flaming orange, have given out 40,000 sticks of gum here during two days and the city, from merchant princes to street sweepers, is chewing in unison.

The lively misses have fishing baskets strung across their shoulders and pass out the sticky confection generously. Discipline at the county jail is completely gone today as prisoners and trustees work their jaws lustily upon chiclets.

Miss Kelly and Miss Penrod have been traveling for four months and in a month more will have covered every city in the state of over 5000 population. Thus far they have passed out 3,000,000 sticks of gum.

CHOKE COIL COUPLING.
In multi-stage amplifiers the separate steps of amplification may be coupled together by choke coils, each consisting of an iron core on which is wound a large number of turns of wire. This coil when connected in the plate circuit does not offer a high resistance to the flow of the plate current, but the choking effect of the coil effectively prevents the passage through it of the rapid voltage variations and causes them to be impressed upon the grid or circuits of the succeeding stage. Choke coil coupling does not possess the voltage amplifying properties of the usual type of inductance transformer.

MILLIAMPERE.
A practical unit of electric current having the value of one-thousandth of an ampere and used to denote the amount of the minute currents which flow in certain portions of radio circuits, for example, the plate circuit of a vacuum tube may be ten milliamperes.

EDISON EFFECT.
A phenomenon discovered about 1884 by Edison, who determined by experiment that if a positively charged wire was introduced into an evacuated tube containing a filament heated to incandescence, that the electrons, or small charges of negative electricity given off by the filament were attracted to the wire providing the wire was maintained at a positive potential with respect to the filament. The passage of electrons from the filament to the wire is equivalent to the flow of a current across the vacuum between the wire and the filament and takes place only when the filament is heated.

ELBOCROLYTIC DETECTOR.
A receiving device consisting primarily of an extremely fine platinum wire barely making contact with a 20 per cent solution of nitric acid. The platinum wire, known as a "Wollaston wire," may have a coating of silver to facilitate handling, this coating being removed previous to use.

GAGE ANTENNA.
A type of antenna which in a simple form consists of a number of parallel wires supported from a single point and kept apart by being fastened at equidistant points on the circumference of a circular frame.

DIRY CELL.
A primary cell of a portable type having a low internal resistance and comparatively large current capacity and used as a source of electrical energy in the plate circuit of vacuum tubes. Consists of a positive electrode of carbon surrounded by a mixture of ground carbon and manganese dioxide. The electrolyte is a solution of zinc chloride and ammonium chloride (sal ammonia). A zinc container lined with an absorbent material serves as the negative electrode.

FLUOTRON.
A large type of transmitting tube suitable for developing considerable power. These tubes are so highly evacuated as to allow the application of several thousand volts to the plate with a resultant plate current as high as 0.4 ampere and an output as great as 500 watts. These tubes are so constructed as to provide for rapid rotation of heat and a large amount of power may be developed by operating several of these tubes in parallel.

TEXAS SHERIFF LOSES HIS JOB CANDIDATES ARE HEARD BY WOMEN

EASTLAND, Tex., Oct. 5.—Sam Nolley was suspended as sheriff of Eastland county this afternoon by Judge Hill in the district court, and J. D. Barton was appointed to fill the office, after the court had heard ouster proceedings against Nolley in which he was charged with failure to discharge his official duties.

C. of C. Member Is Jailed As "Hobo"

WOODLAND, Oct. 6.—Having spent some hours in the jail here, Frank Jewett, member of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce Sacramento Valley Excursion party, admits the last laugh is upon him. In a spirit of fun, Jewett disguised himself as a hobo, while the special train en route here, and a member of the train crew saw him and when the train arrived in Woodland, handed Jewett over to Deputy Sheriff Hoffman.

While protesting that it was a joke and that he was a member of the party in disguise, Jewett persuaded the deputy sheriff to have members of the party identify him. Several members of the party finally arrived at the jail, calmly looked Jewett over and then coolly declared they did not know him. They left with Jewett muttering imprecations. Later on the friends revealed Jewett's identity and he was released. He admits the last joke was upon him.

Raw Cane Sugar Shows Increase

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—A considerable decrease in the refining of raw cane sugar, mostly imported, in 1931, as compared with 1930, was shown in census figures made public today by the department of commerce. The statistics did not include reports on establishments manufacturing sugar, syrup and molasses from domestic cane.

The combined output of 21 establishments listed for 1931 averaged 65 per cent of their maximum capacity. The value of their output last year totaled $49,211,512 as compared with that of twenty establishments in 1930 amounting to $730,886,706. This decrease was accompanied by declines in the number of persons employed.

Five of the establishments were situated in New York, four in Louisiana, three in Pennsylvania, two each in California, Massachusetts and New Jersey, and one each in Georgia, Michigan and Texas.

New Gusher Said to Break Record

CASPER, Wyo., Oct. 6.—The first gusher to be brought in on the Teapot Dome United States naval reserve, 40 miles from Casper, came in with an estimated flow of about 3,000 barrels daily. If the estimate is correct, the well will be the largest oil well in Wyoming.

The Teapot Dome reserve became widely known recently when it was leased to an oil company by the interior department over the protests of other oil companies and interested persons. At that time Mexico was sent to the reserve to oust drillers for one of the companies on the ground when the lease was made.

Inquests Set in Cases Two Deaths

MARTINEZ, Oct. 6.—Inquests into the deaths of Matt Soliar, Asst. Engineer of the National Bank of California, and a woman found dead in a boiler at the Ayon refinery last Saturday, and Raymond Cardona, Selby Smelting Works employee, fatally hurt by a railroad train at Valparaíso Tuesday night, will be held at the Brunner funeral parlors tonight. The inquests will be conducted at Coroner C. F. Donnelly.

Whether Soliar's death was caused by heart failure or whether he died from an electric shock will be determined by the coroner's jury. Soliar had a burn on one of his wrists, leading to the belief that an electric shock from a cord he held might have caused his death.

Arrangements for Cardona's funeral are held in abeyance pending efforts to communicate with his widow, who resides in Mexico.

WOMEN PLAN BAZAAR

THE PRICE OF PEACE.

Unless it stirs up the war party in Greece the Mudania agreement would seem to have averted the great war which threatened in Europe. In its settlement the treaty, if the called terms are authentic, aims to prevent wars in the future in that it prohibits the building of fortifications on either side of the Straits of the Dardanelles.

While the break in the conference may mean loss of all that appeared to have been gained, it is believed the basis for an agreement is established.

There is no questioning the fact Turkey has made solid gains toward resuming her old position by this crisis she precipitated following her victories over Greece. The British and Turks will withdraw from the neutral zones and the Allies will be allowed to remain in Constantinople during the peace negotiations. It is in installing the Kemalist civil authorities in Constantinople and in compelling the Greeks to evacuate Thrace that the Allies have tendered victory to the Turks that peace may be preserved. The events of the next few months will justify or condemn the decision.

The Greek protest cannot precipitate a situation so serious as that which passed. There have gathered now enough warships to blockade the ports and compel obedience and, in this action, France and Italy may be expected to aid in enforcement. The army of the new Greek king lacks nothing in valor or determination but it cannot hold Thrace in the face of the odds which will face it.

The world may ask if there are to be no reparations for the sucking of Smyrna and massacre of citizens. For years there will be a balancing of the scales of this near-war. If no price is too great to pay for peace a good bargain has been struck.

THE MORE THE BETTER.

Any protest by the intercollegiate conference against a football game between Stanford and Pittsburgh can only display a mistaken impression of what athletics should mean to the colleges and to the public. It is argued by certain of the conference colleges that such a game would interfere with the drawing qualities of the other East-West game which has been played annually at Pasadena.

One might ask what drawing qualities, gate receipts, and geography have to do with amateur athletics. If one game between an eastern and a western team is considered desirable toward cementing the friendship of separated parts of the country, establishing supremacy, and giving to the student players experience in meeting teams from places where training conditions and coaching systems are different, why would not two or more games be more desirable?

Football schedules on the Pacific Coast have been restricted because of the few large universities or colleges. This is the only part of the country where athletic clubs have taken the place of educational institutions in preliminary games.

In the question of games between the East and West all that need be decided is the desirability. Once that is settled, there is no reason, except that of the box office, why any college of the Pacific Coast should not arrange a contest with another on the Atlantic. The more of these games the more students will have the opportunity of participation and attendance. Acquaintanceship between sections will be closer established and the relative strength of East and West will be set forth with more certainty.

Attempts to force Stanford to cancel the game with Pittsburgh can only result in forcing the public to think that the intercollegiate conference is mainly concerned in large gate receipts at the annual conference in the south.

All over the United States these days radio enthusiasts are picking the score by innuendo of the air. So far there have been no complaints from neighbors of undue noise as these lone rosters, with telephone receivers clamped over their ears, shout encouragement to their favorites. This is the first radio world's series and it is being accepted in the matter of fact way of a nation in which marvelous discovery, over night, becomes commonplace.

OAKLAND AT REDDING.

"He that sees the handwriting on the wall knows that Oakland is destined to become a city of at least a million inhabitants, one of the truly great cities of the United States."

Not only for the vision and encouragement which is in this statement it is to be regarded with pleasure. It comes from one California city to another, an expression of confidence, belief and good will. It is what the Oakland excursionists heard from a Cottonwood man when they visited Redding on Thursday.

The speaker, J. C. Brown, president of a Cottonwood bank, said more that was to the point. His words in behalf of Redding and Cottonwood should be set before every citizen of the Eastbay for they voice the spirit and motive which prompted the trip to the Sacramento Valley and should prompt the community's activities toward making the most and the best of its opportunities.

"If Oakland is to reach the zenith of her great destiny her people must work with us of greater California and we must work with Oakland."

In the last analysis it is the people of the interior who feed the cities and who build up their wealth and importance. We have room in California for thirty million people and still think what the city of Oakland will be when the state has achieved that tremendous increase in its population.

The excursionists are seeing for themselves the proof of Mr. Brown's assertions. Near Redding and Cottonwood they saw 34,000 acres of some of the finest farming land in the world. They learned 150,000 tons of prunes are to be harvested there this season. Creameries, vast irrigating districts, stock farms, grain fields, iron works, power plants, fine schools and buildings told their story. One must see California frequently to hold the true picture of its development and opportunity.

THREE MORE AMENDMENTS.

A number of the thirty amendments on the November ballot need little discussion as to merits or demerits. There is, for instance, Number 21, an amendment declaring the Legislature shall not pass any special local laws creating irrigation, reclamation, drainage or flood control districts. Those who may think this is directed at such districts which have missed the point. The state has learned through experience with special acts creating municipalities, danger and abuse may follow. The general laws are sufficiently elastic to admit of successful organization and management of such districts, and there should be no need of special acts.

Proposal Number 27 is frankly directed against the Single Taxers but it aims at them through the initiative and referendum law. It seeks to raise the number of signatures necessary for a petition from eight to fifteen per cent of the total vote. As a matter of equity, the Single Taxers have as much right as anyone to present a petition. The vote on the amendment should be considered solely on the question of the number of signatures. Is 8 per cent enough to put a measure on the ballot?

Two years ago a proposal similar to Number 28 was defeated by 254,000 votes. It is the anti-vivisection measure and would prevent experimental inoculation of guinea pigs and other animals with bacterial cultures or germs of disease. The Anti-Vivisection League has conducted the campaign for the measure and its most outspoken opponents are in the medical and scientific professions who hold that the greatest advances in the prevention and cure of disease have been based upon animal experimentation. There is also opposition from those who say the bill would prevent the making of vaccines against hog cholera.

The Eastbay Manufacturers Exposition will open October 14 with "the sweetest day in all the year." The welcome will be said with candy and before night thousands of Eastbay residents will realize the magnitude of the confection industry that is here.

THE REWARDS OF VALOR.

It was only last Sunday night that "Battling" Siki, a Senegalese negro hitherto unknown to fame, defeated Georges Carpentier, former pugilistic champion of the world in a big battle in Paris. Already, however, American prize-night promoters are clamoring the victor offers of millions of francs to come to this country and battle in the ring.

Yesterday Sgt. Samuel Woodfill, designated by General Pershing as the greatest individual hero of the world war, came to Chicago for a brief visit. Though still in the army, he has been working recently, during a month's leave of absence, for $6 a day on a government farm in Kentucky in order to earn money needed to make a payment due in January on his home.

Sgt. Woodfill proved his quality when, alone and unarmed, he attacked and cleaned up three German machine-gun nests in the Argonne, killing nineteen of the enemy in accomplishing that job. He went voluntarily into situations that might have made the big-muscled Senegalese run like a rabbit. Yet today Siki's uncouth name is on the lips of millions, whereas the name of Woodfill probably is not known to more than one in a hundred persons in any American city.

While the world thus hails the victorious brawn of the prize ring, and thus regards lightly or not at all the fine heroism of the soldier in battle, the critics who are prone to get peevish with the human race are not lacking in opportunities to display their propensity.—Chicago Daily News.

Spinkeyvintz and Parfinkle, and like a witless loon, they flung their heels to fiddle's squeals beneath the harvest moon. . . G. Westinghouse, inventor, was born in 1846. . . Said Spinkeyvintz to Parfinkle, "The moon is light as day." . . Said Parfinkle to Spinkeyvintz, "How do you get that way?" . . . Edward V. of England was born in 1476. . . Jenny Lind in 1821. . . The witless loon made no remark but tripped it brisk in glee. . . A witless loon may well rejoice in such good company. . . The first German emigrants arrived in Philadelphia in 1683.

"I am come," said Parfinkle, back from the most important and depressing experience of my investigative career.

Our visitor had one hand in his coat after the accepted manner of Napoleon. For several minutes he regarded us and without a word. There is no escaping Parfinkle, nor the force of his magnificent will. We handed him the cigar upon which he had been concentrating and prepared for the story.

"You read," asked Parfinkle, "of the baby who remarked 'Mother, mother.' Immediately after its birth? You read of this thing, I investigated. That is the difference between us. You marvel, I know. You guess, I find out. You, you. . . 'You shut up,' we shouted, for the man was becoming intolerable.

"I journeyed to the home of this child," Parfinkle continued, "and I put the matter up to him man to man, or man to baby." . . . "What do you mean?" I asked, "by starting in to talk so far ahead of schedule. Who told you to do it? Do you realize the possible consequences?"

"The remarkable child eyed me coldly. 'We modern infants,' he replied, 'are asking no advice from our elders. If we choose to talk at birth, we shall do so. If we choose to remain silent, that will be our affair. We cannot prevent men and women from talking at us, from leaning over our ridiculous crabs and cooing what is known as baby-talk in our direction. We cannot prevent this, but we can protest. I, sir, am voicing that protest.'"

"Hereafter," the child continued, "anyone caught talking baby-talk to a member of the Newer Babies Organization, will be kept awake nights, forced to walk the floors, and will be disturbed in every way within our possibilities.

"Will you please go away?" this remarkable baby requested. "I am tired of looking up in your face. Tell the world the babies of today will not stand for condescension, playfulness, or misunderstanding. They intend to assert themselves."

The Fiction Prize.
Christopher Morley has discovered a piece of unconscious humor which may well be entered for the sweepstakes prize. It is from "The Spanish Sultana," by Ambrose Bierce, (Harristown, 1905) and follows:

In the anemic brightness of the crescent moon Frederick's eyes were gilded with the splendor of her's softest charms. They were frosted bulbs of allure, and Wilbert, trenched delicately upon her French-soled toes as a symbol of hardy waxing tenderness.

"Oh, Mr. Vocks," said she, the beautiful cooings of her orbs brimming over with cheer, "how many equinoxes will hereafter wax and wane, search through this garden, but for one in vain."

"You are quoting the Rubaiyat," said he, "but with indifferent adhesion to the text."

"Adhesion," she replied, "was never one of my frailties," and a trifle peaked (sic) withdrew to the distant angle of the iron settee.

Wilbert's momentary harshness had already dissipated and he regretted this intrusion of pedantic nicety upon the moonlit promise of their double entente. "I bespeak a rapprochement," he gallantly murmured, and sliding dextrally along the parallel rods of metal subforming the trysting-bench, found himself chilled by coming in rapport with a section of the seat not warmed by human contact.

"But you must not reproach me," she lamented sighs. "It is too plain that you were not brought up in Harrisburg, where men speak chivalrously to women and good breeding is a native filament of the tender air."

"Probably you are cold on that hither-to unfrequented segment of iron slatting," he said, shivering, his inward tremor by an affection of stern brusque. "Why not slide over this way a little, and chivalry commands my sheltering you from the sharp floggings of frost which, however commendable to coal dealers, betray the softer passions to gooseflesh and eventual snivel."

Womanly, without further quibble, she responded, and the beauty of that unsophisticated face was shielded soon from external examination by the protective polygon of his arm and elbow. It was a generous movement, and in harmony with all the higher laws of human sentiment.

As the office boy sees it, "Fire Prevention Week" is designed to prevent the boss from firing the office boy.

NOTES and COMMENT

New York Evening Post: In the high schools the ill of clan organization develop much more rapidly than among older students. Besides, there is not the same legitimate reason for the existence of that form of student organization in high schools as there is in colleges. Therefore, while the college fraternities are one of the best of things, the high school fraternities are not to be tolerated at all. It possesses too many potentialities for evil without compensating potentialities for good.

Brooklyn Eagle: President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia wants President Harding to call a great world economic conference to meet in Washington to discuss the basic financial problems confronting the nations. Such a conference, he believes, if properly constituted and wisely conducted, might unlock the door to new international progress and to new national prosperity and satisfaction. Dr. Butler is frankly apprehensive, and declares that if something is not done civilization is going to suffer untold misery.

Washington Post: The result of the Republican senatorial primary in New Jersey is a shattering blow to those who have affected to see signs of anti-administration sentiment in the Eastern wing of the party. The campaign in that State was hard fought. Senator Frelinghuysen, who sought renomination, was in competition with a candidate who proclaimed himself a "progressive" at every turn.

ARCHITECT AGAINST SHINGLES

To the Editor of The Tribune:
In a recent issue you published a lengthy editorial recommending your readers to vote against the proposed house law which has been held up by a referendum.

This being fire prevention week, kindly allow me to present the other side of the case.

The referendum was invoked against these proposed housing laws on account of the inclusion therein of a clause forbidding the use of common wooden shingles as a roofing material within the limits of incorporated cities.

This was a wise prohibition because: 1st. A wooden shingle roof is a fire menace, it ignites very readily from sparks, in fact your fire chief will tell you that over one-half of our fire alarms are for fires in shingled roofs caused by sparks lighting thereon from some neighboring chimney.

2nd. A wooden shingle roof, made of the kind of shingles such as we get nowadays, is far from being an inexpensive roof, as such roofs require repair after three or four years and have to be renewed in from ten to twelve years.

In order to keep them for the full twelve years they must be frequently painted, which adds to the upkeep.

3rd. They are not a good looking roof, after being laid a short time, a shingle naturally warps or curls, and when a mass of them on a roof do this, then an irregular surface results.

4th. Shingles from constant warping, coincident with the swelling from rain and the shrinkage from dry and sunny weather, always split more or less and pieces of shingles drop out, leaving gaps like a missing eye tooth.

5th. The shingle business is an established industry, it is true, but it is an industry that is fast eliminating our timber. In time we will have no timber left. We can use other material for roofing, and can save at least that amount of lumber.

6th. We have other established industries that make roofing materials, why not favor them? For instance, the slate industry (slate roofs), the paper industry (asphalted felt roofs) and the tin and sheet metal industries. None of these industries are deforesting our State.

In every city, the wooden shingled roof is prohibited within the fire limits. If dangerous there, is it not equally dangerous outside of or on the fringe of a fire limit?

The writer is confident that if you, Mr. Editor, and if the general public will carefully consider the disadvantages of allowing roofs to be made of what is practically kindling wood, then the attempt to defeat the law by referendum will fail.

WOMEN INVENTORS FEW

about YOUR HEALTH

Why 'Absolute Rest' is Vital to Meningitis Cure.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D., Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Covering the brain are certain supporting and protecting tissues called the "meninges." Like all other tissues of the body, inner meninges may become inflamed. When it does the disease is called "meningitis."

Before there is actual inflammation there may be congestion for a considerable period. But unless this is controlled the actual inflammation occurs. All brain disturbances have headache as an early symptom. In meningitis this is severe, almost insupportable. Nausea, here and there through the head, is another sign of this disease. There is great sensitivity to noise. Sleep is disturbed on this account.

Stiffness of the muscles of the neck and often of other parts of the body is noted. Sometimes the head is drawn backward by the contracted muscles. The muscles of the abdomen are drawn inward. There may be twitching of the muscles here and there, and also convulsions.

There are various paralyses. One eye may turn outward or inward, due to a paralyzed muscle. The lid may droop. The side of the face may be paralyzed.

Grinding of the teeth, delirium, stupor and unconsciousness are other symptoms of meningitis to be a primary disease. That is, it usually follows some other disease. For instance, it may complicate tuberculosis. But all the infections—like influenza, measles, typhoid, etc.—may have meningitis following. Bright's disease, the wasting diseases of children, and some forms of heart disease produce this disease.

Sunstroke and blows on the head may cause it. There must be absolute quiet. Rest in bed in a cool and darkened room must be insisted upon. An ice-pack to the head will help.

The family doctor will take charge of the medication and watch out the cause of the difficulty.

NEW PYRAMID THEORY

Obelisks found in eastern countries, the sphinx and pyramids of Egypt, were part of the machinery of early civilization in the making of calendars, according to Moses R. Cotsworth of Canada and Washington.

They were erected, he says, for the purpose of measuring the sun's shadow to determine the length of the season and the time of planting. All early efforts to compute time measurements and create a method of dividing the seasons and years were connected directly with man's necessity for eating in order to live, Mr. Cotsworth says.

He advocates a new calendar, with the year divided into thirteen equal months, instead of twelve unequal ones as at present. Other changes have been made in the calendar in times past, he said. Even the Jewish Sabbath is not what it was generations ago. Since the world war, he states, Russia, Japan, Siberia, China, Turkey and India have adopted the Gregorian calendar for governmental and legal purposes.—Chicago Tribune.

OAKLAND BOOSTERS WELCOMED IN YOLO COUNTY

Woodland Gives City's Keys To Missionaries of Gospel Of One Greater California

By E. VAN LIER RIBBINK
Staff Correspondent of The Tribune
WOODLAND, Oct. 6.—We have arrived in this beautiful tree-embowered capital of Yolo county and its hospitable inhabitants have turned over everything, including the magnificent court house, to the one hundred and twenty-five men from Oakland—Missionaries of the Gospel of Greater California. To speak with Caesar. "We have come here to see and we have conquered" and the good will of cooperation of the upper and lower reaches of the Sacramento Valley are at the disposal of Oakland.

Preceded by the band of the Oakland Technical high, we have paraded the streets of Woodland between dense rows of spectators making our way through the court house. Here addresses have been made by W. O. Russell, chairman of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors; by Fred Shaffer, secretary of the Board of Trade; by J. H. Matthews, president of the Ad club of Woodland; I. D. Harling, banker; County Supervisor L. E. Hutchins; Irving Clover, commander of the American Legion post at Woodland, and others.

Secretary Shaffer spoke of the good accomplished by the tour of the men from Oakland in bringing about better cooperation and understanding between Oakland and Woodland. He said:

OAKLAND'S MISSION TOLD.
"It was the conquering Romans first came to see that all roads led to Rome, the Eternal City. Let it be Oakland's mission to see that all roads from the Sacramento Valley and Upper California lead to Oakland, Queen of Bay Cities."

Chairman Russell of the Yolo County Board of Supervisors spoke in like terms, welcoming the spirit of teamwork displayed by Oakland toward the interior. Other members of the Woodland reception committee were A. C. Huston, chairman of the Yolo Pliers club; T. S. Spaulding, Fred Wirth, Emil Kraft and D. E. Jackson.

Carlos White replied for the visitors from the Eastbay, saying: "Oakland wants to co-operate with you in increasing the greatness, happiness and prosperity of California. We desire a better knowledge of your community and we want you to discover what Oakland stands for and how we may be of benefit to you."

WELCOMED AT COLUSA.
Between our departure from Oakland and Williams and prior to our arrival at Woodland, we also have made a brief trip to Colusa and back and to Arbutle. Though the time was short, the Oaklanders managed to see a good deal of Colusa, accompanied by the members of the Colusa reception committee. A visit was paid to the Colusa rice mills and orchards.

The following Colusa men were on hand to receive the visitors: J. B. DeJarnatt, W. A. Gillett, C. C. Kaufman, A. M. Roland, Seth Millington Jr., Wm. Murphy, H. E. Sargent, R. E. Blevins, E. Bowes, F. Redburn and W. C. Bleam.

We also met with a wonderful welcome at Arbutle, where a committee composed of J. P. Hall, publisher of the Arbutle American; D. Cramer, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and C. E.

It was a warm reception that the delegates on the Oakland Chamber of Commerce Sacramento Valley Excursion received at Woodland. The top picture shows M. M. HOFFMAN, one of the delegates, taking upon himself all the honors accorded by girls of the Woodland high school. Below is a group of delegates upon their arrival in Colusa, with "ORRUB," the mascot, assuming a special pose for the camera.

The Woman Who Wears Them!

MODART CORSETS

The woman who wears a front lace corset knows why she wears them. She perhaps likes her corset looser when she is working about the house—and tighter when she dresses for the street. The Modart front lace then is the ideal corset for her.

You see, it hooks in front and laces in front, so that one slips it on, hooks it up, and then adjusts the lacing to suit the immediate mood or figure condition.

Our expert corsetieres will gladly advise with you as to the correct corseting of your figure.

Blackmail Charged to Girl By Olivia

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 5.—Application for a warrant for the arrest of Elaine and Myrtle Litt-tel on charges of blackmail was made yesterday by August R. Oliva, North Beach commission merchant. The issuance was withheld pending the arrival of the girls here.

Oliva's action follows an application for his arrest by Elaine Litt-tel, suit for damages for breach of promise of $100,000 filed against him by Miss Litt-tel and the arrest of the two girls in Los Angeles for theft.

Oliva accused the two girls, now on bail in Los Angeles, of extortion and blackmail. They claim to be the daughters of a wealthy Porto Rico planter.

AMERICAN-URAL COLONY IS RENT BY DISSENSIONS

Hundreds Went From U. S. to Work in Mines Under Former I. W. W. Chief.

SKATERNBURG, Russia, Oct. 5.—Difficulties and dissensions have characterized the starting of the "Kuzbass Autonomous Commune," the American and hyphenated American colony beyond the Urals, according to members of the community who have made their way back to this city. Hundreds of men from the United States went to the colony to work in the mines which, it is said, the Soviet government allotted to William E. Haywood, the American I. W. W. leader, and a number of Russian and American associates. Now some of them are beginning to come out, and they bring tales of the turmoil which they say obtains at the two towns where the colonists have settled.

Both at Kemerovo, where the coal fields are located, and at Nadezhda, where are the steel works, there is nothing but confusion, say the men who have quit. Some hitch has developed as to the concession, they declare, as a result of which the promised activity in production has been turned into wrangling and jealousy.

The leaders of the Kuzbass colony are striving to hold their men together, and say they hope for actual production this winter. But, according to those who have succeeded in leaving the colony, most of the remaining members would be glad to get away and back to the United States if they had a chance to do so. Many of them, however, are without money.

GROUPS ARE LEAVING
According to one recent arrival here, the first group, composed of 30 persons, left the United States in March. Another of 75 persons left in April, and three other groups, totaling in all about 500 men, women and children, had arrived up to September 1. Some of these were sent to Nadezhda, others to Kemerovo.

One member of a group which left New York May 13 on the S. S. Rotterdam, said the trip was a continual row from the Statue of Liberty to the Urals. The practical engineers and mechanics, who came largely for the adventure and possible fortune of the thing, found their companions mostly radicals, more interested in arguments on politics than in real work.

"The whole trip was nothing but one dispute after another," this man continued. "Meetings were held every day, but what they amounted to no one knew. When the crowd finally reached Petrograd, every one was criticizing the other. Haywood spoke to us at Petrograd, after the Red Army had welcomed us, and the first thing he wanted to know was if we had brought along any money.

"We left Petrograd for Kemerovo and Nadezhda in box cars, women and children and all. Mr. Doyle, a practical engineer from Texas, was supposed to be in charge of the Nadezhda group, but the theorists blackballed him, and the whole trip on the train was one squabble after another.

"When we reached this city we were divided into two groups, one of 25 going to Nadezhda, the other to Kemerovo. At Nadezhda we were met by the engineer in charge, William Von Hoffer, formerly of Gary, Indiana. We soon found that everything in Nadezhda needed repairs. We cleaned up some houses and moved in. Our diet consisted of barley and beans.

MEETINGS FORBIDDEN
"Von Hoffer forbade meetings, our mail was censored and we lived continually in an atmosphere of forced confinement. Nothing was being accomplished at the plant,

PROSECUTOR AND TEACHER TO DEBATE

WOODLAND, Oct. 5.—C. C. McDonald, district attorney of Yolo county will debate with his former high school teacher, Mrs. Lyle L. Wood, head of the women's clubs of this city, on the projected water and power act under the auspices of the local lodge of Odd Fellows next Monday evening. It is the first time they have opposed each other outside of the school room and the debate is attracting considerable attention. Other opponents and proponents of the measure have been unable to draw a crowd, but extra chairs are offered for the verbal tilt between former teacher and scholar.

for the Americans had not yet the right to work there. The Russian workers and engineers showed their disapproval of the American colony by continuing sabotage.

"Men wanted to quit but could not because they had put all their money into Kuzbass. Sixty-five percent of the colonists want to return to the United States. It is the same story at Kemerovo. Nothing is being done. There is not a concession. People are forced to live under the worst conditions, and will be compelled to remain until such time as a concession actually is granted. This may come after October 1.

"As for me, I sold all my clothes and am heading my way to Moscow. Kuzbass looked like a beautiful dream, but it is a night mare."

Those who are sticking it out at the colony look upon those who have gone away as quitters. They admit difficulties, but say every one will come out all right. In the end if the colonists only have courage and patience enough to remain.

Girl Arrested For Mountain Speeding

LOS GATOS, Oct. 5.—Highways, especially mountain highways, will never again be used by Miss Eva Abrams of Santa Cruz as speedways, according to her assertion. Miss Abrams was arrested yesterday while racing with another car on the Santa Cruz highway near county, her car, according to County Traffic Officer A. S. (Sunny) Jim) Margason, who made the arrest, being driven at a mile per hour clip. The other driver escaped. The girl, according to her own statement, was driving the race until Margason took after the speeding cars and arrested her. Miss Abrams "told it to the judge" in Justice of the Peace Sontheimer's court in San Jose today.

25 Mountain View People Start Colony

Most of the people are connected with the Seventh Day Adventist church and some are Ritters, stenographers in the Pacific Press Publishing Association's office, will leave shortly to take the post of teacher of the Smith valley school, just started by the colonists.

OAKLAND'S CLAIM FOR REROUTING TRAFFIC BACKED

City Engineer Harmon Shows How Downtown Business Is Growing.

A prophecy that all the suburban electric lines must sooner or later re-route their whole systems in favor of Oakland was made today by W. W. Harmon, city engineer and superintendent of streets, as the result of a study of Oakland's growth and its traffic.

Harmon asserts that the electric lines which have hitherto devoted paramount attention to serving trans-bay traffic to San Francisco, must soon have as good facilities for landing passengers in downtown Oakland.

"Railroads go where the traffic goes, in the larger sense," says Harmon. "Many years ago, when San Francisco was greatly predominant over Oakland in size, population and business, the traction companies naturally used all their energies toward serving trans-bay traffic."

"A person can now go from Piedmont to San Francisco almost as quickly as from Piedmont to downtown Oakland."

"But this is all changing. In the last few years, Oakland has leaped ahead in population and business strength. Should it continue at its present ratio, the next ten years will see it just as large and important as San Francisco, giving the bay twin cities."

"As Oakland grows, its traffic grows. As its size increases, its buying desires increase. The buyers are more numerous every year. This puts a problem straight up to the interurban railroads. The lines which have led undeviatingly to San Francisco via Oakland mole or the Key Route mole must sooner or later give the same facilities to downtown Oakland. This may seem far-fetched but all the indications seem to prove it."

Delegates from the last Bridge the Bay meeting reported on developments concerning construction and location of the bridge.

Twenty million bags a year but only a limited amount can qualify

Practically every country of the tropical world grows coffee in amounts varying from a few bags up to many millions, with Brazil, Central America and Columbia standing first in order of importance.

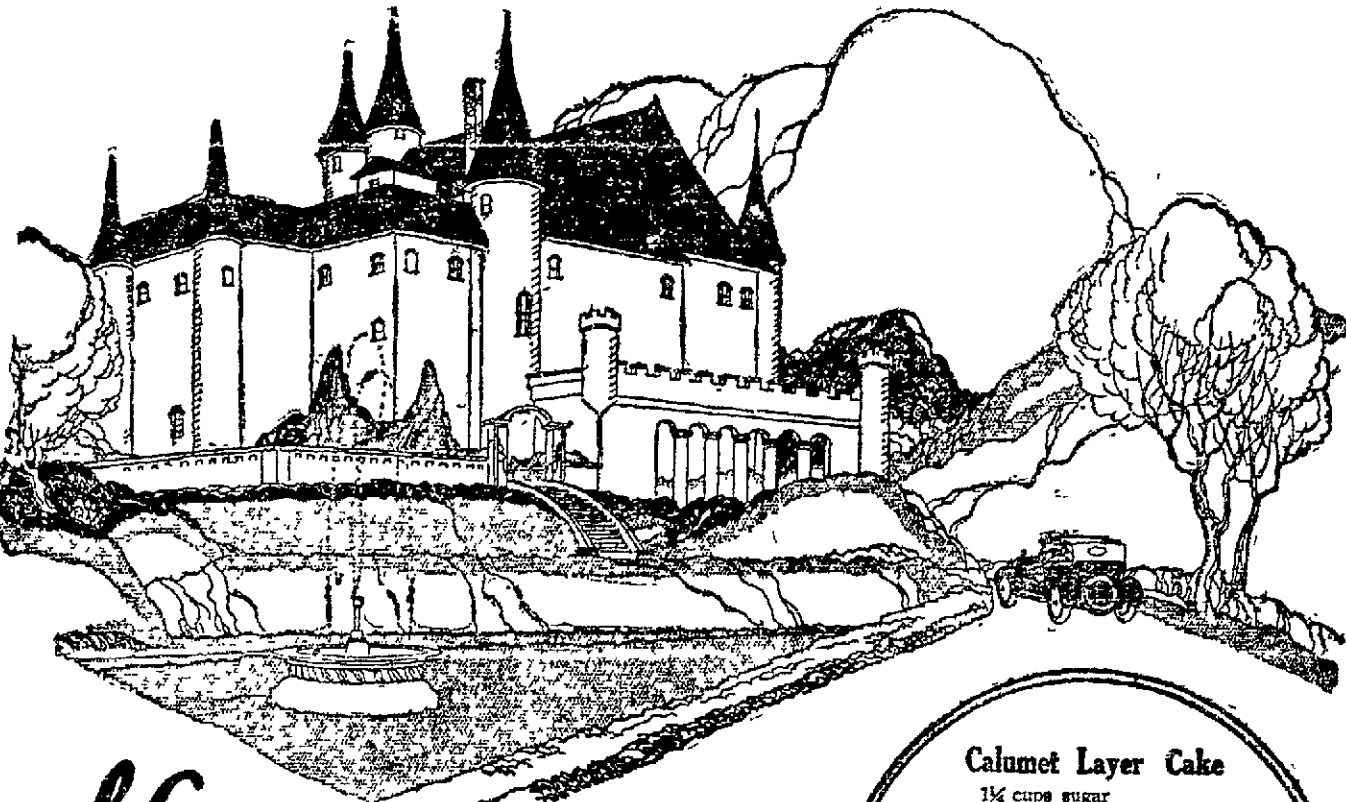

High grade coffee is extremely scarce and out of this enormous production, only a very small percentage can pass the tests to which coffees are subjected before being purchased by Hills Bros. Yet none, if used alone, would be satisfactory to the taste of those who have become accustomed to Hills Bros. Coffee, for no single lot of coffee, however fine, is equal to a blend. Every coffee has some particular characteristic. It may have fine flavor, but be decidedly weak, or it may have heavy body but lack in flavor. Of course, there are hundreds of different types, and the combining of these many lots into one perfect coffee is the work of the coffee tester and blender.

This particular division of the coffee business is of the utmost importance, for here counts skill and knowledge that can be obtained in but one way—long years of study and experience. This particular division of Hills Bros. business is under charge of three experts whose combined years of service amount to nearly one hundred years. Their ability to develop fine flavored uniform blends is reflected in the cup of Hills Bros. Coffee served at your table.

1 cup sifted flour
1 cup butter teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder egg whites
cup milk

Sift flour, then measure, add baking powder, and sift three times. Cream sugar and butter thoroughly, add flour, then flour and milk alternately; lastly add the stiffly beaten whites. Bake 25 to 30 minutes.

EVEN where great wealth is in evidence, economy in the kitchen is not lost sight of especially where it can be effected together with such perfect baking results as are realized when is used. It is universally accepted by the American housewife as being the purest, most dependable and economical baking powder manufactured.

CALUMET

The Economy BAKING POWDER

And who can dispute the superiority of Calumet when it is known that one third of all the baking powder sold and used carries the Calumet label?

It is made in the largest and most completely equipped baking powder factories in existence.

Don't hope—don't guess—don't wish—use Calumet and know that your bakings will "turn out" just right.

The sales of Calumet are 2½ times as much as that of any other baking powder.

When the hen quits laying—then you begin paying

You can't get away from that fact—any more than you can get away from the law of supply and demand. There are two seasons when Biddy "lays off" producing eggs: the "broody" time of spring and the moulting time of fall. At those times the price of strictly fresh, new-laid eggs rises by leaps and bounds.

But you do not have to curtail your consumption on that account. Because modern refrigeration takes care of the surplus from the laying seasons and holds it (in perfect condition) for the times when, without refrigeration, there would be scarcity.

Right now, with newly gathered eggs costing prices that pinch the pocket, there are ample supplies of eggs—eggs held under modern scientific refrigeration—eggs so perfect that you can use them for every fresh-egg purpose. And—at a great saving in cost!

This is a good time to find out for yourself how true this is. Ask your grocer for his best refrigerated eggs. Use them for all your cooking and baking. Don't be afraid of them—they have the excellence of quality, flavor and food value of fresh eggs plus low cost. In fact, she must be a keen housewife, expert beyond the average, who can tell the difference between a properly refrigerated egg and one just gathered from the nest.

For all of which you can thank modern methods of holding eggs under refrigeration—methods so vastly different from the old-time "cold storage" process that there is no basis of comparison.

Dry Chiefs Mixed Up in Bribe Ring by Sleuths

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—At least five men, all federal prohibition enforcement officers, are said to be involved in the operation of an organized ring to extort money from wine-makers of California, and the "graft" secured is said to have reached as high as $100,000, according to special agents of the government who are here investigating the alleged activities.

According to the investigators, whose operations have resulted in several arrests and the surveillance of other suspects, the members of the ring even went so far as to use brutal measures in extorting "hush money" from their victims. Their scene of operation is said to have been among the Sonoma county wineries.

The men involved in the extortion charges are: HUBERT A. WOLF, former sergeant of police of San Francisco; later federal prohibition agent, accused of taking $4000; now under guard of federal agents pending further identification.

HAL EMBERY, former dance hall special agent, before becoming a prohibition agent, accused in warrant sworn out yesterday before Commissioner Thomas E. Hayden of taking a bribe of $7500. Embery is a fugitive, it is declared.

HARRY W. MEYER, former prohibition agent, before that a deputy United States marshal, accused with Embery, and also one George H. Crawford and Waldo Curtis, suspended prohibition agent, with extorting $7500 and $10,000 from winemakers.

VALDO W. CURTIS, suspended prohibition agent, charged with Crawford in extorting $10,000 from Sonoma county vineyardists.

GEORGE H. CRAWFORD, suspended prohibition agent, who turned over $10,000 to federal agents after investigation of his alleged part in the plot was under way. Crawford is now under temporary immunity pending the further investigation of the government special agents.

There is cited in the reports of the investigators who were assigned to the case, after several winemakers complained at least one instance where a man and a woman were chained to a tree and only released after the man, a wine maker, had agreed to go to a nearby town and get money from a bank to meet the demands of the ring.

FIVE WARRANTS ALREADY ISSUED.

In the course of the investigation, five warrants of arrest have been issued against former federal officers. The probe, which was under the direction of Alf Oetfield, special agent of the Bureau of Intelligence of the Internal Revenue Department, has uncovered many details of the methods of the ring. A go-between, a young man of the same nationality as the victims, was chosen for the holdup, and sent ahead to tell the intended victims how "they had better come through," as arrests would follow unless they did. Whole families were subject to the threats which produced the money, it is said.

Additional wine men who charged that they have been victims of the extortion ring, were given hearings today.

BOOSTER PARTY IN YOLO COUNTY GIVEN POINTERS

Eastbay Delegation Arrives in Woodland On Trade Excursion.

Brown, of the Diamond Match Co., showed the visitors over the great almond warehouse and informed them that Arbuckle is the center of a district of 12,000 acres planted with almond trees and is the largest almond area in the world.

Each of the visitors was presented with a carton of almonds and with Malaga and Tokay grapes from Oak Park ranch and the Griffith Hornall vineyard. Tomorrow we have another great day at Sacramento.

FRUITS ARE EVERYWHERE.

Casaba melons rich with the essence of California sunshine, watermelons that set the mouths of our train crew watering, grapes, exceeding in size those which inspired the tribes of Israel to invade the promised land, and a hundred-and-one other products of Glenn county were spread before the Oakland boosters as they visited the cities of Corning, Orland, Willows and Williams.

In Orland the visitors were taken on a tour of the federal irrigation project, under which 20,000 acres are placed under irrigation, growing alfalfa, corn, sorghum, almonds, citrus fruits, melons of various kinds, almonds, garden truck, etc.

Open house was held at the ranch house of F. G. Rosenberg at Orange Fount orchard, and here long tables were set out with delicious casaba melons, watermelons, grapes and other fruits, and everybody was invited to help himself. The visitors were informed that this property was a typical example of what has been accomplished by irrigation in Glenn county. The farm was bought in 1912 for $125 per acre, and was sold four years ago for $1000 per acre. Half of the holding is under almonds and the other half has been converted into a magnificent orange and lemon orchard, the fruits of which won a gold medal first prize recently at the Los Angeles citrus exposition.

COOPERATION IS PROMISED.

The visitors were welcomed by Dr. T. H. Brown, president of the Orland Chamber of Commerce, who said, tersely: "You have come for co-operation—we will give you all the team work of which we are capable. Replying in behalf of the Oaklanders, Lee Newbert said: "Our intention is to extend to you the hand of fellowship and to meet the farmers and businessmen of the great Sacramento valley, which is destined to play such a tremendous role in the daily lives of all of us. We have come to meet you more than half way."

Among other Orland men who were on hand to meet the Oaklanders were: Leonard Boot, Vince Cleek, John Lathenmyer, L. E. Brownell, L. W. Wignmore (publisher of the Orland Register), J. H. Collier, J. M. Leopold and H. S. Howard, brother of Charles F. Howard of the Howard Terminal of Oakland. Howard is the owner of a 200-acre ranch, devoted to livestock and fruit growing. Among Orland industries visited by the Oaklanders also were the two creameries, which produce an average of over two tons of butter daily; the alfalfa meal mill, the refrigerating and cold storage plant and other works.

The visitors were especially impressed with the splendid schools that have been built in these parts of Northern California. Orland has three concrete grammar schools, a high school building that cost $50,000 and a manual training building. Willows is now erecting a new $150,000 mission style grammar school and has also a $50,000 high school, besides a federal building of unique architecture which houses the post office and other public bureaus.

RAND FINDS FUN.

On arrival at Willows, we were received by a large multitude, including the band of the Willows High School, with whom the members of our Oakland Technical High School band immediately fraternized. The Willows reception committee consisted of the following notables: Geo. R. Freeman, president of the Willows Chamber of Commerce; Judge H. C. Bell, E. E. Avery, really man, formerly of Oakland; E. O. Chandler, manager of the Telephone Company; Ed. M. Schorn, publisher of the Willows Journal; J. F. Sidmore, editor of that newspaper; Colonel E. O. Chandler, J. J. Proulx, and others.

One more we formed into line of march, and made the round of the Willows business section with bands playing, flags waving and crowds cheering, for all Willows appeared to have declared a holiday in honor of the visitors from the Eastbay. Again we piled into a long line of waiting automobiles and were whisked away on a tour of the rice

Slayer Hanged Humming Jazz Song, Smiling

SAN QUENTIN, Oct. 6.—With a smile on his face and humming a jazz air Miguel Manriquez was executed in the prison yard this forenoon for the murder of two Chinese at El Centro. The trap was sprung at 10:15 and Dr. L. L. Stanley, prison surgeon, pronounced life extinct at 10:26. Manriquez, however, he was serenaded last night by the Mexican string instrument band of the prison. He ate well at supper, and for several hours listened to Mexican airs and jazz selections played by his fellow countrymen who remained at the death chamber and continued to play until Manriquez went to sleep.

Breakfast was refused by the condemned man this morning. He received the ministrations of Rev. Father Jose Espinoza of San Francisco, who accompanied him to the scaffold. Manriquez walked with a jaunty air, conversing cheerfully with the clergyman in Spanish. His last words were spoken with a smile but in a subdued tone that Father Espinoza says he was unable to comprehend. That he was one of three Mexican bandits who robbed and killed two Chinese grocers at El Centro on July 14, 1921.

Alameda Scouts Near $6000 Goal

ALAMEDA, Oct. 6.—The $6000 goal of the Alameda Boy Scout drive, which is being conducted under the auspices of the Rotary club, is almost in sight, according to Edward Albert, acting executive. To date a total of $5680 has been donated. Rotary club members declare the balance of the fund will be collected within the next ten days. A. W. Porter, chairman of the drive, is anxious to have the fund complete by the end of the month. Anyone desiring to contribute toward the fund and assist in sponsoring the scout movement in Alameda may send donations to Porter, according to instructions of Albert.

Sister Seeks For Missing Peddler

The police have been asked to locate Biels Pireo, an Italian peddler, who has been missing for the last four months. The report was made by Mrs. C. Bellesio, 4902 Broadway, a sister of the missing man, at whose home he resided. He is 37 years old and weighs 155 pounds. According to his sister he did not drink or gamble. She is unable to explain his disappearance.

fields, for which Willows is famous. Incidentally, be it remarked that these fields, of which there are 35,000 acres, attract great swarms of wild duck, and the bay region brings hunters from the coast and beyond, with the result that Willows has become the headquarters of the followers of Nimrod. The visitors inspected the rice fields owned by G. Jones, and were informed that a yield of 45 sacks to the acre is a common occurrence, giving the lucky owners a net income of $5000 per acre.

MASCOT ORRUB IN GOOD HEALTH.

From Willows, the special train took us to the neighboring city of Williams, likewise the center of a great grain and irrigation district. Here the men from Oakland were welcomed by J. L. denhall, J. M. Stovall, banker; B. L. Pouch, banker; and J. L. Kimball, all leading citizens of the town. From Williams, the visitors were transported by automobiles through miles of rice lands and orchards to Colusa, and returning to Williams, went aboard the trusty Pullmans for Woodland. The tour is a huge success from every point of view and will undoubtedly result in a closer social and business relation for Oakland and its rear hinterland to the north.

Everybody is in the best of health, and spirits, including "Orrub" our donkey mascot, who is getting used to train travel, and who has now become blasé in the matter of leading parades. As "Orrub" was taking a constitutional in one of the towns along the line, a local farmer offered to buy the priceless quadruped from A. B. Simons, Southern Pacific Superintendent, of Service on the train, who happened to be standing nearby, but the offer was rejected with scorn and contempt.

DAILY MAGAZINE PAGE of the OAKLAND TRIBUNE

the Army of a Million Crooks August Vollmer
by C. C. Henderson

Chapter 99
THE "DUMBBELL" AS A CRIMINAL

PSYCHOPATHIC inferior is the name given them by criminologists, psychiatrists and medical men.

The man on the street calls them "dummbells," while the youngsters call them "goofs."

Of that vast army of a million crooks 700,000 are "dummbells" or mental inferiors. Science has definitely established feeble-mindedness as one of the predominant crime causes, if not the cause.

Do not misunderstand. All feeble-minded people are not criminals by any means. Of the 290,000 insane people in the United States only a small percentage are law violators.

But add Mr. Dumbbell to a vicious environment and you have lawlessness personified. A weak mind cannot withstand evil influences or temptation.

And that is why the "goof" so often lands in jail.

You all know "dummbells." Some of them are "queer" and have neurotic tendencies which they exhibit by chewing their fingers, making silly, inconsequential remarks, laughing excessively or exhibiting a morose disposition, by excessive irritability or by other unusual conduct.

They have no sense of humor, lack moral courage, practice erotic and alcoholic excesses, and most of all indulge themselves with the illusion that no one suspects them, whereas all their associates are "wise."

Have you a little "dumbbell" in your home? Or in your office? Well, in either case, you need here should cause you to accuse him or her of criminality. Remember that the chances are that the "goof" you know is just as innocent of wrong doing as you are yourself.

But, on the other hand, if you were to take this high-grade moron and throw him in with thieves and pickpockets, he would become a crook, very readily, 99 times out of a hundred.

And there is the biggest factor in the eradication of crime today—the elimination of the mental defective.

The various classes of mental inferiors are:

INSANE—Persons whose disorder of the mental function results in depression, exaltation, embezzlement, perversion, melancholia, delusions, etc.

IDIOTS—Those with the intelligence of a 3-year-old child, irrespective of age.

IMBECILES—One having the intelligence of a child from 3 to 7 years old.

MORON—A mentality between 7 and 15 years.

LILA LEE

One evening about eleven years ago David Belasco, the famous stage producer, gave his diamond ring to a young lady who was a bribe, but it didn't work. She kept on crying.

Now the reason for her flow of tears, tears that disturbed the great Belasco, and gave him a dramatic situation he couldn't control, was just this: The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children had refused to let her perform on a stage in Rochester that evening, just because she was only seven years old.

Prevention of cruelty, indeed! Perpetration of cruelty, rather, for the young lady child had received no more heartless blow.

When she was informed that she could not appear in the Terpie Theatre she refused to eat her supper. Shortly afterwards her teacher nurse, who accompanied her on her travels, could not find her. A general alarm was sent out and she was discovered in an unfrequented dressing room sobbing as though her heart would break.

It so happened that Belasco was in Rochester that evening, nearing a try-out for a new production. His secretary informed him. He had met the young girl. He was interested in her so he dropped his work and tried to comfort her.

The diamond ring didn't stop the tears, the watch and the sapphire were equally futile as he tried something else.

"Don't cry, little one," he told her. "I will make you a star this day you are sixteen years old."

The effect was magical. She was content.

That was back in 1911. The stardom came even before Belasco had promised. Jesse Lasky of Famous Players-Lasky Corporation discovered her before her sixteenth birthday rolled around and sent for her, and from Cuddles' Lee she became Lila Lee, the beautiful Lila Lee of Paramount pictures.

It was in 1917 that Lasky sent for her. She had an extraordinary success in the child play, "The Cruise of the Make-Believe." Then there followed "Such a Little Prince," "The Secret Garden," "Pinky Love" and others, with her popularity increasing. Since that time she has appeared in a score of Paramount pictures.

She is now appearing in one of the biggest Paramount pictures, "The Cruise of the Make-Believe," with Rodolph Valentino as the beautiful convent-brother wife of the bull-fighter in the Vicente Blasco Ibanez story.

About Bobbed Hair

Many customs that a new only fashion had their origin in religion. Bobbed hair made its first appearance in the world as long ago as the sixth century A.D. and was inaugurated among early Christians in England to mark a woman's abandonment of the world of fashion and luxury, and was a symbol of her acceptance of a pilgrim's position. The act of shaving long locks away was performed by the woman just before she donned the rough and plain garb of the penitent and set off on journeys of atonement.

Historians employed to furnish authentic material to Hope Hampton for her first National production, "The Light in the Dark," came across descriptions of this treatment of feminine hair and would not let it in early English literature. The female who was converted to the religious life, perhaps to the veil of a nun, perhaps to mere contrition, usually felt it necessary to make outward and elaborate announcement of her change, and since the hair of early English women was long, and of Saxon weight, it was deemed that its sacrifice would be the most noticeable of all penances.

Since it was held in such extreme pride by the wearers and their masculine admirers, its bobbing was considered a mark of extreme penance. Quite the reverse consideration exists today.

Talmadges Enjoy Rest

Word from abroad asserts that Norma Talmadge and her husband, Joseph M. Schenck, and her distinguished sister, Constance Talmadge, are enjoying a genuine vacation and are traveling in the south of France and have visited Versailles, where, says Norma, she was delighted to find that the center of civilization in the 17th and 18th century had been very truly reproduced in "The Eternal Flame," the picture she completed just prior to her departure for Europe.

Miss Talmadge says that "it gave me a real thrill to find that in our world of the imagination as projected on the screen, we had reproduced not only the physical scenes with accuracy but how the very atmosphere of this marvellously historic spot."

The Talmadges will be back in time for Norma to begin work on "Within the Law" which Joseph M. Schenck is to produce for First National.

Here is a mathematical riddle from Mother Goose: "Take four and twenty blackbirds are sitting in the rain; One shot killed a seventh, how many did remain?"

Heroines of History

Significant Incidents in the Lives of Famous Women by Mark Stuedemann

How a Little Slave Girl Won the Thanks of Washington.

Phillis Wheatley's accomplishments as an African slave girl who climbed from oblivion to fame through her untiring efforts to learn, place her in a special class among the heroines of history. She did not lead an army or give her life for a cause, but by overcoming old traditions and race prejudice Phillis Wheatley opened up a new vista for her people.

Brought from her native home in Africa, to Boston, in 1761, when she was but six years of age, Phillis was sold in the slave market to Mrs. John Wheatley, wife of a Boston merchant. The little slave-girl could not have passed into better hands, for Mrs. Wheatley was gentle and kind to her servants, and took a personal interest in them.

Phillis idolized her mistress, and wanted to become more like her. She realized that in order to do this she would have to learn, so Phillis set about studying. For a long while, after every one else was in bed, the slave-girl would get up and read in secret.

Finally, Mrs. Wheatley perceived that Phillis was unusually bright, and planned for her education. What! Educate an African slave-girl! Mrs. Wheatley's friends were astounded, but this did not swerve Mrs. Wheatley from her purpose. Phillis did not waste a single precious minute of the time her mistress gave her. Great were the obstacles, but she worked untiringly.

After a time Mrs. Wheatley discovered that her little slave had been writing poetry. When she read it she could scarcely realize that it came from the pen of Phillis. Mrs. Wheatley had some of the verses published, and soon the whole literary world was marveling at the African girl prodigy. Phillis had worked so hard to complete her education that her health began to fail. Seeing this, Mrs. Wheatley sent her to England to regain her strength. Here the youthful poetess, who was then 19 years of age, won new laurels, and was received even in the homes of the nobility as Phillis Wheatley.

The first volume of Phillis Wheatley's poems to be published in England was dedicated to the Countess of Huntingdon. People everywhere read them and talked of their unusual beauty. Unconsciously Phillis Wheatley was opening up a new world for her people. It was discovered through her success that the African mind could be improved—something to which the majority had never given thought before.

Upon Phillis Wheatley's return to the United States her success in England was met and she married a colored man named Peters. He treated her most unkindly, and proved himself unworthy of his brilliant wife.

This, however, did not take the mind of Phillis Wheatley from her life work. In 1776 she wrote a poem to George Washington which caused the great man to write her a lengthy letter of congratulations and thanks, signing himself "Your obedient, humble servant."

Phillis Wheatley Peters died at 31 years of age in great poverty. She left three small children. But her story went on, and as a consequence the education of the African was taken up in many a home where ignorance might have remained had it not been for her example.

Emperors Rule Rome

CHAPTER 173

DURING the first centuries of Roman power, the nation was ruled by kings. Then the king was driven out, and a republic was declared.

The republic lasted several hundred years. It was a time when a great deal was happening. Roman armies marched through the country after country, killing and burning. All around the Mediterranean power was won, even in Greece. The Greeks put up one of the hardest fights of all, but some of the cities quarreled among themselves, which helped Rome.

Julius Caesar is the most famous Roman general. He led armies against the "barbarians" of northern France and against nations in the east. Caesar was killed because he was suspected of wanting to be emperor of Rome.

The death of Caesar, however, did not keep the republic from coming to an end. The first emperor was called Augustus Caesar. (Caesar was pronounced like "kaiser," the title of "czar" also came from Caesar.)

While Augustus was ruling, our country he thought little about was the scene of an event which was to have great influence on Europe. That country was Palestine, and it was ruled by Rome. The event was the birth of Jesus of Nazareth. The Romans heard nothing about it at the time.

After Augustus another emperor ruled, and another emperor. The nation was never a republic again. Some of the emperors were good men, others were very bad. We shall speak of a few of them in time to come.

It was the habit of emperors to have their "pictures" put on coins. No doubt the likeness was usually very poor, but there was supposed to be honor in it anyway.

"It must be a quaint city. What did you see there?"

"Well, there was a pretty good Chaplin film at one of the movie houses."

In Tight Quarters

It was—
Three days until payday—
On a thirty-day shift—
And the condition of the family larder—
Was so far below par—
That one would have had to draw—
On a very healthy imagination—
For the next three days—
To keep soul and body—
From following different trails.

As we sat—
With the fortitude of hope—
At our Mother Hubbard luncheon—
A sharp knocking—
Came to our cottage door—
Our hearts stood still—
Company at lunch time—
And nothing to eat—
S-h-h-h—

Don't answer the door—
I feather-footed to the side window—
My wife stooped to the key hole—
The knock was repeated—
A loud voice bawled—
"Open the door—it's your Aunt Emmie"—
She had heard the floor creaking—Curses!

The door was flung open—
Aunt Emmie—on my side—and wealthy—
Waddled in—fat and wholesome—
On her arm she carried her baby—
A papoose of lusty lineage—
And huge uncensored appetite—
We began to apologize—
Aunt Emmie pooh-poohed—
She wasn't hungry, but Zero wanted a little milk—
"Zero is out of luck"—thought I—
I frisked the pantry and found a half-pint—
This I poured for little Zero—
He swallowed it like a human sponge—
"More milk"—says Zero—
I slipped out and borrowed a pint—next door—
Zero gulped this—and yelled—
"Wanta more M-A-L-K!"

"S-h-h-h—Zero—Mammie's little tumble bug—
Him gotta nuff!"

But Zero was a born politician—He stiffened—
"W-A-N-N-A—M-O-R-E—M-a-a-l-k!"

My wife was wringing her hands—
I charged for the store for another pint—
Zero cooed this into him in jig time—
Zog-gone these farmers' babies—
I was through—Zero just started—
I told Aunt Emmie that I was no creamery—
She got sore and bounced out—
Far down the street an echo came back—

A soft knock—Lillian's—sounded on the door. Katie sprang to her feet, her eyes glancing from left to right like those of a trapped animal. I grasped her arm reassuringly.

"It is only Mrs. Underwood," I said, "and I am going to ask her advice. If she says to go with you—"

To my surprise, Katie interrupted with an enthusiastic assent.

"Dot see shoot the ting! Maybe she go, too. I tink maybe she understand some ting dot put me way oop in air."

At the prospect of aid, and especially with the long-looked-for opportunity of laying her responsibilities upon my shoulders, she was beginning to recover the volubility which she is so generously endowed. I opened the door to Lillian in a few words acquainted her with Katie's request, and—mindful of the importance Lillian apparently had given to the reports of Katie's vagaries, told her that I would abide by her decision.

"The waste no time in giving it," she said cheerily, and there was that in her voice which told me the proposed expedition promised something definitely valuable to her. "Just tell us when you want us and we'll slip out with you."

Katie began to plant her apron, a sure sign of embarrassment with her.

"I no can go eef you don't ask Jeem," she said with an appealing glance at me.

"Surely, he won't object if you tell him Mrs. Underwood and I are going with you," I said.

"I tell him n-gings," retorted, she with an I go away, he say bad trust to me. I no spit to heem until he say: 'Katie, I sorry, I begg fool, talk dot way to you.' But you ask heem, he let me go."

It was no time for me to try to convince Katie of the excuse for Jim's actions. But I quailed at the thought of the interview before me. The glimpse I had had of Jim's face did not, I had not, promise to me of a pleasant conversation. Lillian came to the rescue.

"Suppose I ask Jim," she said. "And Katie, do you go to the house with Mrs. Graham and help Mrs. Ticer get all something to eat. We're about starved to death."

My Marriage Problems

Chloe Garrison's New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

The Way Katie Compromised with Her Conscience.

For a second or two, so compelling was Katie's anguished terror, I almost determined to give her the blind promise she asked. Then my common sense asserted itself, and I took her twisting hands in mine, and held them fast.

"I must know first what it is you want, Katie," I said. "But be sure that if it is anything I can possibly do for you I will do it."

"I know dot," she said warmly. "She has dot, appearing to be thinking deeply."

"I swear me never to tell," she began slowly after a little, very much as a child would think out a puzzle. "But eef you find out tings for yourself eef you would not be my telling, would dot?"

I quickly repressed a smile at the way in which she was staging the time-honored drama of the devil and the stump, and answered her promptly.

"No, Katie, you would not be in any way responsible," I said decidedly.

It was not the advice I would have ordinarily given her, but I guessed that she had gotten herself into the power of some exceedingly unscrupulous person when it was a virtue to defer.

"YOU DON'T KNOW."

Another silence, then she raised her eyes again, but this time there was embarrassment, humiliation in their clear depths.

"Mamies Graham, you remember some tings I told you dot time before I marry Jeem, ven you and me crying so much? No—no—no—frantically, as I started to speak. "Don't say dots tings over, but eef you remember, shoot nod your head an' say: 'Yes, Katie, I remember.'"

With a start my mind flew back to the time she mentioned, and it was with emphasis that I answered "Yes, Katie, I remember."

"Den you keep on remembering dots tings, every beet, all time to night, and den—at ten o'clock you go, take jeetle vaik ven I go. Not tings dot you see to dot. You no have to spit to anybody, shoot stay side of road in bushes were you know everything, I no tell you. You see?"

"I see," I said slowly. "But—"

"Oh-h-h," she wailed. "Don't say dot. You don't know, you don't know. Dot Jeem he vont let me go by myself, and eef I don't go you see dot awful devil beezins ooon to all of you. And I not dare tell. But eef I eat, I could hear—"

Uncle Wiggly Stories

UNCLE WIGGLY AND NANNIE'S PIE

"WELL, that's a queer thing!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly, as he hopped over the field not far from his hollow stump bungalow one day. The bunny rabbit gentleman stopped and looked at something round and yellow lying in the grass. "Very queer, indeed, I'll say!" went on Mr. Longears.

"Nurse Jane has lost one of her pumpkin pies!" laughed the rabbit. "She must have been taking it over to Mrs. Twisttail or to Grandpa Goosey Gander, and she dropped the pie in the grass and never knew it."

"Well, as I'm a bit hungry for pie I'll eat this one, and then go back to my bungalow and get another, when Nurse Jane tells me for whom she intended it," thought the rabbit.

Uncle Wiggly leaned over, picked up the round yellow object and started to take a bite from it. But his teeth closed on something hard.

"Why, it's a stone!" exclaimed the rabbit. "A round, yellow stone that looks like a pumpkin pie. No wonder I was fooled! I'm glad I didn't bite too hard or I'd have broken off all my teeth. My! I never before saw a stone that looked so much like a pie. I'll keep it to show Nurse Jane."

With the round yellow stone, which looked like a pumpkin pie, Uncle Wiggly hopped on and on over the fields until he reached the house where Billie and Nannie Wagtail, the goat children, lived.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggly! Won't you come in?" bleated Nannie. "I'm home all alone, and I have something very hard to do. Maybe you can help me."

"One what?" asked the bunny, puzzled like.

"One pie," answered Nannie. "You know, mother has been giving me cooking lessons. She showed me how to make a pie and now she wants me to do one all by myself, and I can't do it. I know I'll spoil it and I think it's real mean—so there!"

"Oh, a pumpkin pie! Good!" cried the Gator.

"Why, Nannie!" laughed Uncle Wiggly. "You know how to make a pie, don't you?"

"Ye-ye-yes; I know how if mother stays in the kitchen," said Nannie. "But she isn't there."

"That's just why she isn't here!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly. "She wants you to learn to do things for yourself. Come now, I'll make believe I don't know anything about pies. And I don't know much, for look what I picked up and tried to eat, thinking it was a pie!" and the bunny showed Nannie the round, flat, yellow stone.

"Oh, how funny!" laughed the little goat girl.

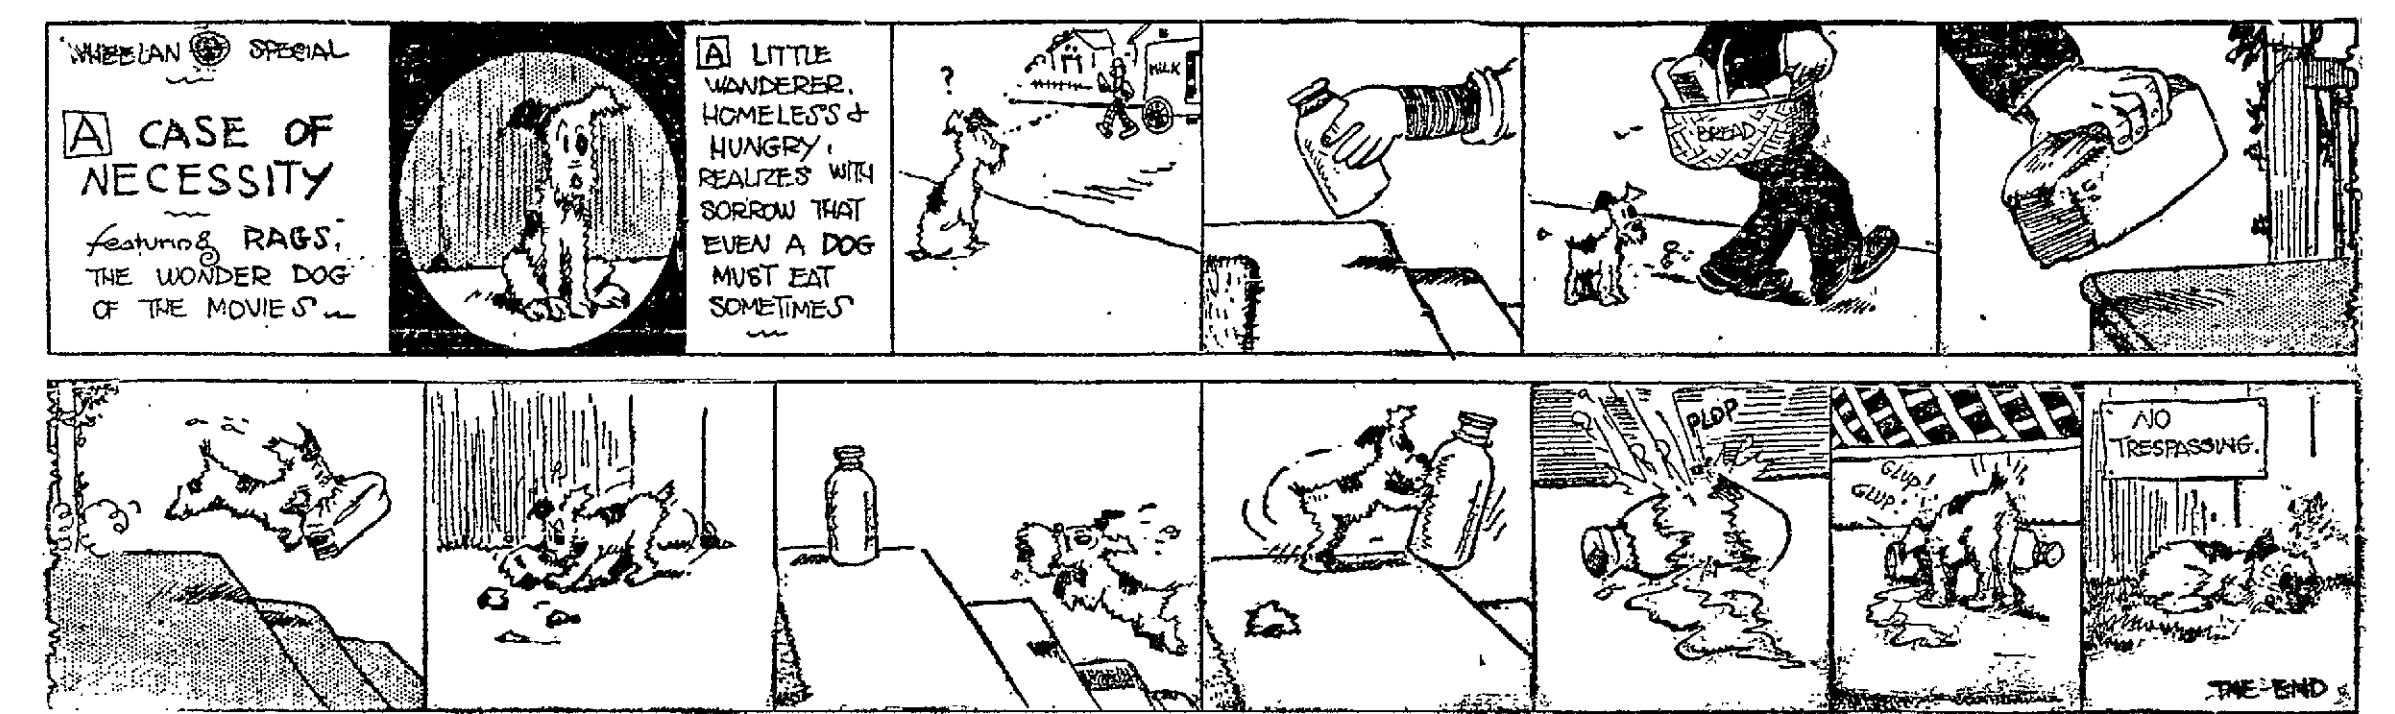

"Now show me that you can bake a better pie than this make-believe stone one I found," went on Uncle Wiggly. "Just remember what your mother showed you and taught you. What's the first thing to do when you bake a pie, Nannie?"

"First, I must see that I have a good, hot fire in the stove," spoke the little goat girl.

"Good! That's easy!" laughed the bunny. "That's number one. 'Oh, let me see!' Why, I must make up my mind what kind of a pie I am going to make, get the filling ready and then make the crust. And I must keep the Soon the pie was in the oven, baking.

"Oh, it's turning a lovely brown," bleated Nannie as she opened the oven door, letting out a most delicious smell.

"Never tell me again," laughed Uncle Wiggly, "that you can't bake a pie, Nannie!"

"No, I never will!" laughed Nannie.

"And never tell me that I can't catch a rabbit!" suddenly howled a most unpleasant voice, and into the kitchen burst the Skilley Scallery Alligator. He looked hungrily at Uncle Wiggly's ears and then the Alligator asked:

"What smells so good?"

"Pie, if you please," faintly spoke Nannie.

"Ah! First I'll eat a pie and then I'll nibble ears!" bellowed the Gator.

"Here you are! A pie all ready for you!" quickly cried Uncle

Wiggly. The bunny handed to the Gator the round, hard yellow stone.

"Oh, a pumpkin pie! Good!" cried the Gator, taking a large bite. But the next moment he cried: "Bad! Bad! Not good but bad! Oh, I've broken off a lot of my teeth and now I can't nibble ears! Oh, wow!"

And away he ran, lashing his tail.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wig-

gily. "It's a good thing I picked up that stone that looked like a pie."

"Yes," agreed Nannie. "And oh! My pie is burning!" she cried. But she opened the oven door just in time, and the pie was baked just brown enough, and when it was cool Nannie gave Uncle Wiggly a piece of it.

So everything ended happily. And if the ice pick doesn't take all the raisins out of the huckleberry pudding, and make it look like chocolate cake, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and Dottie's dress.

OAKLAND CLUB PRESENTS SEALS WITH A TWO GAME LEAD

MANAGERS OF CLUBS IN TRIBUNE LEAGUE ARE URGED TO SEND IN CONTRACTS AT ONCE

IT WILL NOT BE ANY FAULT OF OAKLAND IF SEALS LOSE PENNANT

By EDDIE MURPHY.

John McGraw and Miller Huggins are grabbing off a lot of glory for themselves in these days of the 1922 world series play, and their actions on the Polo Grounds are being watched by thousands of baseball fans each day. But as far as Oakland fans and the members of the Vernon ball club of the Pacific Coast League are concerned, neither McGraw nor Huggins have anything on Manager Ivan Howard of the Oaks. The leader of the Oaks is doing a real miracle man stunt in the present series which his athletes are playing with the Vernon Tigers. It was all doped out a few days ago that the Vernon Tigers were going to have a merry time at the expense of the Oaks, and that they would probably pass the San Francisco Seals in the race for the 1922 pennant. Ivan Howard made an appeal to his players to fight and play their best, for the honor of the boys was at stake.

Across the bay it was hinted that the Oaks might not break their necks to beat the Tigers this week, because the Oaks never had any love for the San Francisco Seals. But Ivan Howard and his athletes are not that type of men, and as they promised last week, they are making the Vernon Tigers fight for everything, and the hope to make the Seals do likewise next week. From outlook at the present time, the Oaks have practically beat the Tigers out of the pennant and made it possible for the Seals to win it. Ivan Howard's boys next week are not that type of men, and as they promised last week, they are making the Vernon Tigers fight for everything, and the hope to make the Seals do likewise next week. From outlook at the present time, the Oaks have practically beat the Tigers out of the pennant and made it possible for the Seals to win it.

Two Main Bouts For Fight Fans Next Wednesday

JIMMY DUNDEE and Joe Coffey will box the wind-up at next Wednesday's boxing show at the Auditorium. Jimmy Duffy and Chick Roach will appear in the other half of the main event. Roach has lost but one fight in his career and has won six straight in San Francisco. Following is the complete card:

With one out, Maderus was safe on French's hit. Mize hit to Zelder. Arlett got a single to left, and Brown was safe at first on French's high throw, and Mize scored from second.

Colwell, Howard Heroes of Regular Slugfest.

Everybody on the Oaks was a hero in the second game, but most of the credit for the win is shared by Pitcher Ira Colwell and Manager Ivan Howard. Colwell showed keen judgment in switching to French to bat for Mariott, as a pinch hitter when the Oaks staged a five-run rally in the fourth and overcame a 6 to 2 lead which the Tigers held. Mariott was going to bat for Krause, but Howard changed his mind when Mize got on base and Chavez went to bat for Bill and beat out a bunt that filled the bags and turned the whole ball game around. Cooper's second triple of the day, a double by Maderus, a walk to Mize and Chavez's bunt, started the finish. Jolly went in and after getting rid of Brown he let Brubaker nick him for a triple to put the last five runs over.

Krause pitched the first four innings and was touched for six runs and eleven hits. A smart play by Brubaker in which he fielded a roller and saw no chance to throw out Doyle at first, and made a bluff throw and then wheeled around and trapped French off third got Krause out of further trouble. Jones took the hit for the Oaks in the fifth and allowed the third to get a hit to fill the bags. It meant the winning run on base for the Tigers, so Colwell was called into action. Colwell made himself the big hero by fanning Zelder and Hawks and making Chadbourne roll an easy one to Chad to retire the side without a score. Colwell pitched great ball and the Tigers could not touch him until the ninth when they got three hits and two runs. The Oaks picked up three in the seventh and eighth for a few more runs.

Boxing Fans Still Talking About Scraps

McCann Is Stale and in Need of Rest; Russo An Old-Timer.

The boxing fans who attended the battles Wednesday night had plenty to talk about yesterday. The boys engaged in some of the scraps that gave rise to suspicions that everything was not exactly on the up and up, but a careful check of the various rumors leaves the same clean and unblemished as it always has been in this city.

The bouncing of Pelkey and Murphy meant nothing at all except the boys belong to the same crowd and hated to hurt each other. There was probably no pre-arranged plan of battle between the pair, but when they squared off they probably felt they could get by with some gymnasium stuff and collect the medals without suffering any damage. Even the customers in the back row of the gallery could see the open-glove work that the boys engaged in, and neither gladiator made any effort to hide his merriment over the doings. Their representatives called at headquarters yesterday afternoon and received their medals. The boys blushing Simpson said nothing as he turned over the well-known trophies, but you may notice that the offenders are not on the next card.

Frankie McCann came in for a fine panning in some quarters because of his poor showing against Billy Wallace. Some of the boys thought that McCann would score a K. O. figuring on the punch that felled Wallace in their second meeting. They overlooked the fact that Wallace ran into that one and they also overlooked the fact that McCann had been in need of a few punches off Joe Leopold's chin the following week and Joe claims he never even felt the blows.

Neither McCann nor his manager Frankie Fuller are attempting to explain the boy's fight with Wallace but a peek at the record of McCann might prove that he is stale and in need of a rest. He has been fighting at least once a week for several months and he has been fighting the tough ones. None of them, no matter how game or how sturdy can keep on taking them. The boys who are showing some life after a dozen scraps have been bouncing 'em off Frankie's chin and McCann probably went to the well once too often.

The Kramer-Reeves fight gave rise to another line of chatter. Because Kramer was an overwhelming favorite to win the suspicious ones opined that Reeves would hit low and lose on a foul. He was right. On a foul on three occasions but none of them were intentional blows. Reeves has the same style as Ortega and whams away at the body without taking very careful aim. He's got some life in the side, the men were notified that if an intentional foul ended the bout it would be declared a "No-Contest." If the fight was won on an accidental foul the man fouled would receive the decision.

This Jumping Jack Russo boy looks like a regular scrapper now that he has learned the four-round game. He's an old timer with a world of experience behind him including two draws with Willie Jackson. Mike Russo who boxes around these parts is his nephew.

Otto Wallace, a Milwaukee high schooler is in town in tow of Jim Cotton. Wallace held Jack Josephs to a draw at the Milwaukee, Oregon, stadium recently and came here hoping to get a bout with Duffy. According to T. Simpson there isn't a chance of much being made until Wallace has demonstrated that he is no Barney Adair. Barney, by the way lost a ten-round fight to Bobby Harper up north Wednesday night.

Kewpie Callender, who will box Joe Lynch at the local show next week, is said to have parted with Manager Benny Wagner, of Sacramento. Callender is said to be in line for the managerial job.

No Salaries Allowed In Tribune League

Complaint having been made by several managers of ball clubs entered in The TRIBUNE league that rival managers are offering salaries to players, it might be well for some clubs to again read Rule Fifteen, which expressly states that no salaries can be paid to any player in the league.

Those clubs that intend paying salaries can have their deposit money back immediately. It would be better for them to resign for the league now than be expelled later, as on first proof of violation of this rule the offending club will be expelled and the forfeit money turned into the league treasury.

The TRIBUNE league is for amateur players and the rules have been made for the benefit of the younger ball players. Every rule must be strictly lived up to under penalty of expulsion.

George Hans, president of The TRIBUNE league, returned home yesterday from the country and will probably call a meeting of the league directors the first part of the week. Several of the managers have mailed in signed contracts, and those managers who have not sent any in should get busy. The teams will be placed in each division according to their strength.

Many players who performed in The TRIBUNE league last season are bidding for jobs with some club this winter. "Bud" and Tony Zvara are trying to hook up with some club. Bud pitched for the Kohler and Chase club in the A league last season, and was rated as one of the best hurlers in his division. His brother plays the outfield.

Eddie Ryan, TRIBUNE league umpire last season, is the latest to apply for a job. Eddie has been umpiring all summer, and has done good work.

Tommy Lynch, who led the Popular Candy club to Bennettville in the American division of the A league last season, is with the Magnavox club. Tommy is assisting Jack Murphy in getting a good club together. The little leader expects to enjoy another good season.

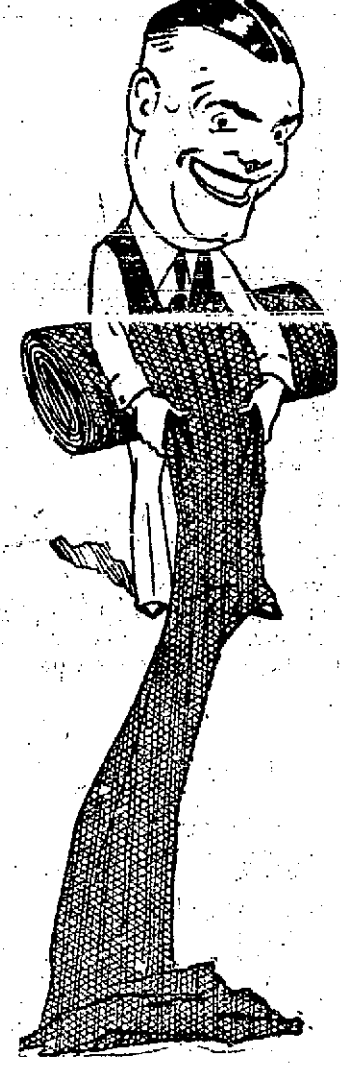

Next Sunday afternoon at the San Leandro ball orchard the C. L. Best Tractors and the Durant Motors will battle in the final game of their series. Both teams have won a game. In last week's game the Durants were a beaten ball club till the final inning when they scored five runs, and won the argument.

Otto Egenberger of the Del Monte cafe is a very happy leader. Otto has every member of his club signed to a contract, and has given out the news to his friends that his boys will cop the bunting in The TRIBUNE league. Last Monday night the players were Otto's guests at his eating palace.

CALIFORNIA ELEVEN WILL PLAY THE MARINES TOMORROW

STANFORD GRIDDERS FACE OPENING OF SEASON TOMORROW AFTERNOON AGAINST THE O. C.

BEARS PICK AN EASY CONTEST TOMORROW IN MEETING MARINES

Andy Smith Expected to Give Veterans Layoff While New Men Tackle U. S. M. C. Stanford Opens With O. C.

By DOUG. MONTELL.

While the U. S. Marines and California furnish the local football dish tomorrow for fans of the gridiron sport in these parts, interest is admittedly elsewhere. Two other favorites, Stanford and St. Mary's open their football schedules tomorrow afternoon and devotees of the game are far more enthused over the prospects of the Cardinal-Olympic Club clash at Stanford and the St. Mary's-Nevada brawl at Reno than they are over the Berkeley fracas. Someone should be told that the war is over, for while the Marines of 1917 were a drawing card second to none, the Marines of 1922 are not of Class A collegiate standard and competition will be few and far between tomorrow.

Coach Sommers, in charge of the Mare Island contingent, has undoubtedly done as well as could be expected with the material at hand but there are too many heads trying to "beat" the "beat" to give the positive directions, on his club, to insure anything like unity on the offensive. The Devil Dogs love to scrap and undoubtedly, man for man, will endeavor to give the Bruins a tough afternoon, but teamwork, unless developed by nothing short of a miracle in two weeks' time, will be lacking.

Several Stars

Andy Smith will not start a team of veteran stars against the Marines. The chances are that several of the regulars will keep Messers. Price and Rosenthal, assistant coaches, company at Stanford in viewing the opening performance of Andy Kerr's charges. "Brick" Muller and Don Nichols require a little rest and one or two other regular Bruins will probably be given a chance to take a day of rest while new men are given a thorough trial against the Marines. It will occasion little surprise if Muller and Huffer start at ends with Gallagher at center, the guards and tackles remaining the same for the development of teamwork in the line. Perry and Clark are performing up to standard and Witter and Beam are satisfactory at tackles.

Backfield Quartet

Beam has but one habit that is obvious, holding. California will suffer many a fifteen yard penalty during the season if the officials but keep an eye on the California backfield.

The backfield combination has not been announced but Evans at quarterback, Spaulding and Burgess at the two halfback positions and Mott at fullback would be a fair guess. Andy must needs develop a quarterback and no game on the schedule presents the opportunity to experiment as does the one Saturday.

On account of these probable changes in the lineup the Bears should not be looked to run a hare score and whether they can be expected to blank the Sea Soldiers if the fumbling, which has been averaging three out of ten all week, continues.

Tentative Line-ups

Probable lineups for tomorrow's game, with the numbers of the players follow:

California	Pos.	California	Pos.
Hubley (21)	L. T.	Beam (4)	R. T.
Smith (12)	L. G.	Clark (13)	R. G.
Wagner (10)	C.	Guthrie (28)	P.
Walter (24)	R. G.	Perry (31)	P.
Dorcheh (20)	R. T.	Witter (10)	P.
Lucke (18)	R. E.	Huffer (27)	P.
Descendort (27)	C.	Evans (22)	P.
Huffman (17)	L. H.	Spaulding (23)	P.
Woods (19)	R. E.	Burgess (14)	P.
Woods (19)	R. E.	Nabst (12)	P.

Coach Sommers reported early this morning that several of his regulars were far from being in shape and that the Marines would present a somewhat patched line-up tomorrow. Kellar and Stephenson, the regular tackles, are both reported to be on the injured list and Hubley and Dorcheh are expected to replace them. There is a possibility that Woods, star fullback, may be unable to play, in which case Chambers will fill in.

BEARS WANT GAMES.

The Crockett Bears, managed by Coach Crockett, are looking for games with teams of the age of 17 or under. Zepo can be reached at Box 267, Crockett.

Olympic Club Is Feared by Cardinal Team

Stanford Is Apprehensive About Outcome of Tomorrow's Game.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 6.—All Stanford is wondering what is going to happen when "Fighting Bob" Evans, whose Cardinal varsity of 1919 came within two steps and a jump of beating the Bears, runs up against the Warner system under Andy Kerr tomorrow. The Cardinals have more respect for Evans because his ability is known by personal contact than it has for a lot of other coaches and teams whose reputations outshine Evans' on English media.

Not many coaches would refuse a bonus for the outfit now playing under Evans. Rabbit Madshaw, who needs no more than a fair chance to score against any opposition, was a go getter for Nevada for three years. With Evans in front of him, he is enough to scare a better team than Andy Kerr possesses at present.

"OLD ORDER CHANGETH."

In proof of the timehonored adage, "The old order changeth," quite a mix-up is apparent since that 14-10 battle on Stanford field three years ago Evans, instead of sitting on the Stanford coaching bench, will direct the opposition for the other side of the field. Cort Majors, once of California and that historic game will be in the Olympic line. Dink Templeton, who scored first in the game three years ago and was responsible for a great part of the Stanford showing, will watch the game as track coach of the Cards, while Patrick, who bucked the line to what seemed a last-minute victory, will probably start at fullback for the Winged "O."

The Evans was Latham, skipper of last year's Bruin varsity, who will be at center, King, whose drop-kicking for the Navy beat the Army 6 to 0 in Oregon weather two years ago, and Daly, who has been with the Olympics several seasons. King and Daly will probably play at tackle, while Swan of Berkeley high school, Larson, end for Van Ghent's eleven last year, and Hauser from Ohio are in line for ends.

To predict the Cardinal line-up today is about as futile as guessing the name of the ruler of Mars. It is certain, of course, that De Groot and Cudebach will start, as will as Wilcox, but there are so many candidates for each position and so many of apparently equal ability, that Kerr will be in constant hot water trying to figure out the right combination. His will be the pleasure, however, of trying freshmen out all through the game, to the discomfort of Evans and his tired men.

HARTMANFET IS OUT. There is practically no chance for either Douglass or Hartmanfett to get into the game. Neither are in scrimmaging condition and neither knows enough of Kerr's game at the present time to justify their addition to the prospective lineup. As it stands now, Thatch Taylor will probably be used as a reserve for Cudebach at full back. Paul Murray, whose injured leg is still a little weak, may give way to Ras Doughty who showed up so well in recent scrimmages. Scorchy Campbell was back again at quarterback last night and may start against the club tomorrow.

There will be little activity around the Stadium tonight. A few signals, a run around the field, and continuation of skull practice will be about all of Kerr's program for days before heavy games.

Track Stars Will Gather in South. RIVERSIDE, Oct. 6.—More than 100 track and field athletes of the Pacific coast are expected to take part in the second annual track and field meet to be held here October 14 at the Southern California fair.

Ocean Grove, track coach at the University of Southern California, will have charge. Prizes will be awarded the winners of first, second and third places and will consist of gold, silver and bronze medals.

ILLINOIS ONLY BIG TEN TEAM NOT IN ACTION

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Pre-season practice in most of the football camps of the Big Ten ended today with light drills in preparation for the kick-off tomorrow.

With the exception of Illinois, all of the Western Conference eleven go into action tomorrow. None, however, meet other teams of the Big Ten.

There was a let-up of hard scrimmage in most camps last night, but the Illinois, Chicago and Iowa eleven were worked under full steam.

Ohio State, which travels Ohio Wesleyan at Columbus tomorrow, suffered a serious blow when Noel Workman, considered as probable quarterback selection, was declared ineligible for action.

The University of Georgia meets the University of Chicago here tomorrow. Northwestern concentrated on the forward pass in anticipation of an aerial attack by the Beloit eleven at Evanston.

Michigan hopes were raised when it was announced officially that Eddie Jones, veteran line man, was eligible for varsity service again at Ann Arbor tomorrow.

Coach Spaulding has had so much difficulty in perfecting Minnesota's forward wall that he had made no definite selections for the game with North Dakota.

The Badgers expect to dedicate the new Wisconsin stadium with Carleton as the first opponent of the season.

A short scrimmage was the order of the day for the Indiana Varsity. The Hoosiers will clash with De Pauw tomorrow.

The Purdue eleven plays James Milikin university of Decatur, Ill. Iowa meets Knox in the opener.

Piedmont Hi Plays Sensational Football

After being held to a 7-7 tie for three quarters, Piedmont high's football gridders played sensational football and ran up a score of 25 to 13 against Livermore yesterday afternoon on the Piedmont athletic field.

Piedmont was first to score. Pfister going across for a touchdown after receiving Eastwood's 30-yard pass. Hummel converted. Livermore took the ball over for Piedmont's second touchdown. Piedmont failed to convert. McGlinchy of Livermore pulled one of the best plays of the game, running Piedmont's kick-off back for a touchdown. At this point, Piedmont took the offensive. Pfister received a forward pass and ran 40 yards for a touchdown. Piedmont again failed to convert. Piedmont's last touchdown was the result of an intercepted pass by Stevens.

Pfister, Eastwood and Bekins starred for Piedmont, while McGlinchy and Steiger went well for Livermore.

Stanford Soccer Men Turning Out

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 6.—Coach Harry Maloney's varsity soccer men turned out for the first practice of the season yesterday in preparation for their game Saturday with Italia Virtus. About twenty-five candidates took the field for light work. The appearance of the greater part of last year's team is thought to offset the shortness of the practice period before the first game.

The contest this week will start the University and Club Soccer league, in which Stanford is scheduled for seven games. They are as follows:

October 1—Italia Virtus.
October 14—Sons of St. George.
October 21—Vikings.
October 28—Barbarians.
November 4—Olympic club.
November 11—American Legion.
November 18—California.

Kansas Meets Army in East Tomorrow

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 6.—Army is nearly ready for its first big game of the season, that with University of Kansas, which is to be played here tomorrow. A combination of summer-like temperature has hampered the development of the cadets, the weather for a fortnight having been too hot for hard work.

Army expects a hard battle with Kansas. The cadets will be without the use of several of their best men.

Harvard May Make Polo Regular Sport

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—After a weary journey of thirteen days from Fort Keogh, Mont., twenty-one Montana ponies, including several three-quarter thoroughbreds, arrived yesterday in Cambridge to be available for the Harvard R. O. T. C. unit this year. Major Robert C. F. Goetz, in charge of the unit, said he was hopeful that the game may be introduced in an intercollegiate way at Cambridge during this college year.

Instruction in polo will be made a part of the course in equestrian sports similar to those on Soldiers Field were used by college poloists at Yale, Princeton and Cornell last year, and it is likely that if Harvard can secure a suitable place in which to play the game will become an intercollegiate activity across the Charles.

FLUKE SCORE PRIZE "BONER" IN GRID GAME

As recounted by "Ship" Madigan, coach of St. Mary's college, the touchdown scored by the Agnetian club against Nevada was "one for the book."

It appears that Nevada had the ball on the Agnetian five-yard line when a forward pass was called. As the Nevada man went to throw, the umpire's horn sounded and the Sagehen back, thinking play had stopped, tossed the ball in the general direction of the referee. It landed ker-plunk in the arms of an Agnetian lineman who was standing flatfooted near the referee.

When Nevada protested the touchdown on the grounds that the umpire had sounded his horn, Bahan, former St. Mary's star, who was playing quarterback, sneaked up behind his teammate and whispered "Run, you fool, run." And the Agnetian ran, reeling off 95 yards without opposition.

When Nevada protested the touchdown on the grounds that the umpire had sounded his horn, Bahan inquired what the penalty was for and when told it was "Nevada offside," promptly waived the penalty and took the gain, which was a touchdown.

STANFORD BABE TEAM TAKES ON FIRST CONTEST

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 6.—"Husky" Hunt will pit two freshmen teams against invading high schools tomorrow, when Oakland High comes to Stanford Stadium tomorrow morning and Long Beach meets the first string of the Card babies on the same field in the afternoon as an opener for the varsity battle with the Olympic club.

Howard Mitchell, captain of the Berkeley champs last year, registered here this week and was out for practice last night. He had practically been given up as a possibility. Hunt looks happier than he has for days at the coming of his old star.

Oakland High, although only in its second year of American football, is strengthened by the return of most of last year's squad. The team has already defeated Stockton 21 to 12.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Bud Wolford, tackle of the University of Southern California freshmen football team and former San Diego High School player, suffered a broken nose in the scrimmage against the Varsity.

McGRAW CLAIMS STENGELS INJURY COST GIANTS GAME

JUDGE LANDIS EXPERIENCES A NEW SENSATION WHEN DISAPPOINTED FANS SURROUND HIM

TOUGH LUCK BECAUSE NOBODY WAS ON BASE AS WARD HIT HOMER

That Is What Babe Ruth Has to Say About Second Game of Series; Gameness of Shawkey Got Yanks an Even Break.

By BABE RUTH.
(Copyright, 1922, by The Christy Walsh Syndicate.)
POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—"Tough luck, nothing."

"It gives us something to shoot at." That's what Bob Shawkey snapped back when one of the boys on the Yankee bench tried to cheer him up after Irish Meusel's home run had sent the Giants away to a heart-breaking three-run lead in the first inning.

And that's the spirit that permitted him to blank the Giants for the nine innings that followed.

From the clubhouse, immediately after the game, we could hear the fans roaring and booing a mighty protest because the umpire stopped the game. Take it from me, the Yanks were anxious to see it through. And I have sufficient respect for the Giants to feel that they couldn't have been particularly pleased to call it a day with a tough game like that standing fifty-fifty.

As ball players have nothing to say in such matters, I will be satisfied to make one remark in passing. It looks to me like Thursday's game ushered the Yankees around the difficult corner and from now on I think we'll be at home on Victory street. If any one asks me on what grounds the Yankees have to feel cheery when they haven't won a game, I'll call his attention to the fact that the Giants, after using every trick in John McGraw's thirty-year repertoire of magic have only been able to cross the home plate in two innings out of nineteen frames of world's series baseball.

There was just one difference between the Yanks and Giants on Thursday. Irish Meusel hit a home run and was lucky enough to have two runners on the bases. How about Ward of the Yanks? He hit one clear over the fence harder and higher and further than Meusel's drive. But the bases were empty.

What a difference there would have been if a fluke hit or misplay had put a runner on base when Ward connected! From now I think we'll supply the difference.

RUTH IS GREAT BOOSTER FOR BOB SHAWKEY.

The fans were boiling over with partisanship. Out there in the right field bleachers Giant fans were razzing Yankee rooters. They wanted a decision and the longer it went the harder they pleaded for one team or the other to finish the job. No doubt a lot went home disappointed, but one thing is certain, they can't expect to see a better game in this world's series, no matter who would win it.

And in no world series will they see a finer show of confidence and uphill fighting than Bob Shawkey showed after spotting the Giants to a big lead in the opening round. When Bob came in to the bench after Meusel's home run his face was as red as his flaming flannel underwear. He was scarlet with a fighting flush and was simply coughing threats at any one who showed the slightest signs of weakening. No one weakened.

As the sun got warmer and the Yankees slowly but surely closed the gap, Shawkey himself grew stronger, and the whole club played behind him as though the game boy in the red shirt would lose his life if he lost the game. When we stumbled into the toughest kind of a game in the world's series, the Yankees were not the only team when some one remarked that Meusel's home run was (tough).

The Yankee runs came slow but we were patient and finally made the grade. Bob Meusel swung his powerful California war club right in the face of a nice one and chased me across the plate with the run that may mean complete reversal for the Giants.

World's Series Highlights

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—All the incredulities of an old-time carnival day were distributed about the Polo Grounds yesterday for the second game of the world's series but the crowd departed leaving them unmixed. The stage was set for a panorama as fascinating as any human as a gladiatorial combat in a Roman coliseum, but the curtain never went up.

The crowd remained strangely apathetic and generally asleep until the last two innings. Veteran spectators who travel across the continent more to whiff the smoke of battle than to see a pitching duel pronounced it one of the most uneventful and unexciting of the series. The crowd remained strangely apathetic and generally asleep until the last two innings. Veteran spectators who travel across the continent more to whiff the smoke of battle than to see a pitching duel pronounced it one of the most uneventful and unexciting of the series.

So base were those in the rear section that when the ninth inning ended at a time approximating their customary hour to get ready to eat, that thousands left their seats, moved toward the exits and hundreds left the arena to avoid the jam of getting a seat on a subway or elevated train. And this despite the fact that the score was a tie 3 to 3, and every player was on his toes and beginning to look nasty at the umpires.

The bombardment of anguished appeals directed at Commissioner Landis was a thing apart. A few hoodlums started it and a few hoodlums others gave it headline possibilities through their curiosity to see what the commotion was about. Only a few knew where the commissioner sat and many of those who struggled and fought through the emptying stands to the scene of excitement went home without finding out.

The official time of the game was two hours and forty-one minutes, monotonously slow for a big league game and incredibly slow for a world's series contest. The spectators may have taken their gloom from the players which went through the game as engaged in a very serious business and pleasure could come afterwards.

They talked some and shouted encouragement to their pitchers, but they lacked the vivid sharp that makes the crowd see red.

The official weather recorder lifted his nose from a sheaf of dusty records and said it was the coldest yet in New York's history. The air was dry and close, and Old Sol tried to mix a little muddle in his cannonball rays. When it ended every body wanted to get up from the seats, squirmed and opened their mouth with that discomfiting expression of "stuck-iness."

To get a head in the early innings, a player almost had to move heaven and earth. When Frisch made his awesome catch of the ball, the crowd, in the second, the spectators loosened up. But they soon closed as quickly and as securely as the station gates when a fellow's running to catch a train.

It was a situation where the players had to encourage the crowd to get into the game and enjoy it, not the crowd urging the players to get in and play.

The Old Father, Babe Ruth, was floated over his slow but sure, missed the plate the fans protested. They demanded that Ruth be given a chance to strike out.

Ward received a greater outpouring for his home run than Meusel did.

BARKER TOO MUCH.

Tommy Hammett, right hand catcher for the Hayward Easterns, shut out the fast Baithe Natives without a hit, only one run being scored off him, due to a couple of boos from the bench. The fast batter had fine support from his pitcher, who pitched up five runs.

Judge Landis Is Besieged By Angry Fans

New York Rooters Swarm on Field As Game Is Called; Commissioner Threatened.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—The Yankees and the Giants fought furiously but to no avail yesterday in the second game of the world series. They had the score tied at three runs each at the end of the tenth inning, when the umpires, seeing the approach of twilight, called an armistice. When hostilities break out anew today the teams will be in the same position as before yesterday's game, the Giants having one victory and the Yanks none.

Tens of hundreds of the 37,000 spectators paid to see the thrilling encounter were angered when the umpires ruled it was a no-decision bout. They had come to see a knockout, and as they swarmed over the field they screamed their disgust to the high heavens and to every person they encountered who was of importance in baseball affairs.

They told Manager McGraw of the Giants they wouldn't come back to his old Polo Grounds again for anything in the world. They hurled mean words upon the umpires, saying that anybody with good eyes could see it was still light enough to keep on playing. The commissioner ruled that where Baseball Commissioner Landis sat with Mrs. Landis.

The leading actors in the crowd harked questions and comments at the commissioner, and the chorus behind them boomed with vigor. To hear them, it seemed they wanted to know what kind of an umpire the commissioner thought the Giants and Yankee clubs could get away with. Unmoved, Mr. Landis put on his old black hat over his flowing white locks and started to clear the field to return to his hotel. The crowd surrounded him, hurling taunts and insults. A dozen special policemen rushed in to clear the way for him, and the commissioner sought to wave them away, saying he could get through any New York crowd.

Mr. Landis, too, seemed disturbed. The howling hundreds dogged their footsteps until Mr. and Mrs. Landis had reached the Polo Grounds. The commissioner walked unharmed to his automobile, refusing protection.

Pete the Brewer Wins Transylvania

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 6.—The thirty-fourth renewal of the Transylvania was won yesterday by Peter the Brewer. The big son of Peter the Great in winning the event equalled the record of 1903. The stake set by Peter Manning in 1920 He was clearly the best and responded readily to the call of his driver, Nat Ray, when he was asked for the supreme effort in the stretch.

UNDER THE GOAL POSTS

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 6.—Iowa's varsity closed its pre-season practice yesterday afternoon in a short but spirited scrimmage against the seconds, scoring one touchdown in less than ten minutes of play. Barkin, first string quarterback, was cheered by the rail birds when he started the scrimmage. His return indicated that he is physically fit once more.

Coach Jones will put his men through a short signal drill today that session tapering off the week of practice for the western conference champions who meet Knox College in the opening game of the season here Saturday.

With the exception of Meade, guard, who nursing his right hand, the varsity is in fine condition.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The University of Chicago football squad emerged from a secret practice yesterday with the announcement that two star players will be out of the game with Georgia here Saturday.

Captain Edward Lewis, tackle, is ill and Otto Strohmer, end, will be unable to play because of injuries. McClasters, a last year's sub, will probably fill the quarter berth about which there has been considerable speculation.

MADISON Wis., Oct. 6.—Signal drill was the order of the day today.

All's Fair in Love and Football; Star Player Victim of Kidnapers

From Colorado Springs comes a unique tale of a recent happening to a football player en route to college. The Colorado Aggies are said to have kidnapped a player scheduled to play with Colorado college. In commenting on it the college paper remarks: "Some colleges hire their football players."

"Some colleges employ 'em' by the year and gives 'em jobs winding the college clock and selling cheaper seats or some other easy and lucrative occupation which is not advisable to kidnap 'em—and there's no line drawn as to the method of kidnapping or no ques-

Grit Played Big Part in Second Game

McGraw Gives Shawkey Credit For Performance; Both Teams Had Fight.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Battle spirit the like of which was displayed in yesterday's tied world series game between the Giants and Yanks, is what keeps baseball at the top of national sports, in the belief of McGraw and Figgins, the rival managers.

"It was battle spirit," said McGraw, "that caused Bob Shawkey to grit his teeth and pitch great baseball after that first inning. When my boys scored three times, it was the same sort of spirit that led Frankie Frisch in front of a number of hard hit balls that our boys would have gone for."

"Jesse Barnes was working wonderfully. He had a great variety of curves and slow balls. He's a top notch pitcher. He's got the fighting spirit in him, too. Only two of the Yanks' three runs were earned off him. I am sure that Frisch's work on the defensive was the outstanding supporting feature, and nipped what might have been a 'Yank rally'."

"Some of the spirit of determination that carried us to the pennant brought us through to a tie today," said Higgins. "In Shawkey's pitching after the first inning, the work of his supporters could not have some of the doggedness that helped us to defeat the Browns in that last series in St. Louis. I saw, also, the determined attitude of my men as they went to the plate. There wasn't any need, hardly, to tell them what to do. They knew they had to hit, and that they had to make every hit count. Barnes was an enigma. He mixed his offerings, a change, as McGraw would have done. The Yanks were picking the good ones, however, and I'll vow that but for the uncanny stops made by Frisch we would have defeated him."

Chicago Cubs Even White Sox Series

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The Chicago Nationals evened up the series for the city championship with their American League rivals yesterday by winning 10 to 3. It was the first game the Nationals had won since 1915, the junior organization having won 13 straight games. The Eddie Muligan, hero of Wednesday's game, had an even better day in the White Sox defense cracked after the clubs had battled on even terms, the American League coming from behind and tying the game. Muligan's slips the Cubs drove Ted Blankenship from the box in the seventh inning, after which Manager Gleason tried out a couple of his young pitchers. Osborne was hit hard in only two innings and pitched great ball in the other three.

Johnny Ivers, former manager of the Chicago Nationals, who has been acting as assistant to Manager Gleason, replaced Muligan at third base, was given a big hand by the crowd but he had nothing to do. He was a former member of the White Sox, was the batting star of the Cubs, with four hits and a walk in five times up. Tomorrow will be an open date and the scene of hostilities will shift to the White Sox park Saturday.

Inter-Collegiate Polo Is Arranged

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Oct. 6.—Arrangements for a polo tournament between the Stanford R. O. T. C. unit and the units at Oregon Agricultural College and Oregon Agricultural College, to be played on the Stanford field just before Thanksgiving may be completed early next week, according to advice from Major Collins, commander of the unit here.

Workman Is Star With Ohio State

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 7.—Four squads are reporting daily at Ohio State. Peteoff and Young are expected to make a strong bid for the tackle position. Workman, who probably be the sensation of the conference for he can run, kick and pass. The new stadium seating 60,000 people will be dedicated this fall.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Ed Pickett, star guard of the Whittier College football team last season and who was to have played with the poets this year, is transferred to the University of Illinois.

Pickett was one of the best players on last year's eleven which won the southern California conference.

"Al Brown started for his father's ranch preparatory to entering college. Midway on his route he was overtaken and the occupants asked him to hop in for a ride.

"Al hopped—and he hasn't been seen since information concerning his whereabouts is lacking and certainly isn't very definite. But men who claim to be in on the know are telling about a wonderful new tackle who has suddenly appeared in Aggie's and will be a sure bet with this year's yearling aggregation."

And, judging from the description that goes out over the state, the new freshman tackle bears a wonderful resemblance to Al Brown, erstwhile Terror star and great thing. And it isn't the uneducated masses to judge the strange and devious ways of those who are educated to football and education.

Circuit Clouter

This is AARON WARD, second baseman of the New York Yankees. He hit a homer in the fourth inning of yesterday's game and that wallop had a lot to do with Yankees showing the old fight and overcoming the three-run lead which the Giants piled up in the first inning.

Changes Made By the Santa Clara Coach

Vowell Gets Credit For Blocking Punts of Nisbit Saturday.

SANTA CLARA UNIVERSITY, Oct. 6.—Coach Buckingham, Santa Clara coach, is applying remedial measures to the defects which he detected in the game with the Bruins last Saturday. As a result the Varsity is in for some strenuous work with the dummies in an effort to teach them that the Adam's apple is not the proper place to tackle a man. Buck will also devote no little time to the art of inference, for it was in this department of the game that the Missionites showed themselves.

Nolan's injury still keeps him from donning a suit and in the meantime, "Hook" Miller has been holding down the center job. Buckingham has also made a change in line lineup and it is more than likely that one of the Schvells will be seen on the line and that Rlanda or Bedolla will start the next game as a regular back.

Rlanda did not show well last Saturday as he was a marked man, but this can also be attributed to the fact that there was no interference given him and when he got the ball he was snaggled in his tracks.

Logan sustained an injury to the groin Tuesday night and will be in the infirmary for a couple of days. Johnny will be out before the end of the week.

If no wiggles, that contrary to other reports that Vowell is the gent who blocked Nisbit's punts, that Logan picked the ball up and raced over the line in Saturday's game. Vowell was given credit for his work in blocking the kick and it looked for the moment that Logan was the hero who stopped the punts.

The squad will journey to Stanford tomorrow to get a line on the Bruins when they meet the Olympic clubmen.

St. Paul Evens Up Baltimore Series

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 6.—Mainly because of wonderful pitching by Ruben Benton, former big league southpaw, the St. Paul club evens up the series with Baltimore by capturing the second game yesterday afternoon, 1 to 1. Benton held the hard-hitting International league crew to 3 hits, and after a 3-0 lead, he drove in the winning run in the second inning with a short single to right, was never in danger. Only 31 men faced the St. Paul lefthander. He showed a sharp breaking curve, and his control was almost perfect.

Opposed to Benton was Lefty Groves, who fanned 12 players of the New York Giants in an exhibition game last week. Groves fanned 9 of the Saints today, but was wild, and his bases on balls and two errors back of him were responsible for both of St. Paul's runs.

Jimmy Sacco Boxes G. Lavigne Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 6.—Jimmy Sacco, Boston lightweight, will meet George Lavigne, Los Angeles 140-pounder, in the first half of a double main event at the Hollywood American Legion at Stadium tonight. They will meet at catchweights. George Washington Lee, Chinese bantamweight of Sacramento, will box Teddy Silva of Puento, Calif. In the second half, Sailor Ashmore of the U. S. S. Wyoming will meet Dunn, Oakland 140 pounder, in a feature preliminary. Ray Lee, brother of George, will make his first local appearance against Pete Herman, Los Angeles 120-pounder.

Logan sustained an injury to the groin Tuesday night and will be in the infirmary for a couple of days. Johnny will be out before the end of the week.

SHAWKEY SHOWED HE IS A GAME CHUCKER, SAYS GIANT LEADER

McGraw Thinks That Charley Horse Sprung By Stengel Cost His Boys a Second Win; Laughs at the Wise Boys.

By JOHN J. McGRAW
(Copyright, 1922, The Christy Walsh Syndicate.)

POLO GROUNDS, Oct. 6.—There was never a more bitterly played contest in a world series than the tie game yesterday. It was a splendid battle between Bob Shawkey and Jess Barnes, in which the honors were evenly divided as regards base hits.

Shawkey was simply grand in his display of gameness for he was obliged to go on eight innings with the handicap of a lead against him. He showed excellent judgment as well as pluck. Barnes, too, did great work. Ruth crossed him in the eighth inning by cutting at an outshoot instead of swinging, and Babe got a double to left. That was the direct result of the Yanks tying us up.

I was as much surprised as anyone on the Polo Grounds when Umpire Hildebrand called the game on account of darkness at the end of the tenth inning. I regret, too, that so many of the patrons seemed to resent Hildebrand's decision. It has always been the course of my club to cater to our patrons in every way we possibly can, without regards to the outcome.

(Copyright, 1922, The Christy Walsh Syndicate.)

I would have much preferred to have the game continued and my players to a man were anxious to play on to a definite result. I can see Snyder now as he caught Bob Meusel's foul in the tenth inning putting out the Yante side, looking around at Hildebrand in dumfounded amazement at the announcement.

Of course every one of the close to 40,000 spectators, who witnessed the struggle, was, like myself, simply paralyzed when Stengel failed to try for third in the second inning when Snyder, who followed Casey at the bat, made a perfect hitting play by planting a single to right, on the hit and run signal. He could have anchored on the bag in a walk around.

Stengel's Charley Horse Cost Giants Game.

It seems that the Charley Horse he sprung last week returned to the stable as Stengel beat out a homer to Scott. Now Casey if he felt that he was incapacitated physically in any way, should have immediately told Dolan, who was coaching at first and I would have taken him out at once. A world series is no place for a crippled player.

The fact that Stengel did not go to third cost the Giants the game for there would have been none out at the time. If Stengel had reached third there would have been no necessity for extra innings.

That was what I consider one of the breaks against us. I am not giving this as an excuse for an alibi, far from it. I just mention it as an incident of baseball. It was costly but I am not the least bit worried over the ultimate outcome of the series. The right of the game was ours. That was the first game. That was the game the Giants would win out. I still have that idea. Although I regret we were not enabled to play the game to a finish, still I think that makes the Giant outlook more promising. We have won one game while the Yankees have yet to win their first victory. The first game to any team's credit in a short series, the best in seven, is a great big advantage.

I consider that we have the edge on our opponents as the situation now stands. My pitching staff, that was so belittled by certain people whose wish was father to the thought, no longer has to feel the truth of the feeling that we have to feel safe, and so do my boys. Perfectly so.

BUY YOUR STAMPS IN OAKLAND IS ROSBOROUGH CRY

Postmaster Sees New Federal Building Here if Million Mark Is Reached.

"Buy Your Stamps in Oakland!" This is the slogan selected by Postmaster Joseph J. Rosborough for a drive to increase the income of the local post office to a total of $1,000,000 for the calendar year ending December 31.

The object of the drive for additional revenue is to put Oakland in a class where a demand can be made for better facilities, according to the postmaster, who plans to demand forthwith a new Federal building which has been contemplated by the government for some time.

"I can show the department that the Oakland postoffice receipts for the calendar year of 1922 reached $1,000,000," said Rosborough. "I will be in a position to ask for a great many improvements here, chief of which will be a new Federal building."

"The present rate of increase continues, it will bring the income of the Oakland postoffice for 1923 up to $950,750, just $25,250 short of the million dollar mark."

"Everyone who is interested in the growth of this community should assist in this campaign to put Oakland in a high postoffice class. I am seeking the co-operation of clubs, civic organizations and business firms."

"There is a big leak in the post-office business in this city. We have enough people and enough business firms here to make the income of the Oakland postoffice $2,000,000 a year if the people who do business here would buy their stamps here instead of in San Francisco. We must all get together on this drive and put it over, as Oakland can do it."

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Burying their heads in blankets the two children of Mrs. Melaine Wild, 23, saved themselves from asphyxiation when their mother turned on the gas in an attempt to kill herself and her babies last night.

Mrs. Wild was found unconscious. The children, Martha, 15, and Julius, 3, were but slightly affected. Mrs. Wild said she longed for her home in Switzerland and was despondent because she could not find an apartment at a reasonable rent.

Eye Affliction Ends Ministry 33 Years Long

REV. ISAAC DAWSON, for the past four years rector of the Church of the Advent, who has retired because of impaired health.

After an active ministry of thirty-three years, the last four of which have been passed as rector of the Church of the Advent (Episcopal), Rev. Isaac Dawson has tendered his resignation to the church and is retiring from active duties to recuperate from an affliction which is threatening his vision.

Rev. Dawson has been under the care of specialists for the last few months, the last two months being spent in the Santa Cruz mountains on a vacation on the advice of his physicians. Failing to find relief, the physicians in charge have ordered a complete rest for six months. Rev. Dawson, with his family, will continue to make his home at 2437 Tenth avenue.

The entire time of Rev. Dawson's 33 years of ministry has been spent in the west, the last 21 years in California.

Good Work Done By Street Department

ALAMEDA, Oct. 6.—Efficient work of the Alameda street department during the last four years is cited in a report submitted today by Burnett Hamilton, city engineer, to C. E. Hickok, city manager. Records show that the percentage of streets placed in good condition since 1918 has been practically tripled. Sixty-five per cent of all streets in the city are in excellent condition today as compared to 23 per cent in 1918.

ENGINEERS TELL GREAT FUTURE OF POWER IN STATE

World Looks to California For Development, Says Philadelphian.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Hydro-electric power, its future possibilities in this state, and its relation to the welfare of mankind, was the subject of discussion at the concluding sessions of the fall meeting of the American Society of Civil Engineers, which officially closed here today.

That the rest of the world is looking to California for leadership in the hydro-electric field, was the assertion of Richard L. Humphreys, chief engineer of Philadelphia, one of the principal speakers.

Humphreys and other speakers, including City Engineer M. M. O'Shaughnessy of San Francisco, expressed disapproval of the proposed California water and power act, and its provision for a bond issue of $500,000,000, as a means of developing the resources of the state. They declared the belief that the policy should be confined to developing the power through private initiative and co-operation.

BIG GAIN PREDICTED. Quadrupling, within the next four years, of the 1,000,000 horsepower of hydro-electric energy now being obtained from the rivers of this state each year, was predicted by several speakers.

Power is furnished in California about 40 per cent cheaper than in New York, City Engineer O'Shaughnessy told the assembled engineers. Hydro-electric energy has changed the living conditions of millions of people and forms an important part of the foundation of our present civilization, according to statements made by Professor Charles D. Marx, head of the Civil Engineering Department of Stanford University.

"In California at least 1,500,000 acres are under irrigation by water electrically pumped, and 85 per cent of the dwellings are lighted by electricity," Professor Marx said.

"Tales of the South Sea Islands sometimes lead people to think that our happiness is in direct proportion to our ignorance of the powers of nature, but these views are usually held by those who are benefiting most by what the engineer has done in unlocking the stores of energy and making them the servants of men."

Humphreys, referring to the proposed water and power act, said: "I am not a believer in government ownership of such utilities. The country's resources have been in the main developed by individual initiative, and it is better so."

Week of Oct. 9 Is Named Time To Better Homes

Governor William D. Stephens today set aside the week starting October 9 for the observance of "Better Home Week" and issued a statement urging that the citizens of the entire state make this period one of improvement of their homes.

Governor Stephens' statement to the public is as follows:

I have been requested by the sponsors of the movement for the observance throughout the United States of better home week, October 9 to 14, to co-operate to the end that California, a state famous for its beautiful homes and standard of home life, may join in the observance of this most praiseworthy movement. I am in hearty sympathy with the efforts to improve the home surroundings and, therefore, urge upon the citizens of California the making of October 9 to 14 the period for the improvement of their homes by studying the art of making home more attractive and the general rehabilitation and improvement of the home and its environment.

For general progress and prosperity that such conditions should continue. Every opportunity should be given to the individual man to contribute the best that is in him to all lines of development of the state. Better results are obtained. If their enterprises grow too big, they can be regulated by proper legislation."

Looks With Favor On All Attorneys

Mrs. Eva E. Perkins, a prospective juror in the trial of Thomas J. Walsh and John Durney, charged with grand larceny, admitted today while being examined by Attorney Elaine Elwell, representing the defendants, that she was prejudiced in favor of all attorneys.

In reply to a question by Elwell as to whether the personality of the attorneys in the case would influence her verdict she replied "no."

Superior Judge Church interrupted the examination with the remark: "Inasmuch as Attorney Robert L. Gaylord, of San Francisco, is your son, you are either prejudiced for or against all attorneys, are you not?"

To which Mrs. Perkins replied with a laugh: "My son is a good attorney and a good son, your Honor, and I am afraid that I look with favor on the entire profession."

VOLLMER URGES LONG TERMS FOR AUTO SPEEDERS

Berkeley Death Toll of Forty in Year Cited By Chief of Police.

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—Six months to one year in jail, or permanent revocation of licenses for speeders, was advocated by Chief of Police August Vollmer before the city council today.

"Speeding is the most serious police problem of today," declared Vollmer. "Automobile accidents claimed forty victims in Berkeley last year while 1400 others were maimed. If forty persons had been killed during that time by bandits the whole city would be up in arms. But the public does not realize the great toll of lives lost through speeding or careless driving of automobiles."

"The only way to cut down this ever increasing menace is more severe penalties for traffic law violators. Fines, temporary loss of licenses or short jail sentences have failed to curb those persons, who, thoughtless as to possible consequences, drive in a reckless manner through our city streets."

The declarations by Chief Vollmer were called forth when C. D. Evans, heading a delegation of South Berkeley business men, asked the council to designate Adelene street as a one-way thoroughfare. In support of this request the recent accident in which Dorothy Squires, daughter of the city assessor, was injured, was cited by Evans. The council took steps to grant the request.

The parking question was again the subject of debate before the council. Earl Sinclair, representing the Berkeley Downtown Business Men's Association, asked the council not to take any action regarding parking on Shattuck avenue until his organization presented a report on the situation now being prepared by a committee.

In this connection, Chief Vollmer declared his belief that parallel parking was the only remedy for congested traffic conditions, but suggested that all the civic organizations should get together and decide the issue.

Bank Employees Fail to Identify Suspect

Two employees of the Central National Bank today failed to identify William Friel as the automobile bandit who robbed them of $12,000 last May.

Frank Thompson, who is employed in the bank as a special officer, after seeing Friel, told Acting Captain of Inspector Richard McSweeney that the prisoner resembled the bandit. He also stated that he was unwilling to swear out a warrant or to say on the witness stand that he was the bandit.

Ernest Lamp, the bank messenger told the police that he was not sure Friel was the bandit. The two employees were taking the money to the branch bank when they were held up at Thirty-sixth street and Telegraph avenue by six men who were in an automobile. The man will be released. He was arrested in San Francisco Wednesday.

Shattuck Avenue Widening Ordered

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—The city council in session today ordered the widening of Shattuck avenue on the east side between San Francisco and Dwight way. Seven feet will be taken off the sidewalk in this area.

SENIORS PLAN TO TELL OF APPRECIATION

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—Tentative plans for a resolution of appreciation to be given to President David P. Barrows were formulated by the senior men students of the university last night. The resolution will be in the form of a petition signed by the class which came on to the campus with President Barrows and will leave the university at the same time. After the signatures of the seniors are affixed to the petition the remainder of the student body will be given a chance to sign also. Complete plans will be made today in a meeting of the entire senior class, at which time the form of the resolution will be definitely decided.

ARTHUR CASTOR GRILLED ON STAND BY ATTY. MURPHY

Witness Confused, But Sticks to Story Regarding Killing of Mrs. Wilkens.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6.—Fortified by the confession of Arthur Castor, witness against Henry Wilkens, charged with complicity in the murder of his wife, Anna, May 30, together with a copy of the testimony in the preliminary court hearing, Attorney Frank Murphy returned to his assault on the prosecution's testimony today. He led Castor into several sandy places, and while the witness stood by his story, he nevertheless became confused and unable to gain his footing in connection with minute details.

Castor was being interrogated regarding the long wait at Fulton, Santa Cruz county, where the family was sojourning. This occurred prior to Castor and his brother Walter trailing the Wilkens machine to San Francisco, where it is claimed that Walter, by prearrangement with Wilkens, killed Wilkens' wife in a taxi holdup.

Castor became confused in his explanation of a police department diagram of Fulton, Assistant District Attorney Golden went to his aid. "Let's be fair," he said.

"I'm fair alright; don't start harping about fairness," was Murphy's retort. Murphy stood directly in front of Golden a moment later and the latter protested.

"You can see through me, can you?" Murphy ventured.

"I can see through you alright, but not physically," rejoined Golden.

Money For Comfort Station Plan O. K.'d

The city council this morning passed to print an ordinance appropriating $668.60 to pay for drawings and a survey for the proposed municipal comfort station. The drawings were made during the spring but construction on the station was never started.

The council also gave final passage to the ordinance appropriating $3200 for the purchase of a tract on Atlantic street for the proposed new West Oakland playgrounds.

Then Murphy, referring to the original confession of the witness, established that in it he had declared he did not arrive at Fulton until 1 o'clock. A bit confused, Castor said he was only guessing at the time as he had no watch along.

Castor was questioned at length regarding the pursuit of the Wilkens car and the actual shooting, and then was interrogated concerning the happenings of the next day. He emphasized that his brother, Walter, had said to him: "Take me to Wilkens' shop. I think that neither him nor I will not come out alive, but I'm going after him."

Student From Lodi Editor of "Pelican"

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—J. J. Lyons, senior student registered from Lodi, was today appointed by the English Club to assume the editorship of "Pelican," university comic monthly. Lyons will serve the remainder of the semester, filling the place left vacant by D. J. Gillies, who was unable to be on the campus this year. Robert L. Ingram has been acting editor for two months.

Haviland Hall Work To Begin At Once

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—Work will be started immediately on the construction of Haviland Hall, the first unit of a new group of educational department buildings on the campus. The contract calling for the work was signed yesterday, involving the expenditure of $337,400. The building will be located at the lower end of the present botanical gardens to the north of California Hall. John Galen Howard, university architect, designed the plans.

Wilson's Petition Lacked 1961 Names

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 6.—Stutt Wilson's nomination petition lacked 1961 names of the required number when the secretary of state's office stopped counting. A few more names were received too late to count. About 6000 names on his petitions were rejected as illegal.

ALARM TO BE DEMONSTRATED
ALAMEDA, Oct. 6.—A demonstration of the correct method of operating a fire alarm box will be given tomorrow night at First street and Central avenue from 8 o'clock until 10 o'clock by Bruno Steinnetz, second assistant chief, according to an announcement made today by Walter Steinnetz, fire chief. The demonstration is a part of the Fire Prevention Week observance in the city.

Teachers' Convention Roll Shows Great Gain

The fastest-growing convention yet witnessed in Oakland is the coming convocation of the California Teachers' association, scheduled for October 16, 17 and 18 at the auditorium, according to Miss Elizabeth Arlett, president of the bay section of the association.

Yesterday, Miss Arlett expected 2000 delegates. This morning she announced that 4800 are coming. In order that everyone will be provided for, Miss Arlett said she will now make preparations for 6000 educators.

The increase is partially explained by the discovery that a teacher must attend the "institute" in order to be given certain educational credits. As this information spreads the teachers sign up for the Oakland meeting. It is believed that practically all the educators of Alameda, Contra Costa, Sonoma, Marin and Santa Clara counties will be present.

PROGRAM MUCH LARGER.
The program is much larger this year than ever before, and includes three new sections, which are convening for the first time.

The official statement of the convocation, outlining some of its features, includes the following committees:

"In the section on Visual Education, held at Technical High School auditorium on Monday at 1:30, Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, will speak, and so will W. B. Herms, president of the Board of Education in Berkeley and professor of parasitology in the University of California. An entire moving picture film will be presented by the Pathe Exchange.

"In the Spanish section, convening in Room B at the auditorium on Monday at 1:30, E. Huidobro, consul for Chile, will speak, and will be followed by E. C. Hill, professor of Romance languages at Indiana university.

"In the Science section, meeting at Technical High school on Tuesday at 9:30, W. B. Herms will speak on "What to Teach That Will Be of Service in the Promotion of Public Health."

"The part-time section, which will meet in Oakland High school on Monday at 1:30, will discuss the possibilities of co-operation between employers and employees in the matter of securing further education for young people in employment without interfering with their wage-earning capacity. This

Theta Sigma Phi Defies U. of C. Student Order

BERKELEY, Oct. 6.—Women students at the university who are members of the Theta Sigma Phi, journalistic honor society, will not allow their "Dill Pickle," published each year to "razz" the men students, to be "censored" by the executive committee of the Associated Students.

This ultimatum came today from Miss Janet Brown, president of the society as a result of the edict of the Associated Students that all campus organizations must be centralized under one head.

That the organization of which she is head "questions" the student body control is the statement of Miss Brown. Members of the Theta Sigma Phi continue in their defiance of the student body officials and decide that next week's issue of "Dill Pickle" will be sold off the campus as will future editions of "Pelican."

Dr. David P. Barrows, in a statement issued today, urged a unification of all campus activities and expressed regret at the attitude of the English Club.

Woman Leader Knocks Knockers

"Men and women who do not participate in politics except as knockers are not the good altruistic citizens many would have a believe them to be," declared Mrs. Frank G. Law, president of the California Civic League of Women Voters in speaking before the Christian Citizens' League at the Brooklyn Presbyterian church last night. Mrs. Law spoke on the subject "Civic Consciousness and the Sample Bill."

The speaker outlined the provisions of the measure and claimed that she thought the purpose of the bill was a "move on the part of the legislature to form a trust."

Richard M. Lyman Jr., was the other speaker of the evening and gave the details of the California Welfare Bond Act, known as the Veterans' Welfare Act. In this talk Lyman pointed out that the bill was not a bonus, but provided a long time loan with interest to veterans.

Grocers Must Put Up Minors' Warning

Commissioner Frank Colbourn today requested the chief of police to make sure that all grocery stores selling tobacco shall give prominent display to the regular law sign that no tobacco shall be sold to minors.

"All tobacco stores observe this statute," says Colbourn, but in the case of grocery stores I notice that the posting of the sign is neglected, or else the sign is tucked away somewhere behind the counter. It looks like an unimportant matter, but it is the law and the sign often deters minors from buying tobacco and reminds the salesman that sales to minors are forbidden."

Isabelle Lowe Invites the Ministers of Oakland to See "Experience" at the Fulton Playhouse

ISABELLE LOWE

A strange thing—an unusual thing—happened on the stage of the Fulton Playhouse, during the rehearsal of "Experience" yesterday.

Isabelle Lowe, the star of the Fulton company, while reading the beautiful lines given the character of "Love," which she portrays in "Experience," stopped suddenly.

There was a catch in her voice, and the mist of unshed tears in her eyes.

She was not ashamed. Others of the forty Fulton players gathered there for rehearsals of "Experience" were using their handkerchiefs.

Actors are very human. And "Experience" is a wonderfully moving, powerful, picturesque play. So—

The rehearsal stopped for a moment. There was silence.

"I just wish all the ministers in Oakland could see this play next week," said the star of the Fulton forces. "It's the most beautiful sermon I ever heard of." The other actors said, "We say so, too."

"You may invite them, if you wish—all of them," said Managing Director George Ebey.

All the ministers of Oakland will, accordingly, be the guests of Isabelle Lowe at the Fulton Theater next Monday night, to see "Experience," a modern morality play.

History will be made that night. It will be a unique and memorable occasion.

PRUNE MEN ARE HAPPY AS IDEAL SEASON CLOSES

Best Year in Decades, and Fruit Runs to Large • Sizes.

Prune men are happy today, as one of the most ideal prune seasons in decades draws to a close. Through summer and autumn the weather has been practically perfect for a fruit standpoint, and as a result prunes in particular are running to large sizes, rich in sugar, according to independent packers and officials of the California Prune and Apricot Growers' association at San Jose.

H. S. Dunlap, manager of the association, states that the organization is shipping out an average of twenty carloads per day, three-fourths of them from this valley. "If the weather stays good for a couple of weeks more we shall be in perfect shape," states Dunlap. "The growers here are about out of the woods but over in the valley there is still some fruit on the trees."

"The demand is brisk, with prunes selling at about 8 cents. The season has been exceptionally favorable. Our packing houses are running to capacity and there is no sign of any slump in the market. It has been some time since the growers were so well off."

UPWARD TREND IN INVESTMENTS FOR PAST WEEK

Strong Bidding Insures Against Temporary Price Recessions, Says Lawton.

By H. B. LAWTON,
Eastbay Manager Cyrus Peirce
& Co.

Stability, with an upward tendency, was shown in the investment field during the week. Compared to the week before, the bids were few and weak, the last few days have produced strong bidding, which insures against temporary price recessions.

As an indication of strength was the offering of Ohio Public Service Company, per cent cumulative first preferred stock, bought out two weeks ago, which has been quickly absorbed and is now quoted at 95—a full point, or $1.00 per share over the price at which it was offered.

During the week several small issues were offered, including $2,000,000 Southern California Gas and Electric, which was first offered at 92 1/2, and now is quoted at 95—a full point, or $1.00 per share over the price at which it was offered.

Friday, Midland Counties Public Service Corporation general refunding 6 per cent bonds, due 1922, were offered at 99, to yield 6.05 per cent; and the same day $1,500,000 Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light System refunding first mortgage bonds were offered at 92 1/2, to yield 5 1/2 per cent.

An issue of $2,000,000 California Joint Stock Land Bank 5 per cent bonds was offered, to yield 4.65 per cent.

Pennsylvania Light & Power Company first refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds were offered at a price to yield 5 1/2 per cent.

Many intending investors are kept from purchasing bonds because of the lack of knowledge of the market. Many do not understand the quoted prices and yields of bonds.

If the price of a bond is quoted at "par" that means its face value. If a $1000 bond the price is $1000; if a $1000 bond, the price is $1000.

If the market price of a bond is $98, that means $98 for a $1000 bond, or $98 for a $1000 bond.

Should the price be $101, the cost would be $101 for a $1000 bond, or $101 for a $1000 bond.

If two bonds could be equally attractive in every other respect except the one was 7 per cent and the other 6 per cent, then the one with the 7 per cent would normally be more. But because certain qualities may exist in the 6 per cent bond which the 7 per cent bond might be $101 while the 7 per cent bond would perhaps be selling at $100.

"YIELD" EXPLAINED.
Concerning "yield," the bond house has books of tabulations known as "bond value tables," scientifically computed, by which the yield of any bond may be determined quickly. A simple explanation follows:

Suppose you buy a $100 7 per cent bond due in five years. The yield is 7 per cent. Suppose, however, you bought this same bond for $95; you would actually be receiving more than 7 per cent because you were receiving 7 per cent interest on $100 when you had only invested $95. Seven per cent interest on $100 is $7. Divide the annual return of $7 by the price paid, $95, gives 7.36 per cent—the yield.

But in five years, when the bond is due, you will receive $100 for the $95 you invested. If you hold the bond, therefore, the bond is worth $100 more each year of the five. Now $1 is 1 per cent of $100. Add this 1 per cent to the 7.36 per cent and your $95 investment in a $100 bond has yielded you 8.36 per cent.

If instead of buying this bond at less than $100 you had paid more than $100, your yield would be less than 8.36 per cent.

Suppose you had paid $105 for the $100 7 per cent bond, your interest return would be 6.66 per cent. But when the bond is due, you receive only $100, or you receive $5 less than you paid—or $1 a year less, which is 1 per cent of $105. Add this 1 per cent to the 6.66 per cent, and you have a yield of 5.66 per cent.

These figures only illustrate the principle and are not exact because no consideration has been given to interest on interest, which is a higher mathematics. This can be made quickly by the means of bond tables.

BUSINESS AND FINANCE

Disquieting news dispelled from the New York stock market today by recent buyers and renewed activity by short interest in the opening of today's New York stock market with the result that most of the list turned quite heavy. Active weakness in Standard Oil of New Jersey, which sold off 5 points, resulted in heavy offerings of most of the other recently liquidated issues. Losses of 1 to nearly 3 points were registered by Standard Oil of California, Mexican Petroleum, California Petroleum and General Asphalt. Marine preferred which was strong yesterday on reports of extra earnings for the third quarter, turned heavy today, losing 2 1/2 points in the first half hour. Other active spots were Standard Oil, Iron Products, Midvale, Baldwin and Coca Cola. There were a few exceptions to the downward trend. U. S. Rubber advanced 1 point on a report of a new high record and Standard Oil of New Jersey advanced a point on a report of a new high record and Standard Oil of New Jersey advanced a point on a report of a new high record.

Ships and Water Front

The Dop Watch

Every member of the crew of the steamer Apus which is lying at the Key Wall discharging, is a member of the "Ancient and Mystical Order of the Shipwrecked." The crew of the "Chips" Brande, ship's carpenter and a member of the "Ancient and Mystical Order of the Shipwrecked," the uninitiated being forced to join upon crossing the line on their arrival in former days initiation into the Ancient and Mystical Order of the Shipwrecked was an important ceremony aboard every ship crossing the equator. Every member of the crew who had never before crossed the equator was initiated into the Ancient and Mystical Order of the Shipwrecked and his court and shawd by the royal barber.

In the revival of the old time-honored custom by the crew of the Apus five of the members were presented in court and Captain Torn-both reports that the ships supply of coal oil, turpentine and gasoline was easily depleted by the initiatory ordeal. Harry Buckley, chief officer, took the part of Father Neptune, the ship's carpenter, while a seaman, took the part of Mrs. Neptune. "Chips" Brande showed, that as well as he could the sailor and his crew, he had the liveliest of all for the initiates who were to be given degrees took to over when it was learned that Neptune had arrived. Boehne had the most of the life boats, the bigges, the shaft alley and numerous other places where they had sought seclusion. The initiation of the "unfortunates" who were thoroughly tarred and doused, made the entire crew members of the order.

SEA COAST ESTUARY.
A boog fest with a hornet. Et estuary. Yon come. "Queek" Foundmaster Grant Hicks of Alameda was almost taken off his feet early this morning by the voluble Italian gardener breaking the news. He had run the way from the foot of Grand street where Hicks was busy and in addition to having his English considerably twisted he was also badly out of breath.

Guess it must be a scow that has come into the estuary," remarked Hicks. "Might as well go and see about it." Accompanied by the Italian who was endeavoring to explain the horns on a fish, the two proceeded to the foot of the estuary. There they found the horns were there, but not on a fish. They belonged to a very active cow. Bossey had apparently slipped into the estuary and was only too anxious to get out again. Hicks, who had been looking for a scow, accomplished this purpose.

CASED FRUIT MOVEMENT LARGE.
The freighter Benefactor of the Harrison Direct Line, drew in the afternoon and commenced loading of over 3000 tons of cargo. Most of this shipment consists of canned and case fruit and all is destined for the United Kingdom.

AMERICAN ON CITY WHARF.
The city wharf at the foot of Livingston street presents a lively scene. At the present time there are five lumber schooners lying alongside discharging their cargoes. The schooner St. Thomas and the Alpine are also tied up there.

The steamer Svea is at the Franklin street wharf discharging 150,000 feet of northern lumber. The schooner St. Thomas is at the foot of the estuary. The schooner St. Thomas is at the foot of the estuary. The schooner St. Thomas is at the foot of the estuary.

All of the lumber and planing mills are running to their limit. A shipment of 1,670,000 feet of lumber reached here today from northern ports while eight vessels sailed for the north after their timber after unloading. Several steamers loaded California products for the Atlantic and European ports also sailed.

The longshoremen here have been steadily engaged for several months and business looks like it will continue for many months to come. A large amount of tin plate and steel is en route for delivery to the construction of the new automobile race track at Kansas City. This will take more than 25,000,000 feet of all classes of lumber. The same company is also getting the lumber ready for the Kansas City race track.

Wood Lumber Company of East Oakland has several contracts for delivery of large lumber cargoes. This harbor also contains the principal coal bunkers in California with thousands of tons of coal arriving daily by rail and water, during the past month.

STAR OF FINLAND.
The bark star of Finland after unloading her cargo of canned salmon was towed to Alameda yesterday, where she will remain for the winter. She makes the twenty-seventh voyage of the Alaska fishing fleet to come here for winter quarters so far this season. The schooner Star of Finland returned from her summer's cruise in the Arctic Ocean.

MISCELLANEOUS.
During the recent heavy gale of Crescent City the buoy off the entrance of the port drifted three miles north of its regular moorings before being stopped by the rocks catching the mooring lines. The Hawthorne Lumber Company will later today to replace the buoy in its old position.

The schooner C. S. Holmes which took a cargo of supplies to Point Barrow in the Arctic Ocean, arrived at Angel Sound today, after making a successful passage. She will be tied up at Lake Union for the winter. The schooner was under charter to the Hudson Bay Fur Company and brought supplies to their station and returned with walrus ivory and furs gathered by the natives of the far north.

The British steamer Benmore, 2399 tons register, has been chartered to load a cargo of wheat at a North Pacific port to be delivered at the United Kingdom.

"Bosses" of City's Waterfront

Meet CHIEF WHARFINGER W. J. MASTERSON and his chief assistant, OSCAR F. WHITNEY. They have the task of bossing the ships in Oakland harbor, giving them berthing space and seeing that they get away. Both are optimists in regard to the city's waterfront.

Oakland Waterfront Bosses Hold Man-sized Positions

Every big business needs a boss, and so it is with the Oakland waterfront. The man who bosses the local ships and visiting craft around W. J. Masterston, chief wharfinger, and the business is growing at the time. He is assisted in looking after the harbor interests by Oscar F. Whitney. Between the two they have a lively time in assigning berthing space, keeping track of the arrivals and departures and in maintaining diplomatic relations with those who have complaint because a ship departed before their business might have been on the wharf.

"Few people realize to what extent the Oakland waterfront has been growing during the past few years," states Masterston. "More real big ships are coming to our docks now than ever before, and the waterfront is growing with them."

Masterston and Whitney are the "bosses" of the Oakland waterfront. They are the men who decide where a ship will berth, how long it will stay, and when it will leave. They are the men who keep the waterfront running smoothly and efficiently.

RADIO MEDICAL SERVICE GIVEN SAILORS AT SEA

Stations Established For Purpose On Seaboard By Corporation.

The wireless has resulted in another innovation which has taken away one more of the terrors in the life of sailors. The Radio Corporation of America, acting in conjunction with the Seamen's church Institute of New York and the United States Public Health Service has established five stations for dispensing free medical service and advice to all sailors operating on the coast of the United States so no more will seamen have to depend on the ministrations of the unskilled.

One of the stations is located in San Francisco and the other four at different points along the Atlantic seaboard. In case of accident to any members of the crew, or sickness, the captains of the ships are requested to radio in and the government will give diagnosis and treatment advice free of cost to ship or company.

The San Francisco station connects with both the Marine hospital and the government hospital at Palo Alto. Immediate service is given the captains by the government doctors. KPI is the call letter for the San Francisco station.

Several times already, the local station has been enabled to give service and in one case the action on the part of the captain and army doctors resulted in advice which saved the life of a sailor who fell and fractured his skull. It is understood by the Radio Corporation that several more of the stations are to be established at various points along the coast from San Diego to Seattle.
